FERDINAND DIES IN MARIE'S ARMS

Funeral for Last of Hohenzollern Monarchs Will Be Held in Bucharest Saturday.

Bucharest, July 20. — (United News.)—With a snappy military salute to a gathering of his leading subjects, a six-year-old boy today ascended the throne of the kingdom of Rumania.

Sixteen hours earlier his grandfather, King Ferdinand, had died after months of torment.

With Ferdinand's death, the last of the Hohenzollern kings, center of every European storm in two generations, passed from the family of rulers.

The new king, Michael I, was a prince of Rumania. His father, Prince Carol—Ferdinand's son—is in exile in Paris.

Michael, with his mother, Princess Helena, was in a child's deep sleep when at 2:15 o'clock, King Ferdinand, fighting for breath, as he had fought certain death from cancer, entered his final sleep.

101 GUNS BOOM SALUTE TO BOY.

Bucharest, Rumania, July 20.—(AP) One hundred and one guns boomed a salute to King Michael I, of Rumania, at 4 o'clock this afternoon, announcing to the assembled multitudes that the 6-year-old monarch has ascended the throne.

A cortege, composed of the royal household cavalry, the prefect of police and the marshal of the royal court, preceding a royal conveyance bearing Prince Nicholas, the Princess Mother Helen, Princess Ileana and the little king himself, passed through the streets from Cotroceni palace to the house of parliament at 3:30.

Within the building were the members of both houses, all the military and civil dignitaries and the members of the diplomatic corps. The regents, Prince Nicholas, Patriarch Miron Cristea and Justice Butdugan entered. They were followed by Princess Helen, who led his majesty, Michael I (Mihai I), by the hand into the chamber of deputies.

On Verge of Tears.

The little child hesitated, then halted as if on the verge of tears.

"Remember you are a king and the son of kings," his mother told him.

Straightening out his puny shoulders the little chap ascended the 15 steps to the royal tribunal and gazed on the assembled deputies and senators, professors and learned men with the greatest unconcern, never smiling. Then came the cheers.

The Princess Mother Helen, dressed in deep mourning and wearing a heavy crepe veil, stood behind her child king. She was pale and evidently laboring under great emotion, but stolid, erect and queenly. Prince Nicholas was the first to take the oath swearing to uphold the consti-

Hoover Tells Coolidge Plan Of Flood Aid

SANDINO PREFERS DEATH TO SLAVERY

Managua, Nicaragua, July 20.—(AP)—Airplanes returning from Ocotal report a few bands of rebels under Sandino now at Chilpote Hill, near Quilali, air patrols returning yesterday reported a concentration of rebel forces at Telphaneca, El Jicaro and other places to the southeast of Ocotal.

A message signed by Sandino and sent the day after the battle between Sandino's forces and the United States marines and Nicaraguan constabulary at Ocotal was intercepted by a telegraph operator at San Fernando.

It reads:

"To all authorities, civil and military. Why the Ocotal combat took place:

"First, to show that we continue protesting and defending the constitutionality of Dr. Juan Sacasa (former liberal president).

"Second, to disabuse the idea of those who believe we are bandits.

"Death to Slavery."

"Third, to prove that we prefer death to slavery, for the peace secured by Moncada is not the peace that can give liberty to men, but peace that puts a man under the domination of others.

"Whoever believes we are downcast by the heavy casualties, misjudge my army, for today we are more impatient than ever to seek out the traitors of our country, determined to die if we cannot secure complete liberty for all men.

"I wish to say that the only one responsible for what has happened here is the president of the United States, Calvin Coolidge, who has supported Adolfo Diaz."

Another message addressed to Sandino's wife was also picked up, reading: "Although they believe me weak, I shall soon occupy the Tiscapa fortress."

Fort on Hill.

Tiscapa fort is on a hill at the edge of Managua and controls the city. It now is occupied by marines. It is generally admitted that whoever holds Tiscapa controls the country.

The garrison at Ocotal will be reinforced almost immediately, as forces under Major Floyd are nearing Ocotal. Major Ross E. Rowell, in command of the aviation squadron, has sent to Ocotal by air a small field piece and several machine guns.

Major Rowell, who has been recommended for the distinguished service medal, has his airmen making reconnaissances regularly. His own plane bears the mark of 44 bullets. Rowell says the greatest thrill of his life was when his five planes reached Ocotal to battle for the little worn-out garrison fighting against odds of over five to one. He gives all credit to his airmen and remarked that the air attack was as fine a pyrotechnical display as he had ever seen.

RECONSTRUCTION OF LEVEES URGED

Funds Now Available for Work Will Last Until November 1, Director of Relief Declares.

Rapid City, S. D., July 20.—(AP)—Immediate federal aid in the Mississippi river flood relief problem was urged upon President Coolidge today by Secretary Hoover who has supervised rescue and rehabilitation work in the devastated area.

Mr. Hoover told the president that state legislatures are unable to raise sufficient funds to carry on the imperative work of closing the levees Furthermore, he said local communities cannot meet the burden of taxes falling due on the levee bonds because it has been possible only to restore about 2,000,000 of the 3,500,000 acres covered by the flood to crops this year.

Without mentioning a special session of congress which is under consideration by Mr. Coolidge, the secretary did recommend that the government go to the immediate relief of the levee program, insisting that it was necessary to have these closed before fall. Some funds, he thought could be obtained from government money on hand, including the rivers and harbors appropriations.

$3,000,000 for Victims.

So far as caring for the flood victims is concerned, Mr. Hoover declared, there would be $3,000,000 on hand from the Red Cross relief contributions on November 1, and he was confident that they could be taken care of until congress meets in regular session in December.

"The greatest of all measures needed," he said in a report submitted to the president, "is prompt and effective flood control and quick legislation for that will restore confidence and from confidence will come a recovery in values and in business.

"The government should take over and repair the whole levee system of the flooded areas whether or not the levees are under government jurisdiction. Congress should also furnish relief in helping to pay interest charges and amortization for the holders of levee bonds in the sections where the floods have prevented a planting of crops this year. Most of the levee obligations will not fall due until about January 1."

May Aid Coolidge Decision.

Mr. Hoover's call for immediate federal aid in relief work coupled with the recommendation of Senator Smoot, Utah, one of the administration leaders, for an early special session of congress is expected to influence the

TEST OF STRENGTH ON HIGHWAY ISSUE NEAR IN ASSEMBLY

Governor Will Probably Send Name of Appointee To Succeed Holder to Senate Today.

First skirmishing between the supporters of Governor L. G. Hardman's highway department program and the opponents, led by senators who favor the retention of John N. Holder as chairman of the state highway board, is anticipated in the senate probably Thursday and certainly in the next few days when Governor Hardman will send the name of a successor to Chairman Holder to the senate for approval.

The Holder term expires January 1, 1928, and as the senate will not be in session at that time the governor is expected to send in the name of his choice for the place. Several names are being considered by the governor, among them being that of W. R. Neel, state highway engineer. W. R. Neel, state highway engineer, and Dr. Charles M. Strahan, head of the engineering department of the University of Georgia.

If the governor sends in a name to the senate Thursday the ensuing arguments on the floor over the situation probably will be one of the principal features of the legislative week. The senate confirms appointments in executive session usually and it is expected that this same course will be followed when the governor's appointee list is presented.

Wednesday Governor Hardman sent a message to the legislature recommending that an educational survey be made of the state. The house, by a vote of 130 to 56, defeated the senate bill to prevent the use in courts of evidence obtained through unlawful search and seizure. This bill previously had passed in the senate, but met with determined resistance when it reached the house.

The senate on Wednesday disagreed with its committee on constitutional amendments, by voting 18 to 17 to place the Elders income tax bill on the calendar for passage, despite the adverse report made by the committee. The Thompson highway reapportionment bill, up for passage, did not reach a vote in the upper house, the time being entirely occupied with debate on various proposed amendments to the measure, dealing with designation of first and secondary mileage.

Test of Strength.

Governor Hardman Wednesday would not make a statement relative to the report that he would send a nominee as a successor to Chairman Holder to the senate Thursday. It was learned, however, that the governor has several names ready and from this list will select one to be placed before the senate. Should the senate refuse to confirm this appointee the governor has several more names in reserve to submit, according to the report.

The political effect of the presentation of the name of the Holder successor would be to align in one group the Holder supporters in the senate

75,000 To See Dempsey Try His Come-Back

OPINIONS OF BEST MAN VARY WIDELY

BY ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

New York, July 20.—(AP)—In what promises to be the most spectacular non-championship fight in the history of the ring, Jack Dempsey will battle Jack Sharkey tomorrow night to decide which is to meet Gene Tunney for the heavyweight championship of the world in September.

They will fight it out at the Yankee staudium in a 15-round match that has attracted as much, if not more, widespread interest than any title battle on record, chiefly because of the attempted come-back of the most colorful ringman of modern times, Dempsey.

At least 75,000 spectators, and possibly 80,000, including many notables, will witness Dempsey's effort to defy the inroads of time and outpunch his confident and youthful rival. They will pay approximately $1,000,000 for the privilege, Tex Rickard estimated today, but with choice ringside tickets in the hands of speculators bringing as high as $200 apiece, the outlay for onlookers seemed likely to be nearer $1,250,000.

Radio microphones at the ringside will carry the word picture of the fight over a nation-wide hook-up to from 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 other persons.

Sharkey Rules Favorite.

Sharkey ruled a decided favorite tonight among the experts who have analyzed and weighed the chances of the two rivals. On the other hand, Dempsey claimed the support of popular opinion in an apparently overwhelming measure, as well as the backing of many close observers.

Few, if any, previous big ring battles have developed as sharply a contrast of opinion. Where tonight Sharkey was backed strongly by a majority of newspaper critics and in wagers at odds ranging from 8 to 5 to as high as 2 to 1, Dempsey remained the firm choice of the "fans in the street."

The experts, or rather the apparent

COURTNEY FLIGHT AGAIN POSTPONED

(From North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Calshot Naval Flying Base, England, July 20.—After making a test flight for an hour and 15 minutes over this station late this evening, Captain Frank T. Courtney determined to further postpone his westward flight across the Atlantic for a few days.

The reason for the delay is that the radio apparatus installed in the Dornier Napier Whale flying boat in which the captain intends to make the first westward flight across the sea did not work satisfactorily.

"There is nothing seriously the matter with the apparatus," Captain Courtney said after making his landing, "but I am not quite satisfied with it. I cannot afford to take any chance with our equipment. It is not worth it.

Was Not Ready.

"The fact is, we really were not ready to go. I was anxious, if possible, to take advantage of the extremely favorable weather. I thought that with a little luck might have gone in a satisfactory way without further adjustments. Now we will take time and clean up all of our tests properly."

Captain Courtney hopped off on his test flight at 7 o'clock this evening and cruised about over the base here. A number of his friends who had assembled to see him off were still waiting patiently after the aviator landed, expecting to see him rise again to begin his great flight.

AUDITOR QUIZZED AS RAILWAY FARE TESTIMONY ENDS

A. M. Patton, Local Manager of Ernst & Ernst, Put Through Lengthy Examination

The open hearing before the Georgia public service commission on the petition of the Georgia Power company for an increase in street railway fares came to a close late Wednesday afternoon after an eight-day session during which both sides have introduced a mass of data and summoned a number of witnesses.

Announcement was made by James A. Perry, chairman of the commission, that on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock the concluding summary of the arguments pro and con would be made before the commission by leaders of each side and then briefs would be submitted. He further stated that a decision would be rendered at the same time by the commission on the action they would take in reference to the request that had been made that a complete audit of the operation of the street railway company since 1923 be made. It was at that date that the Beeler survey was made an an audit completed of the company's books at the request of the city council and paid for by the company.

In the concluding session on Friday it is expected that Preston S. Arkwright, president of the power company, will represent the company in summarizing their argument for increased fares and that the opposition to the increase will be represented by James L. Mayson, attorney for the city, and Carl F. Hutchinson, who has been present at all sessions representing the Brookhaven Chamber of Commerce in opposition to the raise. Mr. Arkwright had acted as his own attorney throughout the hearings, stating Wednesday that he had done so because he was certain that he knew more of the details of the company's business than any lawyer that he might have secured.

After the close of the afternoon session Commission Chairman Perry stated that it would probably be quite a long while after the briefs are submitted before the commission will be in position to render a de-

MANY GEORGIANS VICTIMS OF 'CON' SCHEMERS' PLAN

BRANCH OFFICES OPENED IN STATE

BY HERMAN HANCOCK.

Details of a gigantic $500,000 stock swindle operated in Atlanta by a bunco ring which claimed as victims many of the most prominent financiers of Georgia and adjacent states were revealed Wednesday night when an investigation by The Constitution disclosed the fact that the Fulton county grand jury on June 24, last, returned a series of indictments against three former Atlanta stock brokers alleged to have been directors of the swindle ring.

Seventeen specific charges of felony and two of misdemeanor were returned in the indictments, which documents are to form only the first step towards effecting a nation-wide action against principals involved in the swindle.

In the indictments are named G. M. Saunders, Jerry Tiffany, alias G. W. Tiffany, both said to have been partners in the enterprise which operated under the firm name of Phillips & Co., and E. O. Freeman, sales director, alleged to have directed the stock operations which resulted in a wholesale fleecing of prominent southerners.

Net Spread Out.

Activities of the organization not only included Atlanta but a branch office was established at Savannah and operations were extended to Griffin, Gainesville, LaGrange, Newnan and other leading Georgia towns.

After building up confidence in the concern by giving valuable stock market tips to clients, operators are charged with having unloaded fictitious and phoney stock at the last minute on victims and to have reaped a profit of more than $1,000 a day for the ten months they operated in Georgia, terminating last April.

Many of Atlanta's and Georgia's most prominent financiers and stock buyers are included in the list of victims, it was learned, although a loss of only $2,228 is shown on the face of the indictments returned by the jury, many of those bilked in the alleged fraud electing to stand their losses rather than to be embarrassed by publicity.

Dummy Front.

In addition to using a high-powered sales persuasion the operators are said to have cloaked their alleged operations behind the name of the Rev. J. F. Phillips, of Kissimmee, Fla., who formerly owned the Atlanta business, and whom, it is said, built up a large clientele by honest and fair dealings.

So perfectly and completely had the alleged scheme been worked out that H. J. Ford, bookkeeper and secretary

THOMPSON ROAD MEASURE LOSES

Adversed by House Committee—Anti-Garnishment Bill Also To Receive Adverse Report.

Adverse action on Thompson's highway bill, identical with the measure that is now engrossing the upper branch of the legislature, was taken Wednesday night by the house committee. The Thompson proposal, its advocates contended, would have provided 300 miles of paved road each year and cut overhead costs from a figure which they described as "enormous" to less than eight per cent. The Thompson measure would have disregarded county lines in construction of the central system.

The anti-garnishment measure, introduced by Representative Luther Still, of Fulton, in an effort to remove a "great hardship" which he contended was being placed upon the wage earners of the state, was like wise adversely reported in house committee. A number of speakers, representing labor unions and merchants, spoke during the meeting, the merchants declaring that the garnishment law, as at present operated, was the only salvation of the small business man.

At an open meeting held Wednesday night before sub-committees on agriculture of the house and senate, a heavy fire was directed at Commissioner Eugene Talmadge's plan to combine the state board of entomology the veterinary division and the state farm bureau, witnesses protesting against any curtailment in the service rendered through a reduction in the personnel of the departments affected. Action was deferred until a later hearing by the sub-committees. The bill which seeks to combine the three departments was introduced in the house by Representative Goolsby of

FARMER IN TEXAS FLOGGING CASES HELD FOR BRIBES

Marshall, Texas., July 20.—(AP)—Charged with attempting to bribe witnesses in the recent flogging case here, C. R. Hughes, tenant farmer on the Jewell Anderson place, was arrested Wednesday by state rangers. He was placed in jail here to await hearing.

The complaint charges that Hughes approached Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Richardson and Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Strapps, all of whom were recently flogged, and offered them an automobile and $180 for their wagon and team if they would leave the county and not testify against Cain Anderson and Dewitt Osborne, indicted in connection with the floggings. This case is scheduled to be called for trial Monday.

FRENCH SOLDIERS FOUND INNOCENT AFTER EXECUTIONS

Paris, July 20.—On May 28, 1915 a French court-martial condemned four soldiers, Farjonnel, Marcel, Perron and Daspe, to death, and the firing squad did its duty. Today as a result of years of litigation carried on by the Society for the Protection of the Rights of Man, a French high court held a new court-martial and adjudged them innocent—12 years late. The relatives are expected immediately to file suit for heavy damages from the state.

Carol Weeps, Unable To Attend Funeral

:: BANISHED SON MOURNS FATHER IN SOLITUDE ::

BY RALPH HEINZEN.

Paris, July 20.—(United News.)—Prince Carol, of Rumania, in exile, wept tonight for the father whom, but for the love of a woman not his wife, he should have succeeded as ruler of his country.

"I had trouble with him and my family," he said to friends who tried to console him, "but I loved him profoundly always."

Carol's thoughts seemed rather with the dead king than with his own son, the new King Michael I.

But his life, and what it might have been, must have passed in his mind as he wept in his villa at Neuilly, on the outskirts of Paris.

As heir to the throne he had married the beautiful Princess Helena, of Greece, and she had borne him a son, second in line of succession.

In defiance of the father he now mourns he eloped with Mlle. Lupescu. He refused to leave her.

On December 31, 1925, Carol's son, Prince Michael, was declared heir to the throne.

Carol established his residence at Neuilly with Mlle. Lupescu. She was with him as he wept for his father.

Troops were reported to be stationed along the Rumanian frontier to prevent any attempt he might make to enter the country and seize power.

But Carol said to friends:

"I am not thinking at the moment about the possibility of my return to Bucharest."

He told them also that he would attend a memorial service to be held Saturday, the day of the late king's funeral, in the Rumanian church here.

King Ferdinand's death came as a shock to Carol. With Mlle. Lupescu he had been on an automobile trip throughout Tuesday. He had thought that his father was getting better.

This morning he received an urgent message from Bucharest saying simply that the king had died.

The police guard maintained about his home unobstrusively watched to see whether there might be a dash for Bucharest. Carol, however, was in seclusion with Mlle. Lupescu and a few intimate friends.

Others who visited him with condolences were directed to an antechamber to sign a register formally attesting their sympathy.

Carol's friends said he had no intention of going to Bucharest or of trying to interfere with the reign of his son, King Michael.

JIMMY WALKER INVITED BY BYRD TO FLY TO POLE

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

New York, July 20.—Jocularly invited by Commander Byrd to accompany him to the south pole, Mayor Walker today issued the following statement:

"There are some people in New York who will second the motion that I go to the south pole. There are some people who think I would not dare make the trip. But they forget there is more fog around city hall than any flier ever went through. Then there are others who have attempted to keep the mayor in the air since January 1, 1926. However, final decision concerning my acceptance of Commander Byrd's kind invitation is reserved."

LINDBERGH STARTS TRIP OVER NATION

Hartford, Conn., July 20.—(AP)—The visit to this city today of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh—the first on his long list of 75 to be made throughout the country—resulted in a veritable holiday.

The young colonel, whose air tour to all of the states of the Union for the promotion of interest in aviation under the auspices of the Daniel Guggenheim foundation, hopped off from Mitchel Field, N. Y., at 12:50 p. m. and landed at Brainard Field at 2:25 p. m.

Before landing here the young air hero flew over Camp Trumbull at Niantic, where members of the Connecticut National Guard are in training. He was met by an aerial escort from the aviation section of the national guard. The Spirit of St. Louis circled over the reservation several times and then headed for the state capital.

Governor John H. Trumbull, who was visiting the camp, took off in a plane while Colonel Lindbergh was circling around and preceded the Paris flight winner to this city, where he was among the first to greet him.

Few events in this city's history called for such preparations as were made to receive Lindbergh. The city, proud that it had been chosen as the first stopping place on the around-the-country flight, was decorated as it had never been before. Every member of the city's police force, aided by many officers "loaned" by other cities, were on duty at the field to keep the crowds in check and to guard the route of Colonel Lindbergh into the city.

Governor Trumbull, in his address of welcome, said that none of the greetings Lindbergh has received could be more sincere than that tendered by the people of Connecticut.

Houghton Bulkeley, acting mayor, also welcomed Lindbergh to Hartford.

Replying to the greetings Colonel Lindbergh said:

"The purpose of this tour is to acquaint the people of the United States with aviation.

"If we in the air mail could have 50 per cent more postage than you people pay, the air mail would be a tremendous success today. And with that success would come the ability of the air mail contractors, engineers and followers to devote their time to improving that service.

"You have a wonderful service through the states—better than anything in Europe, so far as air mail is concerned. But that service will be improved as time goes on. Passenger service will follow the air mail. Plans along that line have been inaugurated on the continent—or will be within the near future. But not within a few weeks or a few months, and the number of lines that we have depends entirely upon the amount of use that you can give them.

"Trans-Atlantic flying will not come in a short time, but is still in the future. It will not come until the continent is crossed and re-crossed by passenger, mail and express air lines. But inside of the next 10 or 15 years, possibly less, this country will have those lines and we will also be developing every service not already developed by lines across the Atlantic."

NURSES MATRICULATE IN EMORY COURSE

Nineteen public health nurses of Georgia Wednesday were awarded diplomas by Emory university in the first course of its kind ever conducted in the state. The only other similar course in the entire south is offered at Peabody college, Tenn.

Miss Lillian Alexander, head of the public health nurses in Atlanta, and several of her subordinates were included as students in the classes. Several out of the city students also matriculated for the course.

tution, the rights of the Rumanian people and allegiance to King Michael. Meanwhile the little king was glancing about as if in fear.

Michael Smiles.

Then as the patriarch followed with a similar oath, little Michael smiled. The patriarch seemed like a figure which had suddenly emerged from the Bible—long beard and stern features. He spoke in a low deep voice, emphasizing the oath in a manner to show his realization of the importance he attached to the sacred moment. Justice Buzdugan's voice was scarcely audible.

Then Princess Helen, whose tears were discernible beneath her veil, led the child forward and out into his new kingdom. He was dressed in a white silk suit, black tie and patent leather slippers. He hugged his mother's arm closely as he filed past the cheering deputies and senators, and as the cheers redoubled he clasped his mother's arm to his breast and pressed it to his heart.

"Let's go home, mama. I am hungry," one of the officers of the guards stationed near the entrance to the parliament later said were the first words of his youthful majesty after his inauguration.

The little king heaved a sigh of relief as the ceremony terminated and the royal party withdrew. There were no cheers from the crowds which lined the approaches to the parliament building. They stood silent and bareheaded in the rain until the royal procession reached the Calle Victoria, where a company of soldiers presented arms and delivered a hearty cheer. The golden-haired king appeared dismayed at first, then, with true regal demeanor, arose in the carriage and saluted his soldiers.

Long Live the King.

"The king is dead! Long live the king!" the soldiers cried.

King Ferdinand died as he had lived, fighting stubbornly with characteristic Hohenzollern tenacity.

"I feel so tired," he said to Queen Marie, who held him in her arms in his dying moments, and then—his last words—"I feel no pain."

For many months Ferdinand had been in failing health. Renowned physicians of France, Belgium and Germany, after attending him last December, expressed the opinion that he might live one month or six. He survived for nearly seven months. Pneumonia contracted in the high altitudes of Sinaia in the Carpathian mountains, where he was transferred recently, hastened his end.

But the king's illness really dates back several years and the actual cause of his death was cancer. Even when Queen Marie was on her memorable visit to the United States, the king suffered intensely and two operations were performed, followed by radium treatment. All this merely served to stay the progress of the disease for a time, and Ferdinand wasted away until he was a mere shadow of himself, unable to take proper nourishment and incapable of carrying out the duties of state in the way he fondly desired, though he exerted himself to the utmost and was ever hopeful that he would live.

Funeral Saturday.

The king's funeral will take place Saturday. This was decided on by the council of the regency, which will attend to the matters of state until Prince Michael attains his majority, which by the Rumanian constitution is 18 years of age.

The army will take the oath of fidelity to the new king and all places of amusement in Bucharest have been ordered to remain closed until further notice. All meetings have been forbidden and a consership has been placed over the press.

The Bratiano government holds the country in an iron hand. Public buildings and strategical points are occupied by soldiers, and the government is resolved that the decree of January 4, 1926, expelling Carol and instituting a regency in the event of Ferdinand's death, must be fulfilled. The present government is unalterably opposed to the return of Carol to Rumanian soil, even to attend the funeral of his father.

The body of the king will be laid to rest in the mausoleum at Curtea de Arges, where King Carol and Queen Elizabeth rest. Until Saturday the body will lie in state in the castle at Coitroceni.

In Bucharest all is quiet and the death of the king is genuinely and profoundly mourned. All social functions have been cancelled and the representatives of the diplomatic corps have tendered their sympathy.

The party which a year ago was willing to support Prince Carol in reaching for the throne, appears to have dispersed and the government has the situation well in hand. No symptoms of trouble are reported from any district, and the regency seems to have started auspiciously on its 12 or more years' tenure of office.

An official communique issued this afternoon concerning the death of King Ferdinand states that recently his general condition became worse as the result of inflammation of the lungs which started last March. The communique continues:

"Lack of appetite, anemia and breathing difficulties hampered the heart activities which finally led to the collapse and death of the king in the arms of the queen at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at Sinaia. The king was fully conscious to the end and suffered no pain. His last words to the queen were: 'I feel no pain.'"

KING MICHAEL I AN ORDINARY BOY.

Bucharest, July 20.—(United News) A fair, curly-haired boy of six, with chubby cheeks and a turned-up nose, today exchanged an Indian suit, of which he is extremely proud for a crown.

King Michael I of Rumania is an ordinary boy, with an ordinary boy's likes and dislikes. But he has known for some time some of the things demanded of royalty.

"I must act like a prince," he said a year ago when he gritted his teeth while surgeons inoculated him when his pet dog contracted rabies.

He did not cry then, and he seldom does, though tears welled into his eyes when he found himself this afternoon the center of a great parliamentary gathering and he was hailed a king.

Michael, the boy, as opposed to Michael, the king, is fond of toys. He likes games. He likes to dash about in a child's scooter, and he likes to be photographed, if at all, in his Indian suit.

His health is not good enough to suit his family. Once he was compelled to go to Rapallo—it is believed because his lungs were delicate.

3 ATLANTA BROKERS SOUGHT AS SWINDLERS

of Phillips & Company, did not realize anything was wrong until the offices had been closed and the official personnel left the city.

Mr. Ford, an Atlantan, of 1570 Olympian way, who told The Constitution Wednesday night he was quizzed by the grand jury, was exonerated of blame for the alleged illegal transactions and listed as one of the principal witnesses. He declared Wednesday night that he has $600 worth of the stock, which is said to be worth about 50 cents a share or less and was marketed here at six dollars a share.

The Rev. Phillips established his office here about April, 1926, and is said to have sold out to Mr. Saunders about July of the same year. The firm name was retained and operations continued in Atlanta until about April 18, of this year, Mr. Ford said.

"I was retained as bookkeeper for Phillips and company, and although I did keep all books of that company, I never was taken into the confidence of Saunders or Tiffany, the other partner," Mr. Ford said. "This made it impossible for me to detect anything wrong. I do not know how much money they got, but it was a very large sum."

Victims are holding lavishly-engraved shares of the "Intercity Radio Telegraph company, incorporated in Deleware, with headquarters said to be located at Cleveland, Ohio, and of the "Universal Utilities, Inc.," of New York, it was reported. The former is said to be headed by E. J. Simons, president, and the latter by an Englishman named Rideal, of New York.

Authorities Wednesday night declared that no stock of the radio concern had been on the market for the past three years and that shares of the latter had never paid a dividend, although purchasers were exhibited papers purporting to show that dividends have been paid every year. Sale of additional stock is said to have been the basis for raising the funds to pay dividends, according to reports, and this is illegal.

New York state and federal authorities were reported working on the case Wednesday night by W. A. Sutherland, of the law firm of Sutherland & Tuttle, attorneys for a large number of the victims. Sutherland has recently returned to Atlanta from New York, where he conducted an investigation in an effort to locate the firm.

When the firm closed the Atlanta office, engraved cards announced that headquarters would be opened in New York and indicated that the same "high class and efficient service" would be continued from the metropolis. Neither of the owners of Phillips & Company was found at the New York address however.

Allege National Scheme.

"This was a nationally laid scheme to defraud unsuspecting persons in all parts of the country," Mr. Sutherland said. "It extended from New York to San Francisco and from New York and Chicago to Atlanta, Savannah and possibly even into Florida. State and federal authorities have joined in a nation-wide search for the men responsible for the fraud in New York and probably in other sections of the country."

A suite of offices was kept in the Candler building and telegraph and telephone services cost about $1,500 a month, Mr. Ford said. Close connection was kept with New York and Chicago, and "hot" tips were offered clients. When they panned out clients made money and thus was built up the confidence which later assisted in unloading thousands of shares of practically wortaless stock.

After the first few successful deals purchasers had implicit faith in the integrity of the company and when a suggestion was made that they unload good securities and buy others that proved worthless they accepted without a single protestation.

"Fall Like Sheep."

If they were uncertain Freeman director of the sales force, was sent to interview them and they fell like "so many sheep."

"Freeman could make one believe the moon is a piece of green cheese and you would bring crackers to eat it with," one of the victims declared. "It is ludicrous, but to many persons it is extremely serious, since they invested their life savings."

Matt C. Bennett, chairman of the Georgia securities commission, who was instrumental in initiating the investigation into the activities of the company, declined to issue the company a license, and several of the indictments have counts charging violation of the securities law.

Operations of the concern are said to have far surpassed those of the famous Floyd Woodward gang which was alleged to have swindled southerners out of more than $1,000,000 in four years, because the unloading was done in so short a space of time—about 10 months.

Move for the enactment of a law requiring licenses for dealers in all foreign stocks has been begun by Mr. Bennett as a result of the operations, he said Wednesday night, and the Georgia legislature will be asked to empower the commission to collect such a tax to protect Georgians.

As long as the firm dealt with legitimate New York and Chicago or other recognized and listed stocks, the commission under the present law has no authority to pass on it or to require a license. It was only when the radio and utilities stocks, unlisted, were sold that a violation of the state securities law was committed, Mr. Bennett said.

"When the Rev. Mr. Phillips first came to Georgia he wanted to market a tract of land near Kissimmee," Mr. Bennett said. "We investigated, and Guyt McLendon and a majority of the commission declined to issue a license, Mr. McLendon declaring that the lots were a bit too large for cemetery plots, but too small for gardens. It was then that Rev. Phillips began selling stock, the concern later going into the hands of Saunders & Tiffany."

Indictments Returned.

Indictments already on record follow:

G. M. Saunders and Jerry Tiffany, alias G. W. Tiffany, are charged with selling $200 worth of "Consolidated Distributors, Inc." (said to be another name for Universal Utilities, Inc.) to Frank E. Davis, of 908 Atlanta Trust company building. The transaction is alleged to have been executed January 29, 1927. This was listed as a felony in that the sale was alleged to be fraudulent and with intent to defraud.

Misdemeanor charges were launched against Saunders and Tiffany for alleged operation of a "gaming house" and "dealing in futures on a margin."

Cheating and swindling charges, a felony is listed in the case of L. D. Adams, who on April 23 is said to have invested $1,200 in the "Intercity Radio Telegraph company" at $6 per share.

Saunders, Tiffany and Freeman are charged with cheating and swindling Adams in another indictment of $337.50 at a later date.

Saunders and Tiffany are accused of cheating and swindling Mell Lupo of $385.50 by causing him to invest with the company.

Saunders, Freeman and Tiffany are accused of violation of the Georgia securities law in offering without a license Miss Floy A. Ray, Atlanta business woman, 100 common shares of "Universal Utilities" on December 15, 1926. Count two of this indictment charges that the firm had no copy of a license as required by law.

Saunders and Tiffany are charged with the same offense in offering Mell Lupo stock of the same character without a license.

Saunders, Tiffany and Freeman are charged with the same offense in offering and selling to Arthur W. Ray 200 shares of the radio stock.

Saunders and Tiffany are accused of selling Mr. Adams 150 shares of radio stock on April 23, 1927, without proper license from the state.

Prisoner Captured After Being Free Twenty-Five Years

Brunswick, Ga., July 20.—(AP)—At liberty for 25 years, Fred Smith, a negro, who escaped from the Bibb county chaingang, was captured here today. Smith killed a negro named Street in Washington county in 1905, was convicted and sentenced to life. He was assigned to the Bibb county gang and after serving a short time, less than a year, the negro thinks, he escaped.

BEHOLD HER SKILL

She is a charming picture as she sits at the head of the table, demurely dallying with crystal cruets.

So charming that the guests exclaim with surprise to find that she is skillful, too. For behold, she has been busily mixing an extraordinarily good salad—a most professional French Dressing.

You will find it very pleasant to play hostess in this fashion. To mix, right at the table, the French Dressing that is so smart now. And you will be surprised to see how much more inviting a freshly blended dressing is.

Mix three parts of Wesson Oil and one of lemon juice or vinegar for a mild dressing. Add more vinegar for a tart dressing. Vary the proportions to suit your own taste and in accord with the strength of the vinegar or lemon juice you use. Salt and pepper to taste. Paprika for its gay color.

And then—experiment. Add a bit of ketchup or a dash of mustard—for fish or meat salads or—for green salads a small amount of Roquefort . . . French Dressing can be a dozen different dressings in one.

Its excellence, however, depends on the oil. You will find Wesson Oil is exactly right for French Dressing—clear and light in color and very delightful in flavor. French Dressing made with Wesson Oil is deliciously good to eat and wonderfully good for you.

SEELY FILES SUIT TO GET CONTROL OF MEDICINE FIRM

St. Louis, July 20.—(AP)—Suit to compel executors of the estate of the late E. W. Grove, multi-millionaire head of the Paris Medicine company, to turn over 51 per cent of the stock of that concern, valued at $3,825,000, to F. L. Seely, his son-in-law, has been filed in circuit court here.

Seely is seeking to enforce an alleged agreement he made with Grove 27 years ago, whereby at the death of Grove he would, at his own election, get either a controlling interest in the medicine company, or a majority of Grove's holdings, other than the stock in the medicine company.

Grove died last January leaving an estate estimated at $10,000,000. His will left the bulk of his estate in trust to his widow and daughter, Mrs. Evely. Grove Seely, and his son, E. W. Grove, Jr.

The Rev. R. A. Edmondson will officiate and interment will be in West View cemetery.

She is survived by a son, C. D. Barron; five daughters, Mrs. Eugene Randall, Mrs. Willie Griffin, Mrs. Virgil Hendrix, Mrs. Henry David and Mrs. Fred F. Renter, of South Pasadena, Calif. J. Austin Dillon company in charge.

ashore and the machine had a narrow escape being stranded as the tide ran out with great rapidity.

Was Eager to Go.

Had it not been for the failure of the wireless apparatus to function properly, Captain Courtney had intended to have the Whale moored to a buoy off the flying station tonight, loaded with petrol and stores, and ready for the take-off. Although Courtney took the delay philosophically, he and his companions were most anxious to make the start. They were more than ready to take advantage of the extraordinarily favorable winds which had been reported as a result of the observations directed by the air ministry. The captain had awaited the reports with some anxiety for days and it was when he received the last of the reports today that he determined to make his tests in the air.

A message received from Valentia Island, where the Whale is to make its first stop, increased the disappointment of the aviators and his associates. For days great crowds of men, women and bare legged children have been awaiting the coming of the aeronauts. For days they have been scanning the sky and talking of nothing but the coming of the visitors from the clouds to their lonely island.

Although there is no telephone out one belonging to the radio station on the island, every person on the island had heard of the postponement of the flight within a few minutes after its receipt.

Creates Excitement.

The coming of the Courtney plane is the most exciting thing that has ever happened on the island. One of the inhabitants of the island voiced the dreams and ambitions of his neighbors when he said:

"We feel very lonely here placed on the edge of the world. To the east we have only a sparsely settled country for miles, and on our west is the ocean.

While Courtney was piloting his Whale in the air for 75 minutes today, he was accompanied by two Marconi experts. They discovered a great deal of vibration in some of the instruments. This vibration was sufficient to seriously interfere with the operation of the wireless apparatus.

It was noted that the test was made under rather adverse conditions When the plane went down the shipway a mist was falling and the air was cold. The visibility was low But the Whale rose in the soggy air like a bird, the drone of the engines showing that they were in perfect order.

But after the Whale was beached there was an anxious consultation with the Marconi experts. It was then stated that a new generator and propeller would have to be fitted and that some of the machinery made far too much noise. This noise will have to be toned down. Despite all this, though, the experts picked up messages from Bourget, Cherbourg in proof that "wheels were going round."

Mrs. Courtney arrived at the field this morning looking a little anxious, believing that her husband was about to begin his flight. But though her face wore a strained look, she smiled a little when she met her husband. The same smile appeared a little less troubled when she learned of her husband's initial disappointment.

While the mechanicians started the necessary tinkering with the Whale, Captain Courtney strolled around the big flying machine smoking a cigarette.

"I am not worried at all," he said "We'll get through all right."

$60,000 Scenery Received at Erlanger To Be Seen Next Week in 'Dearest Enemy'

The territory back of the Erlanger theater Wednesday presented the appearance of a big railroad depot when huge packages and crates of scenery and costumes arrived for the production of "Dearest Enemy" next week by the Municipal Opera company. The scenery, costumes and stage mountings were brought to Atlanta intact from the Knickerbocker theater, New York, where this musical play scored its big success.

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

For one time in its theatrical history Atlanta is to see an original New York production of a musical comedy brought to Altlanta "intact," as far as scenery is concerned, when the Municipal Opera company offers "Dearest Enemy" at the Erlanger theater next week.

In fact, the show was brought here so 'intacty" that it required six huge trucks to transport the scenery alone from the depot to the theater, and Manager Lewis Haase had to run around and order new rooms built and others extended to take care of the great number of costumes, uniforms shoes, hats, wigs, paraphernalia of all kinds, stage properties and everything else that goes with this great show.

Under arrangements perfected by Charles Howard Candler and General Manager Haase when in New York last winter, the entire stage setting for "Dearest Enemy" was purchased outright for the Atlanta engagement. As the scenery arrived Wednesday a small army of scenic painters began work painting and it will be offered as spick and span Monday night as when first presented in New York at the Knickerbocker theater and later at the Tremont theater, Boston, for long and successful runs.

Miss Madeleine McMahon, whose sterling work in all the previous operas and musical comedies has won her a permanent place in the hearts of Atlanta people, will play the star role in "Dearest Enemy." Miss McMahon recently had several conferences with Helen Ford, who played the original role in New York, and she has been studying her part for many weeks.

"Dearest Enemy" is by Rogers and Hart and the setting is in the old colonial period of America and during the Revolutionary war times. The costumes are quaint, the scenery is "old timey" and there is a sweet little love story running through the piece that makes it altogether charming.

The scenery for "Dearest Enemy" cost $60,000 and when this show is offered Monday it is certain to be one of the most perfectly equipped and mounted from a scenic and costume point of view of any show ever seen here. Tickets for "Dearest Enemy" will go on sale at the Erlanger box office Thursday morning.

AUDITOR QUIZZED AS HEARING ENDS

cision. A tremendous mass of documentary evidence has been introduced which will have to be sifted and the briefs stuied. It is thought that another audit may have to be taken before the verdict be rendered.

Practically all of Wednesday was consumed by the cross questioning of A. M. Patton, local representative of the auditing firm of Ernst and Ernst, by Mr. Arkwright.

Mr. Patton was summoned to testify by Attorney Mayson, having been engaged by J. R. Bachman, then alderman and chairman of the city council's street railway committee, for an audit of the company's records. He was quizzed thoroughly by Mr. Arkwright on the items contained in his audit in an attempt to show that the proper amounts had not been charged up by him for depreciation. He admitted that Mr. Bachman had directed the calculation of street railway values on a basis of annual deductions that tended to show lowered figures.

During the morning session the testimony of B. G. Paulin consumed most of the time. He stated that he headed an employment bureau in the city and opposed any increase in fares on account of his familiarity with the inability of the majority of wage earners to pay more. He submitted petitions against the increase which, he said, bore 6,166 names and numbered 323.

Patton on Stand.

At the beginning of the hearing Wednesday afternoon, following a recess for lunch, A. M. Patton, local manager for Ernst & Ernst, public accountants, was on the stand. Mr. Arkwright asked Mr. Patton how much depreciation on the company's property was, according to his figures. He answered that according to his figures it was $1,954,500.09, January 1, 1916, to December 31, 1923

Mr. Arkwright: "If a capable engineer of long experience on properties of this type, and who has made an actual physical examination of this property stated that in its present condition there was only 6 per cent less than new value, would you consider it proper to deduct 25 per cent?"

Mr. Patton: "No."

Mr. Arkwright: "If a particular company fails to earn the cost of service and a reasonable rate of return on the fair value of the property, and a two and one-half per cent depreciation reserve, and it sets up a reserve for depreciation, hasn't it taken out of its own returns and not from its patrons?"

Mr. Patton said yes.

Creation of Fund.

Mr. Arkwright asked him if what Mr. Mayson read regarding the rates as fixed by the commission of 2 1-2 per cent of depreciation was not to create a fund for eventual replacements and had nothing to do with present or accrued depreciation of the property. The witness said that was correct.

"Ernst & Ernst were engaged for the purpose of reporting on the operating expenses of the company and not on the valuation of its property weren't they?" Mr. Arkwright asked. The witness stated that was correct and that the figures given Mr. Bachman were his figures and not those of Ernst & Ernst as the firm made no report whatever on the valuation of the property.

Mr. Arkwright also asked him if Mr. Mayson did not confuse depreciation reserve with accrued depreciation. The witness said that he did not know that Mr. Mayson had in mind but that his understanding was that depreciation reserve and accrued depreciation was entirely different.

Mr. Mayson announced that Mr. Patton was his final witness and that with the introduction of a number of exhibits he would rest his case.

Car Rider Testifies.

D. O. Dougherty, 1209 Springdale road, who was called as a witness by Attorney Carl F. Hutcheson, testified that he owned no automobile and is a street car rider, that he has followed the street car case very carefully, having attended all but the first of the 1923 and 1924 councilmanic meetings on the street railway petition. In a statement he said he believed that the street railroad should be given a fair return on the fair valuation of the property used in rendering service.

He also said that he could not find any fault with the equipment recently bought by the company and that he approved one-man cars as saving to the street car riders and thought that their purchase was a step in the right direction.

Mr. Dougherty was the final witness and upon the completion of his testimony, Chairman Perry announced that the hearing would stand adjourned until 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, at which time attorneys would be given an opportunity to present their arguments.

Morning Hearing.

The eighth day of the hearing before the public service commission for the petition of the Georgia Power company for an adjustment of street car fares in Atlanta began Wednesday morning with the direct testimony of B. G. Paulin, representing signers of various petitions against increase in fares.

Mr. Paulin submitted a report of auditors to the effect that his petitions totaled 323 in number and contained in all 6,166 names. He expressed the opinion that subsequent signers of the petition brought the total up to around 7,000.

He submitted a budget estimating the minimum cost of living for a family of two adults and two children He estimated that the minimum cost was $35.08 per week, an average of $155.13 per month, or $1,861.60 per year. Mr Paulin called attention to the fact that his totaled budget did not allow any expense for tobacco, soda water, candy, telephone, life insurance, doctor, dentist, flowers or amusements.

Mr. Paulin submitted estimates expressing the opinion that if the proposed new fares had been in effect the alleged deficit of the street railroad since 1921 would have been more than absorbed. Based on the new schedule he estimated that the deficits would have been absorbed and that there would be an "overage" in the following amounts: 1921, $1,391,575.62; 1922, $1,120,731.09; 1923, $931,927.78; 1924 $352,857.42; 1925 $142,149.92, and 1926, $222,414.81.

Thus, he estimated, the total alleged deficit under an 8 per cent return during these years amounting to $7,220,552.26 would have left $4,159,660.66, or, he said, approximately 57 1-2 per cent in excess of the 8 per cent wanted.

Cost of Street Car Service.

Mr. Paulin said that while people laid great stress on the amount of money paid each year for school books for children, the total sum was small when compared to the amount they must pay for street car service. If the fare is increased it will make this situation much more complex. Mr. Paulin declared he was pleading for a fare which would enable all children to take advantage of educational facilities of the state, stating that he knew of two cases now where students were unable to attend business school for want of street car fare.

Business conditions in Atlanta began to get very bad last August, continuing bad until a few weeks ago. Mr Paulin said, asserting that many people were out of employment and that an increase of street car fare would work a hardship on them.

In answer to a question by Attorney Mayson, Mr. Paulin stated it was his opinion that the power company should be considered as one unit and the various departments not segregated.

Cross-examined by Mr. Arkwright, Mr. Paulin declared he had traveled extensively throughout the United States and Canada and that the service rendered by Atlanta street cars compared favorably with the finest he ever had observed. He also stated that the trainmen are uniformly courteous and well-behaved and that it was inconceivable to him to know of their ever abusing a passenger regardless of his race.

Was Asked for Aid.

He said that he had initiated opposition to the proposed adjustment after many people had come into his office and asked him to help them. He said he had spent a great deal of time and money and had advertised for a mass meeting at the auditorium to protest the petition of the company, but did not hold the meeting because there was only an insignificant attendance.

Questioned by Mr. Arkwright, Mr. Paulin said that a budget he had compiled showed that the bare minimum on which a family could live in Atlanta was $155 and that if the average salary paid trainmen was only $125, they should receive more money.

Questioned by Mr. Arkwright, Mr. Paulin stated that he believed the street car system should have a fair return on a fair valuation of its property devoted to public use. He said he believed school children should have a lower fare, but admitted under questioning that if they were granted fares, adults necessarily would have to pay higher fares to make up the difference.

H. M. Patton, of the Atlanta branch of Ernst & Ernst, the firm which audited the street railroad books in 1923, was called to the stand by Mr. Mayson. He said that Mr. Bachman had requested him to obtain the value of the street railway property. He submitted various estimates based on conclusions figured from the Baehr appraisal of 1912.

Audit Not Submitted.

Answering a question by Mr. Arkwright, he said that the Ernst & Ernst audit was not submitted to the home office, but was, nevertheless, the firm's report. He said in response to a question from Mr. Arkwright that he did not consider himself capable of valuing a street railroad property, that he has had no experience along that line and expressed no opinion at all as to the value of the property.

Mr. Arkwright continued to question the witness regarding how he had arrived at his methods of dividing the various properties as e[illegible]

"Assuming," questioned Mr. Arkwright, "that the electric department conditions had been out of proportion to conditions in the street railroad from 1912 to 1921, the percentage of divisions in 1921 would not apply to 1912, would it?"

The witness did not answer direct, stating finally that the 1912 figures had little to do with the valuation. He also said that he told Mr. Bachman that his figures were not a correct statement but that they were merely an estimate of the valuation as of 1912.

Under questioning he admitted that the valuation he made did not include electric plants, sub-stations or office buildings and also deducted going concern value, operating expenses and 10 per cent charged for overhead and construction work.

Mr. Patton, in response to a question by Mr. Arkwright, said that the figures of 2 1-2 per cent depreciation were taken at the request of Mr. Bachman, and that figures submitted should not be considered as representing his own views or those of the firm of Ernst & Ernst, compiled at the request of Mr. Bachman.

EAST POINT TO START CANVASS.

East Point, July 20.—(Special.)—A committee composed of J. E. Hurt, chairman; C. H. Livsey, E. R. Gillon and Emmett Henslee was appointed Wednesday by the chamber of commerce of East Point to start a canvass Thursday among the business men of this city to get subscriptions for the Georgia association.

This association is attempting to raise $100,000 to reorganize the agricultural program of the state.

Do this for me—

take S. S. S. before each meal regularly — and you will soon have your appetite back.

So much depends on your appetite—your strength and vitality—your position—your happiness.

Remember, how it used to be when you could hardly wait for mealtime? And then, sit down and eat several helpings of everything—enjoy every morsel and get up from the table feeling satisfied with the world, happy with everybody and ready for anything.

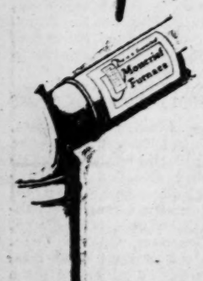

But what a difference in living when even the sight and smell of food sickens you! Never hungry—no matter how tempting the food is—nothing tasting right. And then, after nibbling at a few bites, feeling worse than ever.

Oh, life is hardly worth living this way. And yet, all in the World the matter with you is that you are starving for rich, red blood. It is acknowledged everywhere that S.S.S. helps Nature build these healthy red-blood-cells by the millions!

All you need to do to get back that wonderful appetite is to build rich, red-blood-cells with S.S.S. It's simple. Just try it, like thousands are doing every day. See for yourself what S.S.S. will do.

Approved beyond question

There is no question as to the superiority of the New Improved Moncrief Furnace. Leading Architects, Contractors, Builders and Realtors have put it through every test and are unanimous in advising its installation.

When they install a New Improved Moncrief, they know that the location of the pipes, the arrangement of the registers and inside cold air ducts have been scientifically planned by experienced heating engineers to suit the particular requirements of each home, assuring maximum heating satisfaction.

A written guarantee of 70 degrees goes with every New Improved Moncrief and local factory service is always available. You deal with principals rather than agents.

Look for this Sign on the furnace pipes. It means plenty of heat upstairs.

If Alertox Fails In Constipation Call A Doctor

This new preparation acts with time-clock precision in 60 to 90 minutes; gives one thorough elimination and no more; does not interfere with duties, habits or diet, and guaranteed to remove, in one action, more poison bile from the system than any other known formula, leaving you buoyant, vivacious and alert, mentally and physically.

These are but a few of the many wonderful advantages of this latest discovery known as "Alertox," which flushes the alimentary tract and re-establishes a natural, healthy liver and bowel action, and is much quicker, more palatable and far more effective than calomel, oils or other nauseating cathartics that merely goad the liver and work you to death.

Alertox also alkalines the system and thoroughly cleanses it of the poisons that cause auto-intoxication. Get a bottle from your druggist, and if you are not satisfied after taking one dose, get your money back. If your druggist cannot supply Alertox, sent direct upon receipt of price, 60c. DESPAIRED OF EVER HAVING GOOD COMPLEXION

Pimples relieved after trying well known remedy

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 31:—"My skin had been very clear up to a while ago when blackheads and then pimples developed. They spread rapidly and I was terribly annoyed. I used several suggested remedies without good results, and was disgusted and just ready to give up hope of ever having a good complexion again when I saw one of your advertisements. At the same time, a friend recommended Resinol Soap and Ointment so I began to use them. After a few applications my trouble was relieved, and I now keep these products always on hand. They are so soothing and refreshing and I find the ointment so good for the scalp and for chapped hands."—(Signed) Miss Carmel De Felice, E. 1723 Third Avenue.

THE Supervisor

YOU'VE seen him on the corner with his notebook, checking each car as it passed.

You've seen him out in the rain in his white rubber coat and cap, keeping the cars on time, helping to straighten out traffic tangles, ready for any emergency that may come.

You know him as a friend and you depend on him to keep your street car service dependable.

But, did you know that Atlanta is the only city with a supervision system of this kind? This is one of the principal reasons why Atlanta's street railway ranks with the—

Best in the Nation

In the street railway business, Atlanta is famous nationally for this system. Transportation executives come here from all parts of the nation to study the system and see it in operation.

"Point Supervision," as the system is called, was originated, developed and perfected here in Atlanta. Other street railways have since adopted the system in part, but Atlanta may rightly claim to be the only city with this system in its completeness.

Among the advantages of better service the system has brought to you is a steady increase in the average speed of the cars in recent years, along with a steady decrease in the number of cars running behind time.

Before Atlanta could have its present improved street car service, millions of dollars had to be invested in new cars and other improvements. But money alone could not have given Atlanta its quality transportation. Thought and study and executive ability also have been put into the service to raise its standards steadily higher.

Erlanger.

The rare opportunity of hearing both Franz Lehar and Victor Herbert music in one gay comic opera production is afforded Atlanta amusement-seekers in the production of "The Count of Luxembourg" at the Erlanger theater this week. Seat sale opens at the Erlanger box office. Cable Piano company, and M. Rice & Bros. this morning for "Dearest Enemy," last season's biggest Broadway musical hit and one of the two brand new American musical comedies to be presented by the Municipal Opera association.

Loew's Grand.

Two wonderful acts, each in the headline class, are on the bill of vaudeville at Loew's Grand theater this week. Larry Rich, resourceful comedian, and Miss Cherie, his graceful and beautiful partner, appear in a riotously funny sketch entitled "The Toreador." Billy Hamilton, able conductor, with one of the greatest jazz bands ever heard in the south, is the other headline attraction. Other acts on the bill are Tonie Grey and company, Edith Helena and Bill LaMont Four. Loew's feature picture is a comedy scream entitled "The Callahans and the Murphys."

Keith's Georgia.

John Gilbert in "Monte Cristo" is proving a real hit at the Keith Georgia theater this week. This picture is a reissue of the film of a few years ago, made from the well-known story by Alexander Dumas. Five big Keith acts on the stage, topped by "The Parisiennes," an orchestra of gay Paree, make this an exceptionally strong bill on both stage and screen.

Capitol.

Atlanta has seen few dancers even on the concert stage comparable with Mlle. Shuron DeVries, the headliner on the Pantages vaudeville bill at the Capitol this week. The act is one of the most elaborately mounted on the variety stage today and there is plenty of life given the offering by the six kicking girls, who are in support of the star. There's a big laugh in the skating offering of Frank Bacon.

Howard.

Adolphe Menjou is the star of the feature picture now at the Howard theater, which has for its title "Service for Ladies." On the stage Al Short's "Yachting Party" is the feature offering. Al is supported by his 16 melody boys and a host of splendid entertainers including the new Howard ballet, which boasts of six lovely girls. The prison scene from "Il Trovatore" is presented as a special stage attraction and is admirably done.

Metropolitan.

The love plot of "The Notorious Lady" at the Metropolitan theater is amazing, yet perfectly plausible. While it has plenty of action, there is nothing in the story that needs a stretch of the imagination. Lewis Stone is featured in the production. Charlie Chaplin in "One A. M." a Felix the Cat cartoon, "Fun From the Press," Bobby Jones in a golf film and the Metropolitan News and Views are also shown. Colleen Moore in "Orchids and Ermine" will be the feature attraction next week.

Rialto.

Belle Bennett, once an Atlanta stage star, who won signal fame in "Stella Dallas," gives an even superior portrayal in "Mother," which is the story of a real American family in moderate circumstances, just such a family as live right around the corner from anyone. It is now at the Rialto. You are taken into the home and you get a human slant at the joys and sorrows, the longings and the disappointments which, obviously, are prevalent in every home.

The Rialto next week will present Harry Langdon's new feature comedy, "His First Flame."

Ponce de Leon.

Rafael Sabatini once wrote a great historical romance of a 17th century rake, courtier and general man-about-town; a man who was almost irresistible to women and as a consequence he became famed both for this trait and his lavishness in "throwing" parties. He was termed "Bardelys the Magnificent" and the Sabatini model has been faithfully transferred to the screen under the same title and it is playing for the last time today at the Ponce de Leon theater. John Gilbert, perhaps the best known of the romantic actors, has the leading and name role.

Madison.

John Gilbert, great hero of "The Big Parade" and other successes, is featured today and tomorrow at the new Madison theater in East Atlanta in "Bardelys the Magnificent," an adaptation of the Rafael Sabatini novel of the same name. Eleanor Boardman is featured opposite him as the noble lady whose hand could not be won by any member of the king's court, and it was absolutely necessary that the king form an alliance with the lady's father. After all had failed, the king dispatched John to the scene and instructed him to marry the lady or keep traveling. Well, you know John.

Tenth Street.

Steeped with the rich beauties of nature and alive with some of the most vivid studies of humanity that ever graced the screen, "The Magic Garden" is being shown at Tenth Street theater today. The story is the final work of that illustrious reader of hearts, the late Gene Stratton Porter, and deals as the books do with some of the most absorbing and vital problems that confront men and women. Human nature was so clearly understood by this woman and she has so shared her knowledge with the world through her books.

Palace.

One of those fast-moving comedy-dramas with which Richard Dix has carved for himself cinema fame, opens a two-day run at the Palace today when "Knockout Reilly" is to be offered to the movie public Thursday and Friday. The athletic ability which won him such acclamation in "The Quarterback" stands him again in good stead in this saga of a young steel puddler whose fists win him a pugilistic championship after many mishaps.

West End.

Hailed as a "different" picture of the great outdoors, "Mantrap," the feature scheduled for today and tomorrow at the West End theater, furnishes something distinctly novel in pictures. "Mantrap," which has been adapted from Sinclair Lewis' novel, is the first story in which the author has cast aside his penchant for satirizing the American small town and turned to a love theme. This story carries an unusual love story, one that is decidedly far from the beaten track. And the critics have hailed it as "the most unusual story ever written of the love of two men for a woman."

Capitol View.

One of Harold Bell Wright's stories of the primitive west is being offered to the movie fans of the Capitol View theater today and tomorrow when "The Winning of Barbara Worth" is being shown. This dramatic romance which features Ronald Colman and Wilma Banky, is the glowing tale of those pioneers who battled with the menace of water, first in its total absence and then in its overflowing presence. You'll enjoy this spectacle of man's fight for love and power.

GASLESS TUESDAY AS RATE PROTEST AVAILS NOTHING

Wichita, Kas., July 20.—(AP)—Although "thousands" of Wichita housewives were declared by leaders of the movement to have joined in the city's first "gasless Tuesday" yesterday, W. R. Phipps, manager of the Wichita Gas company, said today the total gas consumption in the city yesterday was "eight or ten" per cent greater than on the average day.

No definite check could be made of the exact number of homes in which gas was not used in observance of the "silent protest" instigated by the Wichita Federation of Women's Clubs against a higher schedule of rates. However, estimates made by federation officers ranged as high as 15,000.

Mr. Phipps explained that his figures included gas for industrial as well as domestic purposes.

GREGG TESTIFIES AT ADAIR HEARING

That he knew nothing of alleged advancements of funds by the Adair Realty and Trust company to members of the Adair family for the promotion of private enterprises was the substance of testimony given Wednesday by Robert Gregg, a trustee in the firm which recently became bankrupt, before Referee Harry Dodd.

Gregg was examined by Will G. Akers, of Little Rock, Ark., member of counsel for the William M. Young Hotel company.

In questioning Mr. Gregg, Akers stated that the books of the trust company showed large monetary advancements, exceeding $1,000,000, on Whitfield estates and Adair and Senter.

"Did you know of these advancements?" he asked Gregg.

When Mr. Gregg answered in the negative, the attorney asked if he, as a trustee, had made any effort to ascertain the reason for a rapid decline in cash on hand and accounts payable, as shown by monthly statements of the company.

Mr. Gregg said he had made no detailed study of the books of the company, and added, in answer to another question, that assuming the allegation of the attorney to be based on fact, he considered such large advancements of money to be poor business.

Mr. Gregg admitted that the advancements, if made as alleged, had contributed to the insolvency of the company, though he insisted that other factors, particularly the Florida collapse, were in part accountable for the company's financial difficulties.

Mr. Gregg disagreed with Attorney Akers that the alleged association of "bond money" with the common funds of the company was in any sense improper. So long as the company maintained cash sufficient to meet current construction obligations, he saw no sound reason for maintaining a separate bank account for the funds derived from the sale of bonds for different building projects, he said.

The hearing adjourned Wednesday afternoon until 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

FLORIDA GROWERS MEETING TO FIGHT FOREIGN PRODUCE

Orlando, Fla., July 20.—(AP)—A meeting to discuss the needs for a higher duty on foreign vegetables will be conducted here tomorrow night under the auspices of the Growers and Shippers' league of Florida, which organization has expressed concern over the increase in importations of Mexican and Cuban vegetables which are sold in the markets in competition with Florida grown vegetables.

W. H. Marshall, Fort Lauderdale, and G. S. Fletcher, Goulds, will give the principal addresses.

Similar meetings are to be held in Center Hill and Sanford this week, it is announced by J. Curtis Robinson, secretary-manager of the league.

MEDITERRANEAN SHIPPING SERVICE CONTRACT SIGNED

Washington, July 20.—(AP)—The shipping board today approved an agreement between the Gulf-West Mediterranean line and the Nervion line under which each service is to have two sailings a month from Galveston and Houston to Spanish Mediterranean ports with the privilege of increasing sailings should conditions warrant.

The agreement, which supersedes one between the two lines and the Compania Trans-Oceania de Navegacion, which recently withdrew its service from the gulf, regulates sailings so as not to conflict with each other, it was said by board officials.

"Port of Brunswick" To Be Christened At Detroit Saturday

Detroit, Mich., July 20.—(AP)—The Stinson-Detroiter airplane in which Paul R. Redfern plans to fly from Brunswick, Ga., to Rio de Janeiro is to be christened the "Port of Brunswick" by Mrs. Eugene W. Lewis, of Detroit, wife of one of the backers of the flight, at the Ford airport here Saturday.

Redfern intends to hop off for Brunswick early Monday morning and start his 4,300-mile flight from the Georgia port to Brazil within 10 days, he said today. Edward A. Stinson, president of the airplane factory that built the plane, will fly as far as Brunswick with Redfern. The plane is equipped to carry 500 gallons of gasoline.

Mayor William Hale Thompson, of Chicago, tendered an invitation today to Redfern to visit Chicago en route to Brunswick, but it was not possible to accept as Chicago is too far out of the route.

George D. Lowe, Brunswick representative, said that Washington officials have manifested interest in the flight because of its possibilities as a friendly gesture to South America.

A. M. STEAD APPINTED HEAD DRUG INSPECTOR

Upon the nomination Wednesday of the state pharmaceutical board, Eugene Talmadge, state commissioner of agriculture, appointed Dr. A. M. Stead, of Cordele, as chief drug inspector of Georgia. Dr. Stead has been acting in that capacity since the commissioner took office in June.

Dr. Stead succeeds T. A. Cheatam, of Macon, who served in that capacity under the former commissioner, J. J. Brown.

CHINESE MARSHAL SENDS FLOOD REGRETS

Washington, July 20.—(AP)—From his headquarters in a land torn by revolution, Marshal Chang Tso-lin leader of the North China troops, has sent the United States his condolences and profound sympathy for victims of the Mississippi flood. His message, forwarded to the American minister at Pekin and relayed through the state department to National Red Cross headquarters in Washington, read:

"I have been deeply touched by the tragic report of the Mississippi flood which has caused great damages and loss of life in Louisiana. To the victims of this catastrophe, I hasten to express to you and through you to your government my profound sympathy."

Rev. J. B. Briney Dies.

Memphis, Tenn., July 20.—(AP)—The Rev. J. B. Briney, 89-year-old pastor of the Linden Avenue Christian church here for five years, beginning in 1886, and well known throughout the south, died today at Rural Retreat, Va., a message received here said. Burial will take place at Louisville, Ky., Friday.

Belgian Music Master, 69, Weds His Student, 25

New York, July 20.—(AP)—The romance of a noted musician and his pupil, less than half his age, was revealed today by the young bride's father, himself but one year older than the bridegroom.

The musician is Eugene Ysaye, 69-year-old world famous Belgian violinist, and the girl who played her way into his heart with the musical magic that he had taught her, is Annette Dincin, 25-year-old daughter of a Brooklyn doctor.

By marrying Ysaye the girl becomes stepmother of a man considerably older than herself, old enough to have been a soldier in Belgium's army during the war.

"My daughter first met Ysaye seven years ago," Dr. Dincin said today in announcing the marriage. "At that time she began studying with him in Cincinnati, where he was conductor of the symphony orchestra.

"When he resigned his post in 1922 she went abroad with him and has continued as his pupil ever since. She has appeared under his tutelage in concerts in many European cities and has played before the king and queen of the Belgians.

"The marriage, which took place on July 9, at Lezoute, Belgium, was a complete surprise to me, but they notified me immediately and I was more than pleased. I have known Ysaye intimately for many years and to have him for a son-in-law is a great pleasure."

Ysaye was born in Liege, Belgium. He was educated at the conservatory there and studied violin under noted teachers, including his own father. He made his debut at the age of 6.

He was reported ruined during the war and land he owned was in the devastated area. He escaped from Belgium in a fishing boat and made his way across the channel to London with other refugees.

BOY BITES OFF MOTHER'S EAR IN OHIO CITY

New Lexington, Ohio, July 20.—(AP) Primitive punishment was meted out by the authorities at the mining town of San Toy, Perry county, yesterday, when Raw Wiggins was given 21 lashes at the whipping post for biting off the ear of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Amanda Taylor.

The sentence, pronounced in mayor's court upon recommendation of an infuriated crowd, was declared legal under Ohio laws by Prosecuting Attorney J. W. Dugan of Perry county, who said such punishment was legal if both parties agreed to it.

Mayor C. A. McIntrye told Wiggins he would destroy the affidavit charging him with "maiming and disfiguring another person" if Wiggins would agree to the will of the crowd which was surrounding the mayor's office. Wiggins agreed and after receiving 21 lashes on his bare back was given 15 minutes to leave town.

Wiggins had been working in a field with his mother-in-law when they engaged in an argument which terminated with the assault.

YOUNG VANDERBILT SAYS INHERITANCE TO PAY HIS DEBTS

Denver, July 20.—(AP)—Any money Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., may inherit from his wealthy family will go to pay off his obligations incurred by the failure of his tabloid newspapers, he said on his arrival here today. The former publisher said he had relinquished all right to money he may inherit.

Vanderbilt declared that before leaving New York on his present automobile tour he instructed his attorney, Max D. Steuer, so to notify his creditors.

"I told Mr. Steuer to act as the government acted during the world war and to issue certificates to stockholders and creditors which they will be able to cash in on, on the strength of my obligations to them.

"One-half of my earnings from my newspaper and magazine work now goes toward paying off my creditors. I am still brooding over the fact that my newspapers failed."

LARGE BREWERY VALUED AT $50,000 SEIZED AT MIAMI

Miami, Fla., July 20.—(AP)—A complete brewery, valued by police at $50,000, was seized today in a raid on a warehouse in the downtown section. One wooden and seven copper vats, 1,000 gallons of beer and 500 gallons of mash were destroyed. No arrests were made, the only occupant of the warehouse escaping through a trap door in the floor. Police say the outfit is the largest ever seized here.

AIR PASSENGER BURNS TO DEATH IN PLANE CRASH

Peoria, Ill., July 20.—(AP)—Jack Carlock, passenger, was burned to death and Charles Baughn, pilot, was probably fatally burned when their plane crashed at Lomax, Ill., late today. Both men are from Watertown, New York.

The plane struck a tree when taking off and burst into flames as it crashed.

ATLANTANS TO SPEAK FOR CONFECTIONERS

Charleston, S. C., July 20.—(AP)—Attended by between 200 and 250 members and their wives and families, the annual convention of the Southern Wholesale Confectioners' association was formally opened at the Francis Marion hotel Wednesday morning, the visitors being cordially welcomed to Charleston by Mayor Thomas P. Stoney and afterwards hearing reports of interest from their president, M. B. Thornton, of Jacksonville, Fla., and other officers of the association. The opening session of the convention was featured by the welcome of Mayor Stoney, the response on behalf of the confectioners by Tom Knox, of Birmingham, Ala., and the reports of the officers.

The convention will continue through Friday and in general will be featured with addresses by members prominent in the candy business on pertinent subjects of much interest to the members as well as by a diversified entertainment program in the afternoons and evenings.

On Wednesday afternoon addresses are to be made by Walter W. Brown, of Atlanta, publisher of "Sweets," official organ of the association; Dr. Robert H. McCaslin, D. D., of Jacksonville; Thomas C. Hull, editor of "Sweets," of Atlanta, and there will also be informal reports of state chairmen, associate directors and informal greetings from various members.

RACE HORSE OWNER SLAIN BY NEGRO

Ashland, Ky., July 20.—(AP)—An enraged negro, Theodore Simpson, 26, of Louisville, armed with an ax, struck and killed C. W. Chappelle, 62, race horse owner of Emoryville, Calif., at Raceland, near here, last night.

Three negroes, Simpson, William Sailles and Naomi Sparks, the latter of Cleveland, Ohio, were placed in jail at Greenup in connection with the death.

Chappelle, it was said today, was standing with his arms folded merely looking on a fight between the Sparks woman and Simpson when struck on the left side of the head. He did not interfere in the fight between the Sparks woman and Simpson as first reported.

The ingenuity and cleverness of Jockey Charles Landolt, who rode for Chappelle, resulted in the capture of the negro, who fled and hid in a deep ravine. Unarmed, young Landolt started in pursuit, having seen him enter the ravine. He cautiously approached the hiding place of the negro and when within several feet of him, called loudly as if shouting to companions on a hill overlooking the ravine. "Here he is; bring your guns down here!"

Landolt, however, was unaccompanied and the negro, fearing a mob, rushed to where the jockey was standing and in a frightened tone of voice urged him to save him from mob violence. The jockey took the negro on a round-about way to the Greenup-Ashland highway, where he hailed a passing car and took him to Russell and turned him over to police.

The examining trial of Simpson was set for Thursday before County Judge Robert L. Parsons.

Horses owned by Chappelle include One Way, Sprightly, Jad, Wamba, Impact and Threft. It first was said that his home was in New Orleans.

SHIPPING BOARD SELLS TWO SHIPS TO NEW CONCERN

Washington, July 20.—(AP)—The shipping board today authorized the sale of the steamships West Helix and West Mount to a new corporation represented by Robert W. Malone, of Washington, for the lump sum of $310,000. Payment is to be made in accordance with the usual terms of 10 per cent cash and the balance in ten equal annual installments.

The West Helix is a steel cargo vessel of 8,528 tons. The West Mount is of a similar type and of 8,682 tons. Both are coal burners, but it is the intention of the purchaser to convert them to oil burners. The two vessels are now laid up at Norfolk.

FLORIDA-GEORGIA HIGHWAY ROUTING CAUSES PROTEST

Tallahassee, Fla., July 20.—(Special.)—Learning late today that an effort will be made to have the Georgia highway department designate the through route into Florida from Pelham to Cairo and thence to Calvary, Ga., and Havana, Fla., into Tallahassee, city officials of Tallahassee and the chamber of commerce of the Florida capital have telegraphed the highway department, urging designation of a more direct route from Cairo to Beachton, to intercept Florida highway No. 10 at the state line.

It was stated here late today that citizens of Havana, an isolated town 15 miles west of Tallahassee, and of Calvary, Ga., will appear before the Georgia highway department and urge the designation through their towns. Designations of the through route from Atlanta to Tallahassee through Pelham and Cairo meet with the approval of the Floridians, but the proposed route lies a number of miles out of the way and does not intercept a Florida state road at the state line, it is pointed out.

POSTOFFICE PLANS HAVE SIX-ACRE AIRPORT ON ROOF

Washington, July 20.—(AP)—A six-acre airport on the roof of the proposed new Chicago postoffice for use by outgoing air mail planes marks an architect's drawing of the building made public today by Acting Postmaster General John H. Bartlett. While congress has authorized the structure funds have not yet been supplied for the purpose, but authorities have completed plans to make the new building a model for the construction with minor changes of all large postoffices included in the public buildings program.

The ultra-modern feature of a flying field roof is pictured as a level concourse without obstructions except for a slightly rising incline at one end for take-offs. Whether aviation within a few years will have reached the point where a large space on the roof of the building in the heart of a city can be utilized for landing and taking off by airplanes with safety remains to be seen.

The new building may not be finished for six or seven years, but postal officials make the prediction that by the time it is erected the flying field feature will be practical.

CHICAGO HOTEL BLAZE CLAIMS 3 IN MORNING FIRE

Chicago, July 20.—(AP)—Three persons were burned to death and four others, one of whom is not expected to live, were seriously injured in a fire which swept through the Seva hotel here early today.

The flames drove 100 persons to the street while firemen carried 30 others to safety. George Person, 80 years old, leaped from his third floor room but sustained only a broken leg.

The blaze originated in the office on the second floor of the building and swept to the fourth floor roof, destroying the front of the building. Firemen gained control before any further damage was done.

Gus Anderson, 52; William Pearce and an unidentified man were the victims.

JAMES J. RUSSELL, BRYAN OPPONENT IN 1896, IS DEAD

Memphis, Tenn., July 20.—(AP)—The body of James J. Russell, lawyer, politician and manufacturer, who died at his home here yesterday three weeks after suffering a paralytic stroke, was sent today to Muscatine, Iowa, where burial will take place tomorrow.

Mr. Russell, who was 73 years old, was an assistant district attorney in New York at the time the late Richard Croker was Tammany "boss." He disagreed with Croker over the gold standard and withdrew from politics. He vigorously fought William Jennings Bryan when the latter was the democratic candidate for president in 1896 and two years later he published a book "How and Why Colonel W. J. Bryan Was Defeated for the Presidency in 1896."

DAHLONEGA SUMMER TERM ENDS SATURDAY

Dahlonega, Ga., July 20.—(Special.)—The six weeks' summer school held at the North Georgia Agricultural college will close next Saturday. A total of 97 students enrolled, which included several married men and women.

Colonel J. W. West, president, expresses satisfaction at the success of the work done at the first session and announces that a second six weeks' term will open next Monday.

The students enjoyed a motor trip today to Neels Gap and other points of interest in this section. The local Parent-Teacher association furnished lunch and the chamber of commerce provided transportation for the party.

STONE'S PICTURE STAYS IN BROTHERHOOD BANK

Cleveland, Ohio, July 20.—(AP)—Delegates coming from the floor of the secret convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers here unofficially announced that a proposal to remove the picture of the late Warren S. Stone, former president, grand chief engineer, and "idol" of the organization from the brotherhood bank lobby was voted down today.

Alvanley Johnson, recently elected grand chief engineer of the brotherhood, will receive a salary of $15,000 a year, according to a report of the salaries committee which was adopted today. This is $2,000 more than he formerly received. The increase was said to have been made because Johnson is now the nominal head of the organization since the abolition of three former high offices.

T. J. Bishett, first assistant grand chief engineer, will receive $10,000 annually and nine other assistants will receive $8,500 each, the same salary they received in the past.

The convention spent the day in considering these eleventh-hour reports, prior to its adjournment, which is expected before the end of the week. The convention opened here June 1.

Pupil Weds Violinist.

New York, July 20.—(AP)—The marriage of Eugene Ysaye, noted 69-year-old Belgian violinist, to Miss Annette Dincin, of Brooklyn, his 25-year-old pupil, was revealed by the girls' father, Dr. Herman Dincin, today.

ATLANTA TO HEAR BIG BOUT BY RADIO

COUNTRY LINKED BY 50 STATIONS

New York, July 20.—(AP)—A national hookup of 50 radio stations from coast to coast will broadcast the Dempsey-Sharkey fight Thursday night at Yankee stadium, officials of the National Broadcasting company announced today. Graham McNamee and Phillips Carlin, alternating at the microphone, will describe the battle. Stations broadcasting the bout include:

WJZ and WEAF, New York; KYW, WEBH, WGN, WMAQ and WENR, Chicago; KDKA and WCAE, Pittsburgh; WJR and WWJ, Detroit; KSD, St. Louis; WRC, Washington, D. C.; WSAI and WLW, Cincinnati; WCCO, Minneapolis-St. Paul; WDAF, Kansas City, Mo.; WHAS, Louisville; WSM, Nashville; WMC, Memphis; WOC, Davenport; WTAM, Cleveland; WAIU, Columbus; KOA, Denver; KFI, Los Angeles; KGO, Oakland; KPO, San Francisco; KGW, Portland, Ore.; KOMO and WFOA, Seattle; KVOO, Bristow, Okla.; WJAX, Jacksonville, Fla.; WFAA, Dallas; WOOI, San Antonio; KSL, Salt Lake City.

BY WILL SMITH.

All Atlanta has an opportunity to hear the Dempsey-Sharkey fight by radio Thursday night in its own home or at any one of the many public broadcasts scheduled by local merchants.

Never before in the history of pugilism or radio has any one sport event created the interest that is being shown in this event scheduled for the Yankee stadium where Jack Dempsey will attempt a comeback by putting his erstwhile competitor, Jack Sharkey, out of the running for heavyweight honors.

Those who have radio sets in their home may tune in on any one of the 50 broadcasting stations throughout the United States for a blow-by-blow story of the battle as it is told by Graham McNamee and Phillips Carlin, two of the National Broadcasting company's stellar sports announcers who are to be stationed at the ringside.

Those Atlantans who do not own a radio receiving set and do not possess friends that do, will be able to hear the fight story broadcast at a number of conveniently-located points.

The Georgia Power company, one of Atlanta's leading radio retail organizations, is staging a stag party at its new salesroom at 84 Walton street. The affair, which is scheduled to begin at 6:30 o'clock, promises to be one of the largest gatherings of its kind.

Officials of the company have prepared an elaborate program to precede and follow the fight broadcast. This "stag" is for the public and every man in town is invited to be present. Ice cold drinks, cigarettes and cigars will be furnished.

In addition to the stag party, the power company has arranged to keep each of its neighborhood stores open so that its customers who do not want to travel downtown may hear the broadcast at the location convenient to their homes.

The Ed and Al Matthews company, prominent Edgewood avenue furniture dealers, have arranged with the city to give a public broadcast of the fight at four city parks. Company trucks, equipped with Atwater Kent radio receivers and loud speakers, will be stationed at Howell, Oakland City, Maddox and Springvale parks. The last named is in Inman Park.

For those who prefer the cool evening breezes, the Matthews company broadcasts should prove attractive. These broadcasts will be in charge of George M. Goza, manager of the Matthews radio department, and his assistant, Al Matthews, Jr.

The Atlanta Constitution will offer a public broadcast of the fight. Through the courtesy of Brower Murphy, factory representative, and the Alexander-Seewald company, distributors of the Bremer-Tully radio receivers, a receiving set has been installed in the sixth floor offices of The Constitution and the public is invited to be present to hear the story.

The Peacock cafe, upstairs at 10 Edgewood avenue, has installed the latest Atwater Kent receiving device and is offering a public broadcast of the fight during the late supper hour.

While the Atlanta Journal will not broadcast the New York blow-by-blow story put out by the National Broadcasting company, a special report of the fight will be furnished through its station WSB, using Associated Press reports as they are received.

This service will give those radio fans who do not own high-powered sets an opportunity to get an accurate description of the fight as it is reported by Associated Press writers.

The main bout is scheduled to begin sometime between 7:30 and 8 o'clock, Atlanta time, depending on the length of the preliminary bouts.

Lawyer Injured When Auto Hits Telephone Pole

D. H. McWilliams, prominent East Point attorney, was treated at a private hospital here Wednesday for injuries received when an automobile in which he was riding crashed into a telephone pole at the intersection of Church and Thompson streets in East Point.

McWilliams was driving north on Church street and in avoiding a collision with a truck which failed to stop at a traffic boulevard his car crashed into a telephone pole. The car was considerably damaged.

SECRETARY SAYS STATES NEED AID

The commerce secretary is the first cabinet officer to come into the Black Hills since the president established his residence here five weeks ago today. Mr. Coolidge drove to Custer, 15 miles from the state game lodge, to meet Mr. Hoover, when he left the train there early today. After luncheon at the summer white house the two motored to the executive office here.

Mr. Hoover also brought with him a tentative outline for a comprehensive flood control program, calling for higher and wider levees, "safety valves" in the form of spillways to protect lower Louisiana and "further safety measures now being studied by engineers." He gave an estimate that an additoin of $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 annually over a period of 10 years to the present appropriation of $16,000,000 annually for flood control would complete a program providing for flood control, navigation and power development of the entire Mississippi river system and its tributaries. He expects a more detailed report on this work within a few months.

St. Lawrence Discussed.

Reverting to a discussion of the St. Lawrence river canal project, Mr. Hoover again expressed confidence that something definite would develop from the negotiations with Canada. He said that government had replied to America's note, asking that it be given more time to study the report being compiled by the joint committee of engineers. This report, he added, should be completed within three or four weeks.

Construction of this canal, Mr. Hoover declared, would be of inestimable value to the middle west. He is convinced that the price of grains received by American farmers is predicated on Liverpool quotations, less the cost of delivery there. If this cost of transportation can be lowered, he says it means that much more will be received by the American farmer.

In his report to the president the commerce secretary estimated that the minimum damage done by the flood would total $250,000,000 and that 750,000 persons were driven from their homes. The Red Cross, it added, cared for 608,000 and removed several hundred thousands from high waters with the loss of only three lives. Refugees, he said, were sent home better clothed and in better health than when they reached the camps.

People Discouraged.

"The inability to pay interest, state and levee taxes and of some individuals to find food for winter may create a continuing problem," Mr. Hoover declared. "The people involved are greatly discouraged.

"It is impossible at this date to determine what the necessities will be after November 1. That can only be told when we have a chance to examine the actual situation both as to the crops, amount of employment and the volume of need in other directions."

The secretary said he planned to return to the south in September for an inspection and again in October and he believed after this trip that it would be possible to say definitely what measures of relief would be necessary.

Speaking of a permanent flood program, Mr. Hoover said that there was no question that the Mississippi river could be controlled if "a bold and proper engineering plan is developed." The program he suggested to the president today includes the following principles:

"Higher, and consequently wider, levees and the extension of federal responsibility for levees on some of the tributaries.

"A safety valve upon the levee system by the provision of a spillway, or more properly called a by-pass, to the gulf to protect New Orleans and southern Louisiana—most probably using the Atchafalaya river for this purpose.

By-pass Considered.

"For further safety measures, the engineers are examining the possible extension of the by-pass northward from the Atchafalaya river towards the Arkansas, the possible erection of emergency flood basins and the possibilities of storage in the tributaries."

Mr. Hoover said he had at this time no thought of presenting a draft of flood control legislation to congressional committees, believing these should work out a bill themselves after the data had been laid before them.

He expected to use some of the Red Cross funds, which have reached a total of $16,500,000, to send men into the flood area to make surveys as well as using some commerce department experts in this connection. Three southern finance companies who have agreed to aid in rehabilitating the flooded area, also planned to send men into the field on flood control surveys.

The commerce secretary stopped at the summer white house on his way west to make an inspection of his department's offices. He expects to visit San Francisco, Los Angeles, Spokane and other coast cities.

Mr. Hoover was a guest of President and Mrs. Coolidge this noon for luncheon at the game lodge and met there the youthful Rolf Lium, who preaches to the president at the Hermosa Congregational church and who previously had been invited to luncheon.

CAPITAL GREETS AIRBIRDS TODAY

Washington, July 20.—(AP)—Plans stood virtually complete tonight for the national capital's reception of Lieutenants Lester J. Maitland and Albert F. Hegenberger, of the army air corps, first to fly from the mainland to the Hawaiian Islands.

The aviators are scheduled to arrive at Bolling field late tomorrow afternoon. There they will be greeted on behalf of the nation by Secretary Kellogg and will receive certificates citing them for the distinguished flying cross, the decoration itself to be presented upon President Coolidge's return to Washington. Tomorrow evening they will be guests of honor at a dinner given by the National Aeronautic association, which civilian Washington has been invited to attend.

An exhibition of formation and stunt flying has been arranged as a feature of the program at Bolling field. Army, navy and probably marine corps planes from Quantico will take to the air and for half an hour will go through their paces. Several parachute jumps are scheduled.

PACIFIC FLIERS GET WELCOME AT DAYTON.

Dayton, Ohio, July 20.—(AP)—Thousands of Daytonians packed McCook field this afternoon to welcome Lieutenants Lester J. Maitland and Albert F. Hegenberger, army aviators, on their triumphant return to their home airdome after successfully completing their non-stop flight from California to Honolulu.

Maitland made a beautiful landing at the air field in the three-motored Fokker, sister ship to the one he and Hegenberger used in their flight across the Pacific, amid cheers of admiring friends and fellows.

Escorted Through.

They were escorted through two lines of army airplanes to the operations office where their formal welcome to the city was held. From the roof of the building speeches were made and each of the lieutenants was presented with a chest of silver, Dayton's gift of appreciation.

Congressman Roy G. Fitzgerald, Mayor Allen McDonald, Brigadier General William E. Gilmore, chief of the material division of the army air corps, all made welcoming speeches. The aviators replied briefly.

The fliers then were taken in automobiles to the national artillery home, where several thousand veterans of American wars reside and a reception for them was held there.

Wives on Hand.

Tonight the fliers were joined by their wives, who came to Dayton from Milwaukee by train and were guests of General Gilmore at dinner. Later officers of Wilbur Wright field conducted a military ball in their honor.

Maitland and Hegenberger will leave tomorrow morning in the Fokker plane for Washington. An escort of army planes will accompany them to the capital.

WOODMEN TO PARADE AT COLUMBUS TODAY

Columbus, Ga., July 20.—(AP)—The third day of the uniform rank encampment of the Woodmen of the World got under way here today at 9 o'clock with exemplification of floor work by contesting companies at the Woodmen hall. Several companies participated in this work, the representatives being from Georgia, Florida and Alabama.

Last night the delegates were entertained at a banquet at the Country club.

Thursday's program includes auto rides for officers and enlisted men to points of interest and a dress parade through the principal streets of the city.

The encampment will come to a close Saturday.

1 DEAD, 1 HURT IN TOOMBS DUEL

Lyons, Ga., July 20.—(Special.)—Henry Loyd Kite, a farmer in northern part of Toombs county, is in jail today charged with shooting and killing Let Deloach and wounding Bartow Collins, both of Cobbtown.

The killing is said to have followed a shooting scrape between Kite and Deloach last Sunday on Kite's farm.

Deloach came to town Tuesday in connection with the Sunday affair and as he returned home late in the day the fatal shooting occurred when he reached Kite's home, which was on his way home. In the exchange of shots between the two men, Deloach was killed instantly and Collins, who was riding in the truck with Deloach had his left arm broken and was also shot in the leg. He was carried to Cobbtown for medical treatment.

Kite came to Lyons this morning and surrendered to the sheriff and is now in jail awaiting commitment trial. Kite owns extensive farming land in the upper portion of this county and lives about eight miles north of Lyons. He served a six months' sentence in the federal jail for violating the prohibition law.

Deloach was about 35 years old and is reported to have served a sentence locally once.

ADDRESSES FEATURE SECRETARIES' MEET

Athens, Ga., July 20.—(Special.)—Members of the Georgia Commercial Secretaries' association met in Athens Wednesday for the mid-summer conference. The sessions, which will continue throughout Thursday, are being held in the auditorium at the city hall.

Lincoln McConnell, of Macon, president of the association, is presiding. Addresses were delivered Wednesday morning by Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president of the State College of Agriculture; President McConnell and Secretary C. C. Thomas, of the Athens Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Dr. J. C. Wilkinson, pastor of the First Baptist church, of Athens. Secretary Thomas delivered the welcome address and the response was made by Mr. McConnell.

An address prepared by J. M. Hughes, secretary of the Cairo Chamber of Commerce, who was not able to attend the session, was read by President McConnell. The convention recessed at noon for luncheon at the Holman hotel.

The afternoon session Wednesday was devoted to addresses by H. B. Woodlief, on "Community Health Problems"; Bonnell H. Stone, on "What Forestry Means to Georgia"; J. M. Ashley, secretary Valdosta Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. Rosa Lee Hollomon, secretary McRae Chamber of Comemrce; George W. West, president Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, on "Should Chambers of Commerce Encourage Building and Loan Associations in Georgia?" and W. H. Foster, secretary Rome Chamber of Commerce.

Wednesday night the secretaries were guests of the Athens Chamber of Commerce at the music festival in Woodruff hall, the big attraction this week of the summer school.

CARNEGIE TECH HEAD FROM 1903 TO 1922 CALLED

New York, July 20.—(AP)—Arthur Arton Hamerschlag, 58, president of the Carnegie Institute of Technology at Pittsburgh between 1903 and 1922, died at the Roosevelt hospital early today. Since 1923 Mr. Hamerschlag had been director of industrial research in the office here of Major General George W. Goethals. Death was caused by intestinal trouble for which he had been treated during the last two weeks, it was said at the hospital.

HAWAIIAN ARMY ACE CALLS SELF FLIGHT 'AVIGATOR'

Milwaukee, Wis., July 20.—(AP)—Lieutenant Albert J. Hegenberger, in his own words, was the "avigator" not the navigator of the trans-Pacific flight which he completed with Lieutenant Lester J. Maitland.

The dictionary doesn't list the word, but Lieutenant Hegenberger explained that aviators are trying to put the word into general use.

"The Latin derivation of navigation is navis, meaning boat," said the flier. "So why not avigation for avis—a bird or flier?"

FLORIDA FLOGGING TRIAL OF 6 MEN SET FOR JULY 28

Orlando, Fla., July 20.—(AP)—Trial of six men charged with flogging J. A. Johnson was set for Thursday, July 28, by Judge W. L. Tilden in criminal court this afternoon.

The indictments on which the men are to be tried charge assault with intent to murder Johnson, who was taken from his car in the city on June 15, carried to a woods near the city and severely beaten.

DARING DRY AGENT SLAIN BY PRISONER HE DIDN'T SEARCH

Lexington, Ky., July 20.—(AP)—George Nantz, 40, one of the most daring of the federal prohibition force working from Lexington, was killed near London today by a prisoner whom he had failed to search after arrest.

Deputies with Nantz said that Clarence Maddox, 35, one of five men being brought in on liquor charges, leaped from the automobile and started to run. Nantz shot him in the legs with a shotgun. Maddox turned and fired a pistol, striking Nantz in the temple.

SILVER LEAVES OF IOWA GUARD FOR CHAMBERLIN

Des Moines, Iowa, July 20.—(United News.)—Clarence Chamberlin will be given a lieutenant colonelcy in recognition for his flight from New York to Germany.

The commission will be conferred on Chamberlin when he reaches Des Moines to be officially welcomed.

"Iowa will not permit the heroic feat of her flier-son to be dimmed by half-hearted recognition," Governor Hammill said today.

Women's Club Delegates Ask 'Why' Are Bachelors

:: "THEY ARE SELFISH; OR WOULDN'T BE" ::

Oakland, Calif., July 20.—(AP)—Whether selfishness, the want of romance or a high income tax is responsible for bachelors was a question that divided the opening of delegates attending the national convention of the Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs here today.

The question was brought up through introduction of a resolution asking for an increased exemption on income tax for unmarried persons.

Miss Martha Connole, St. Louis lawyer, who presented the resolution, said the change she proposed would help the single woman to support a family.

"Seventy-five per cent of unmarried business women are supporting one or more parents or less fortunate members of their families," Miss Connole declared. "I have discovered that single men have a tendency to clear out and let a sister or several sisters meet most of the responsibilities of the home.

"They are selfish or they wouldn't be bachelors; they're afraid of assuming the obligations, financial and spiritual, of marriage. Women have a deeper sense of moral responsibility than men.

"There are two kinds of marriages nowadays—the kind that is really only a legal partnership without children, and the kind in which both parents share equal responsibilities in rearing children."

Miss Mary Zapp, of Pocatello, Idaho, said she disagreed with Miss Connole.

"Bachelorhod is growing among both men and women because the modern girl seldom finds a man who meets her approval as a companion and who still earns as much as she does. Our own financial independence is to blame."

Miss Eva Wilcox, of New Jersey, declared that bachelors of both sexes are bachelors by accident.

"All men and women would marry if they could," she said. "It is all a question of romance, which some never find and others do."

Atlantans Bound Over To DeKalb Grand Jury In Automobile Case

Decatur, Ga., July 20.—(Special.) Bailey Lovinger and a man named Mitchell, who gave their addresses as Atlanta, and a negro named Smith were bound over to the DeKalb county grand jury in connection with the burning of an automobile at a hearing here yesterday before Judge C. H. Livsey. D. Cline, also of Atlanta, was also bound over on a charge of conspiracy to defraud. He is out on bond.

It was disclosed at the trial that Cline reported to officers that his automobile had been stolen about a week ago and that the car was found afire on a road near the federal prison, after having been stripped of all movable parts.

Officers summoned to the burning car met an automobile in which Lovinger, Smith and Mitchell were riding, which it was said also contained the parts taken off the burning car. The automobile was taken into custody by the officers.

At the hearing before Judge Livsey the negro, according to officers, turned state's evidence and testified that Cline had entered into a conspiracy whereby the trio was to "steal" the car, strip it, then burn it, for the purpose, the negro said, of collecting insurance upon the automobile.

NEGRO BOUND OVER ON ARSON CHARGE

Perry, Ga., July 20.—(Special.)—Charley Chat, a negro, was tried this morning before Judge W. J. Short on a charge of arson in that he set fire to a tenant house on the farm of Louis L. Brown near Grovania in this county. After hearing the evidence he was bound over to superior court.

TEMPLE ROBBED; AIMEE GOES HOME

Los Angeles, July 20.—(AP)—Two burglaries at Angelus temple in which an undetermined sum of money was taken were reported tonight by Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, its business manager, in commenting on the hurried return of her daughter, Aimee Semple McPherson, the temple's evangelist, who today abandoned an Alton, Ill., revival to speed to Los Angeles.

Mrs. Kennedy told of the burglaries in denying reports that there had been a shortage of the temple's funds through embezzlement.

Mrs. Kennedy announced she would retire as assistant to her daughter and business manager of the temple.

The evangelist's return was insisted upon by her mother and the temple organization, Mrs. Kennedy said. She denied the truth of rumors that financial troubles had caused a split in the temple organization.

"I have been trying to retire for two years," Mrs. Kennedy said.

Rev. C. E. Jaynes, pastor of the Riverside branch of the church, was reported to be the leader of the controversy.

"I have been to Chicago to see Sister McPherson and am in constant touch with her," Mr. Jaynes said. "I may have a big story if things turn out in certain ways."

Mr. Jaynes was at the temple to confer with Mrs. Kennedy, but left without being able to do so.

YOUNG BANDITS GAG, ROB COUNTY TREASURER

Sidney, Ohio, July 20.—(AP)—Two young robbers today kidnaped Alphonse Berry, treasurer of Shelby county, as he was on his way to a bank late today, bound and gagged him and carried him into the country about nine miles where they threw him from their automobile and escaped with a satchel containing $40 in county funds.

Archduke Says Hungarian Count Tread on Dignity

Los Angeles, July 20.—(AP)—Archduke Leopold of Austria last night recounted other alleged snubs suffered by him at the hands and mouth of Count Laszlo Szechenyi, Hungarian minister to the United States, whom he recently challenged to a death duel with pistols or cavalry sabers.

Archduke Leopold, now in Los Angeles, issued the defy because he felt the minister had insulted him in declining to handle a loan expected from New York friends of the Austrian royalty. The minister, in a telegram to the archduke, described his request as "tactless."

"When we arrived in New York Count Szechenyi should have met us at the dock," said the Royal Austrian. "It would have been the gentlemanly thing to do.

"We went to Washington to call at the legation. Knowing that an archduke of Austria-Hungary was visiting the United States, Count Szechenyi should have awaited our arrival there. He did not.

"We were told he had gone fishing in Florida.

"We journeyed to Florida, but could not find the count. It is not right for the ambassador to go fishing when the archduke comes to America."

Count Szechenyi left for Europe on July 8 after accepting the archduke's challenge to a duel.

AS TO COUNTY MERGERS.

With the opposition of the Atlanta city council to the proposed merger of Campbell and Clayton counties with Fulton county and the opposition of the Fulton representation in the assembly, there is not the slightest chance for the measure to that end to be enacted.

In this specific instance two small counties, with smaller taxable wealth, would—if the consolidation with Fulton were authorized—be annexed to the wealthiest county in the state, and Fulton would share its financial and other resources with them.

As an isolated proposition of county consolidation Fulton does not look with favor on the suggestion.

But the very suggestion has served a good purpose in directing attention to the great advantage that would accrue to the whole state and to every county if there should be worked out a scientific system of county mergers throughout Georgia.

During the new county fever the state, in a comparatively few years, was cut up into 161 separate political subdivisions, at least half of which are too poor to provide standard schools, good local roads, or any other of the many services which tax funds buy.

The local taxes have been made burdensome and in some instances almost confiscatory.

The mistake is so outstanding that there is a disposition now all over the state to start the pendulum the other way.

And it should be done.

There should not be more than 100 counties in Georgia, and 80, which is approximately one-half the present number, would be infinitely better.

Then the legislature would be less unwieldly and more effective.

The administration of criminal law would be uniform and more efficient.

Schools would be uniform and opportunities would be equalized.

The local roads would be better maintained.

All counties would be on a practical parity in tax rates and in the services that taxes provide.

All of this, however, should come from a survey of the taxable wealth and of the outstanding obligations of all counties and by a process of systematic consolidations on a basis of uniformity as to population, wealth and extreme distances from the county seats.

To accomplish this would involve both business and engineering problems.

But it is entirely feasible.

Texas did it, just as she revised her constitution. Other states have done it.

If Georgia would undertake this kind of a merger program, Fulton and every other large and rich county in the state would lend earnest cooperation.

The spiritualists broadcast from a New York station, and the announcer asked all who heard strange sounds to advise him. We heard strange.

Governor Hardman's plea for uniform traffic laws is good. Then the motorist won't have so many laws to break.

When Commander Byrd returned to Ver-sur-Mer for a farewell visit a fisherman handed Byrd the ship's clock he had filched the morning of the landing of the plane in the sea off that place. The man had rather face Byrd with a clear conscience than face the clock with a guilty one. Diogenes has doused his glimmer.

A MERITORIOUS MEASURE.

No bill which has been introduced in either branch of the general assembly should meet more general approval than the bill of Hon. Arlie Tucker, substituting for the stamp tax act a system of graduated license taxation of cigars, cigarettes and manufactured tobacco products.

The stamp tax act was passed in 1923 to meet an emergency brought about by deficient funds for the payment of arrearages in Confederate pensions and to complete and equip the state tuberculosis hospital.

Supporters of the bill urged in its behalf that it would produce annual revenues running up into the millions, but in spite of the diligent efforts of the able commissioner of revenues to enforce the act, its results have been disappointing and trivial.

The nominal increase in the gross income from this tax has been far less than the normal increase in consumption, whereas the expense of administering the act has increased alarmingly with each year of its operation.

The tax has operated disastrously to the law-abiding dealer who pays the tax, and the crop of tobacco bootleggers who evade the tax is constantly increasing.

The business of the Georgia dealer is further depleted by the direct purchase of cigars and cigarettes shipped from points outside the state and protected against the tax by the interstate commerce act.

The Georgia Pharmaceutical association, in its recent convention, unanimously adopted stirring resolutions urging the general assembly to substitute for the stamp tax act a reasonable system of license taxation, and their action has been supplemented by the activity of Georgia tobacco growers, who resent the fact that a staple agricultural commodity which is proving the salvation of south Georgia farmers, should be segregated as the only commodity subjected to a stamp tax.

Representative Tucker comes from the heart of the Georgia tobacco belt, and the bill introduced by him is intended to relieve Georgia growers, dealers and druggists from the hardships and burden of a discriminating nuisance tax and, at the same time, to produce a greater net revenue to the state than has been derived from the stamp tax.

His bill provides that its administration shall continue under the department of revenues, the proceeds of the tax being allocated to the payment of Confederate pensions.

A number of his fellow members have voluntarily joined in signing the bill and have volunteered their services to its distinguished author in helping to secure its enactment.

From the standpoint of the state, the Confederate veterans, the druggists, the dealers and the growers, the bill should pass.

RUMANIA'S TROUBLES.

The death of King Ferdinand of Rumania is of chief personal interest in this country because of the visit here a few months ago of Queen Marie and her daughter and youngest son. In continental Europe, however, especially in the Balkan states, it is of great political significance.

With the present unrest in Austria and with the firm determination, as expressed, of both Hungary and Russia to regain the territories they lost as a result of the peace treaty—Rumania having cast her fortunes with the allies during the latter months of the war—it is inconceivable that there will not be serious and perhaps drastic involvements before the Balkan situation is clarified and settled.

In those elections the Bratianos won signal victories, but the opposition, led by the former premier, who was displaced, was noisy and riotous and closely affiliated with Russian sovietism.

The bolshevists have been gaining ground since, taking advantage of the gradually weakening condition of the king.

Bratiano is of the Mussolini type, and it is not impossible, in the case of serious eventualities, that he may become a supreme dictator.

The government, from the standpoint of the throne, will be conducted by a regency consisting of Prince Nicholas, the second son. The young king—the son of former Crown Prince Carol, who renounced the throne—and who is only six years of age, will not actually rule until he has attained his majority. In the meantime Queen Marie will probably be less influential than when she sat on the throne. She has for ten years been a conspicuous political figure.

Rumania's troubles have been many since Ferdinand, last scion of the Hohenzollerns, sided against his kin, although his country profited greatly in territorial acquisition as a result. More and serious trouble is again in sight.

WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

The New Germany.

M. Poincare has unfurled the old flag of hatred and suspicion against Germany with his speech at Luneville, two years after Locarno and nine years after the armistice. The world is still to believe that Germany is scheming and planning a military comeback. There must be a class of intransigeant irreconsilables in Germany, but the bulk of the people have no other thought than to recuperate from the tragedy that over took them. Our recent journey of observation showed a minimum of military activity, but a maximum of feverish commercial enterprise. The German, especially the Berliner, has taken to laugh and chuckle at the old regime, witness the plays given in Berlin. Emil Ludwig, famous writer, said last week: "Once we had uniforms, now we have lounge suits. We are going to stick to lounge suits." Herr Ludwig is not alone. All Germany practically is bent on hard work. It is rid of a crushing burden, the burden of militarism. The energy thus released goes into channels of peace. It is also ambitious and hopeful and cannot understand that in France the new spirit is no greeted with warmth and sincere approval.

The Ubiquitous Pimpernel.

"The Scarlet Pimpernel," that wondrous royalist, who harassed the republicans and to whom there were no doors or prison walls, was only the creation of a fertile novelist's brain. Leon Daudet, also royalist, also versatile, also a jail-breaker, is a reality. France and Europe rocked with laughter at his escape from prison, but M. Poincare bit his lips in the chamber and looked serious when the incident was discussed mid hilarious laughter. "We knew we could punish the republic and we chose the medium of ridicule," Daudet writes in his paper. For the daily tirades, lampooning and gross charges against the government continue, though thousands of police are searching every nook and corner of France for Daudet, the writer. Now he is reported in Lausanne, then in Madrid. The yacht of the Duke de Guise is said to have carried him off at Hinfleur. He is seen in London. In Brussels he was observed eating in a restaurant, in Rome in a theater. He is everywhere at once. But the police report: "Nowhere to be found."

* * * *

Accosting Strangers.

Incidents over the papal prohibition to read l'Action Francaise, the royalist paper, continue their animated and often amusing occurrence at the exit of Parisian churches. There have been fights and there have been occasions when priests in full sacerdotal attire came to the church doors after Sunday morning mass to pronounce formulas of excommunication against the vendors of the paper who take up their position at the doors. Last Sunday the curate of Saint Germain-des-Pres, a very royalist parish, came to the door. He saw a noble lady who purchased a copy of the offending paper. The curate followed her. Addressing the lady and followed by some curious spectators, the good priest tried to persuade her to throw the paper away. He pleaded, implored and even threatened, all to the amusement of many curious Parisians. The lady, however, said nothing in return. At last the curate exclaimed: "Madame, have you no answer to make to my serious warning?" to which she retorted: "Mensieur, I never answer men who accost me in the streets!"

Slipping Backward.

"To imagine the king's death" was a serious crime in mediaeval England. People smile nowadays over the absurdity of such a charge. Still there is a close resemblance between imagining thek ing's death and a new crime in the Italian penal code, described as "harboring secret intentions to leave the country." This reversion to dark age practice is even stranger when one considers the present ultra-modern condition of Italy, a land seething with industrial and commercial activity, with a great nation united to make the name of Italy shine before the world. Yet an eminent Neapolitan scientist, Professor Degasperi, has just been condemned to four years in jail on the new charge. Mussolini wants to prevent repetitions of the Professor Calvenin incident. This man after fleeing to England, has become a veritable scourge for the fascist regime. Italians who are not in sympathy with fascist doctrines must stay at home. It is a measure of safety for the state. "Their country has become a jail to them," writes an escaped patriot. Even at that it's a pleasant jail when you come to think of Siberian snow fields.

Founder of Christianity Was Not a Hair-Splitter

Editor Constitution: Mr. Hollomon's reference to Dr. Poteat was a peach. I enjoyed it immensely.

It is the business of a scientist to study God's handiwork. Why should it make him less devout and less a believer in God when he sees daily in nature many miracles of Divine grace more wonderful than any that the fundamentalists are fussing about? Lord Bacon, the founder of inductive science, said:

"I would rather believe all the fables in the legend than that this universal frame is without mind."

A chemist recently said: "Seeing the miracles daily wrought before my eyes in the laboratory, I would have to believe in God if I had never seen a Bible."

Roger Bacon, a devout man, was kept in jail 14 years in the thirteenth century for telling the truth about nature. Galileo was made to deny the truth by threat of death, and even Martin Luther denounced Copernicus for upholding the same view of the solar system.

No sane man in any church now doubts that Roger Bacon, Galileo and Copernicus were honest seekers after truth. The same thing will happen in years to come with reference to the men of our time who are brave enough to tell the truth about nature as they see it.

How foolish to waste precious time wrangling and hair-splitting about man-made creeds when there are millions of human beings who need a helping hand and a heartening word!

We have heard much of constructive statesmanship. Isn't it time to think more about constructive Christianity and forget the destructive stuff that masquerades under that sacred name?

The founder of Christianity wasted no time in hair-splitting. Everything He said was so plain that the man in the street understood it. The common people heard Him gladly and the doctors of the law could not gainsay a

LOOKING AND LISTENING

BY SAM W. SMALL

My Private Opinion on the Prohibition Problem Publicly Expressed.

Several very estimable persons, and some not particularly estimable have written to me to question my views respecting prohibition enforcement.

To the sensible and pertinent inquiries I am pleased to make respectful and conscientious replies; to the impudent questions I plainly tell the askers to "go to."

Prohibition has become a tremendously serious problem of our current life and toward it every honest citizen should hold an informed and candid attitude. I am frankly trying to do that.

The 40 years of strenuous labor and much sacrifice that I put into the fight for national prohibition was to get prohibition in fact and not principally on paper. We have the prohibition amendment in the national constitution. It was written there to be enforced. It is the duty of the president, the congress, the states, and all officials of government to enforce it practically, and we must assume that they are doing their duty to that end as fully as they can.

If that assumption is correct, then from the state of liquor affairs throughout the nation, we must further assume that prohibition enforcement is another task of Sisyphus and impossible of practical accomplishment.

* * * *

Neither Assumption Holds Good.

For myself, I do not stand upon either of those assumptions.

I do not believe that either the national authorities of Washington, or the general run of state authorities, are anxious or active in enforcing the prohibition laws to the letter.

I do not believe that the task is as impossible as that of Sisyphus!

As I have repeatedly said in these columns, the national authorities have settled down to the policy of enforcing the law against major operations of violators of the prohibition act.

They are putting great efforts into the fight against liquor smugglers but that was the work of the revenue cutter, or coast guard, service before we had any national prohibition act. It is true that there are hundreds of coast smugglers and border rum-runners now to where there was one when liquor could be imported freely at small duty taxes. Hence, the increased emphasis that now has to be put upon anti-smuggling operations.

It was the duty of the revenue bureau before national prohibition to suppress all forms of illicit distilling, brewing, and sale of liquors. The bureau attended diligently to those operations, but now there are a thousand such offenses daily to one in pre-prohibition days. The obligations of the prohibition bureau are no greater today than before, but the calls upon it are multiplied a thousand to one.

* * * *

The Lice of Egypt.

The prohibition authorities at Washington have found and will frankly tell anyone that it is absolutely impossible, with available men and money, to detect, chase down, capture and jail the million bootleggers who infest the nation like the lice of Egypt that the Pharaoh could not catch and bottle up. Except for a few local raids to please and impress the environing prohibitionists, they are largely leaving the fugitive peddling outlaws to the state and city agencies.

The consequence is that prohibition is scarcely any more visible today than it was before the Volstead law was enacted and liquor is far more generally deal in than then.

It is against such conditions that I have been protesting and for which I have been urging that some practical remedy be found and applied.

It does not comport with my sense of truth and moral sincerity to assert that prohibition is a "wonderful success" and is conferring incalculable benefit upon the country when I know to the contrary.

Prohibition, I believe, can be satisfyingly enforced when we come to the decision to employ the quarter of a million men and spend annually the billion of dollars necessary to reduce liquor outlaws to the irreducible minimum and keeps them in that status constanttly. When that remedy is offered, I shall be for it.

* * * *

"An Amoosin' Cuss."

Josh Billings pronounced the monkey "an amoosin' cuss," but no monkey was ever as amoosin' as the Atlanta preacher who wrote in to learn how much I am getting from the liquor people for "opposing prohibition?" Well, if there are any liquor people paying me anything for what I am saying about prohibition, they are the dog-gonedest fools out of Bedlam. It so happens that the only revenue I am getting is from The Constitution's pay roll and from the United States treasury for services to my country which that preacher, I reckon, never offered to render and could not render. Anyhow, he is perfectly welcome to his uncharitable suspicion.

A good sister of the W. C. T. U. fears that I have apostatized from the true faith in prohibition, and if she means this brand of it which has such low visibility in Atlanta, she is right. But I shall hope to stand near her when we both receive our final judgment from Him who knows the hearts of men, and hear what she thinks about my case then.

Any one who is rejoiced by the sort of prohibition that prevails now is far easier satisfied than I can be.

I want real, downright, dead honest prohibition, and not this kind that elders, deacons and stewards of churches laugh over while drinking their high-balls made from bootleg liquor. The preachers who like that species of prohibition have plenty of it.

* * * *

Not Personally Interested.

Whether prohibition prohibits or does not cuts very little ice with me personally. I don't drink liquor, serve liquor, or want liquor for any purpose in God's world.

But I deplore the freedom that liquor enjoys under our present forms of prohibition and am concerned, as a citizen, over the widespread and increasing lawlessness that it is promoting.

If there is any one living who knows how to stop the demoralizing orgy, now, in God's name, is the time for him to come to the front and tell us how to do it!

The churches have failed, the W. C. T. U. has failed, the Anti-Saloon league has failed, congress has failed, the president has failed, the courts and law officers have failed, and the prohibition sleuths, both national and state, have made a miserable farce of a law from which the people who enacted it had the right to expect the most prompt and splendid effects.

Whenever a real leader arises who can lead us to prohibition, he will find me right behind him in the ranks!

ARE WE MEN OR APES?

BY SAM W. SMALL

An Opposition to the Hollomon Idea That Genesis Is a Legend.

The affectionate loyalty of my erudite copartner on this page, Colonel Hollomon, to his old and distinguished preceptor, Dr. Poteat, of Wake Forest college, wins my complete admiration. His protest against any attack upon the religious orthodoxy of Dr. Poteat was gracefully and persuasively made on yesterday's page and I hasten to disclaim that in any reference previously made by me to Dr. Poteat's adhesion to the evolution theory I had any intent to impugn his learning or religious character.

I have before me the testimony of another distinguished Baptist here in Atlanta who corroborates Mr. Hollomon. He says that while he, also, was a student at Wake Forest a quarter century ago, Dr. Poteat advanced nothing in advertisement or support of the Darwinian theory of the "Descent of Man." But, he also says, Dr. Poteat in more recent years has become entangled in the meshes of that materialistic theory of evolution, which repudiates the basic revelations of the Scriptures.

Mr. Hollomon sat under Dr. Poteat when the evolution cult was not so prognathous and persistent in proselytism as it is today. Thirty years ago few Christians and none of their colleges were being alarmed by such surreptitious atheism as the "evolution" of this day.

* * * *

The Ostracism of God.

Mr. Hollomon, in my view, has ingenuously uncovered the real dynamite in Darwinism and its "woods colts" called "cosmic" and "theistic" evolution.

It is the absolute denial of the Genesis account of creation!

When one drops that he drops the entire system of divine revelation and leaves no foundation for faith in anything else in the Scriptures. When Genesis is rejected one is wholly at liberty to assert belief only in what Scripture says that accords with his previous and unaided creed concerning creation, ethics and eternal things.

When Mr. Hollomon speaks of "the legend of the creation of the world in six days," and that to believe in it is "some job," he reveals the grave peril to faith and morals that inheres in the teaching of the evolution theory to the youth of a generation.

It is all beside the mark to degenerate the discussion into a debate as to whether the days of Genesis were sun-days, or aeons of unmeasured length.

The supreme and fundamental fact on which Christian faith can stand is that God created the world and man as the inspired reporter, Moses, has recorded.

Laugh Moses out of the picture of creation and, as Bishop Candler and others truly say, you banish God to the confines of creation and He becomes "a horizon" of speculative science instead of the Holofex of the universe.

* * * *

Are We Men or Monkeys?

Professor Mauro says that "the words, 'Let us make man in our image, after our likeness,' reveal a truth of fundamental importance. Against this foundation truth of Scripture, evolution raises the monstrous and impious fiction that man was made in the image and likeness of the ape, by means of an unbroken continuity of changes imperceptibly small."

That is the dogma that all the chief evolutionists—Darwin, Haeckel, Huxley, Spencer, Tyndall, Darrow and Scopes have professed and propagated. And today, our children are going to school, carrying Fairbanks' geography from which they learn that the Bible is a lying book and its account of the creation of the world and of man are silly old lies!

But there is a hopeful sign in the scientific skies. The evolution scientists are crawfishing and backing to regain their foothold on Genesis—that legend that Mr. Hollomon says it is "some job" to swallow.

During the Dayton-Scopes trial there was no fiercer assailant of William Jennings Bryan than Professor Henry Fairfield Osborn, president of the American Museum of Natural History. He even published a book, "The Earth Speaks to Bryan," to ridicule the fundamentalism of the great commoner. But now Professor Osborn comes to the front to acknowledge:

"The ape-human ancestry theory is greatly weakened by recent evidence. . . . I regard the ape-human theory as totally false and misleading. It should be banished from our speculations and from our literature."

* * * *

Now Where Are We At?

With that confession coming from the acknowledged leader of all the anthropologists and evolutionists of America, if not in the world," as the Memphis Press-Scimitar describes him where are we at?

Who now will contend for the "freedom of teaching" the monkey doctrine in our public schools as genuine science and superbiblical literature?

I have no quarrel with Dr. Poteat, and certainly none with colleague Hollomon, but I am cocked and primed all the time for a Kilkenny fight with anybody demanding the right to teach my young breed that they are apes.

Monroe county, and would dispense with about ten field men doing experimental work and substitute an entomologist who, with his assistants would report directly to the commissioner of agriculture.

HIGHWAY REORGANIZATION BILL KILLED IN COMMITTEE.

The house's copy of Senator Thompson's highway system reorganization bill was killed Wednesday night in committee. The measure, identical with the one which is engrossing the upper branch, was introduced in the house by Representative Martin, of Troup county. It will be reported out today with the recommendation that it does not pass.

Another bill, by Representative Howard, of Chattahoochee, designed to stop the practice of counties matching state and federal funds for use on state-aid roads, with the understanding that the county funds constitute debt to be refunded later, also will be adversely reported. That provision previously had been written into the Thompson bill.

Proponents of the Thompson measure contended that it would guarantee 300 miles of paved road a year and cut overhead costs, which they charged have been "enormous," to less than 8 per cent.

Disposition to continue under the present system, with no change whatever, was indicated in the vote by which the committee agreed to an amendment to the Thompson bill which would have substituted the present plan of county seat to county seat roads for the 2,800 miles primary trunk system proposed. Under the Thompson bill it was proposed to disregard county lines in construction of the central system.

Other objections centered on a proposal that reimbursement of counties which have advanced money under the present system be started as soon as the primary system is completed. The funds were provided, it was contended, with the understanding that repayment would not be due until the 6,500 miles of state road now proposed are complete.

SALARY GARNISHMENT BILL UNFAVORABLY REPORTED.

Adverse action on the bill introduced by Representative Luther Still, of Fulton, which would have done away with the right of salary garnishment for payment of debts, was taken by the house committee on "the state of the republic" at a public hearing held Wednesday night at the Ansley hotel.

The original bill exempted from the liabilities of garnishment the salaries of all persons employed to render services of any kind. However, at the committee hearing a substitute measure was presented which placed the minimum limit of wages exempt from garnishment at $15 dollars per week and 50 per cent of any wage received over that amount, and further provided that a judgment must be procured before any garnishment could take place. But when the vote was taken both the original and the substitute were given an unfavorable report.

The four "anti-loan shark" bills that have been introduced in the house at the instigation of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce and the Federation of Trades came up for action but were referred to a subcommittee of five for further consideration, the committee consisting of Representatives Jones, Davis, Culpepper, Still and Dekle. This subcommittee will consider them in the near future. The measures all are for the purpose of making the present laws governing small money lenders more stringent in an attempt to cut down the tremendous interest and renewal fees now charged.

Representative Still led the fight for his measure on the basis that the present garnishment law works a great hardship on the wage-earners of the state. He declared that a great many unscrupulous concerns ensnared small wage-earners to make purchases of articles for which they had no use and which they did not have the means to buy, on credit, and then, when they could not pay, tied up all of their salary in legal proceedings. He further declared that in many cases the salaries were tied up by garnishment proceedings when there was not reason for such action and pointed out the fact that a judgment should be obtained before such action was taken.

R. S. Elrod and L. W. Flowers spoke in favor of the measure, stating that they represented railroad brotherhoods, and that the present law is working a hardship on the railway wage-earners. Louis P. Macquardt of the Georgia Federation of Labor, and R. J. Reynolds, Jr., of the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce, also spoke for the bill's passage.

John R. Burrus, Atlanta attorney, stating that he represented a number of Atlanta merchants, strongly opposed the measure. He stated that their passage would prove a harm rather than an aid to the small salary earner, as it would destroy his credit, which at times he badly needed. He stated that merchants are perfectly willing to extend credit, when needed, if they have some assurance that they will be repaid. The garnishment procedure is the only method of giving the merchant assurance that the small salary-earner will pay his debts, he stated. He further declared that if the credit of the wage-earner is cut off it would "drive him to the loan shark, which would be the worst thing that could happen to him."

R. V. Burgen, secretary of the Retail Food Dealers' association of the state, also opposed the measure. He said: "The only salvation of the small merchant of the state lies in the garnishment right. He extends credit to the working man who wishes temporary relief and must buy food for his family and he must be given some assurance that he will collect his debt. Even with the present laws there are over $2,800,000 in uncollected debts on the books of the retail grocers of Georgia."

J. H. Bullock, retail grocer of Atlanta and chairman of the legislative committee of the city, also urged adverse action. He states that the retail men were perfectly willing to aid the wage-earners by giving them credit and the only way that this credit could be continued to be extended was by keeping the present law in force.

PROPOSED AGRICULTURAL CONSOLIDATION DRAWS FIRE.

A strong public bid for "service" was entered at an open hearing, held Wednesday night, before senate and house agricultural subcommittees, on the commissioner of agriculture's proposal to combine the state board of entomology, the veterinary division and the state farm bureau under the agricultural department.

Commissioner Eugene Talmadge's recommendations, as submitted to the governor and later embodied in three house bills, drew a heavy fire from witnesses who aimed their objections at any curtailment of service by a reduction of personnel in the departments affected.

Action on the bills was deferred until a later hearing by the subcommittees. The joint session was composed of three men, representing the senate agricultural committee, house committees Nos. 1 and 2, together with their respective chairmen. All were appointed at the last joint hearing on the measure.

The bill, as introduced in the house by Representative Goolsby, of Monroe county, calling for abolishment of the state board of entomology and incorporation of its powers under the agricultural department, was the first to be considered. This measure, as explained by Commissioner Talmadge, would dispense with about ten field men doing experimental work and substitute an entomologist who, with his assistant, would report directly to the commissioner of agriculture.

The nature of this work would be "reportorial," or confined solely to "policing" the state against importation of infected plants or spread of insect or fungus destructive to plant life.

Patterson Testifies.

J. M. Patterson, of Putney, Ga., who said he represented large pecan-growing interests, was the first citizen to testify, declaring that "natural enemies to the pecan tree are yearly growing harder to cope with."

Mr. Patterson stated that the work of the state entomologists combating insect and fungus growths attacking the pecan tree was invaluable to his business, and ended with a strong petition that this service be not discontinued.

Frank Beck, president of the Consolidated Apple Growers' exchange, at Cornelia, was the next to address the meeting. Mr. Beck backed the former speaker in that the state service was doing excellent work by preventing the spread of innumerable pests preying on apple trees. Mr. Beck asked that the legislature do nothing to deprive Georgia apple growers of this service.

Lee Worsham, state entomologist, contended that his department was too busy with live issues to do experimental or research work, as stated by Mr. Talmadge. The speaker declared that the state's need of protection from import of new pests and spread of the native variety demanded a corps of experts under separate and distinct direction.

J. P. Hogg, of the state entomology department, defended the service his division was rendering the state, and asked that no politics be brought to bear to interrupt the work now going forward.

In support of his recommendations, Commissioner Talmadge declared that duplications in experimental work were now in effect. He suggested that all experimental and research work be confined to the state experimental station at Griffin, pointing out that this was a scintific calling and should be removed as far as possible from political interference.

With regard to the bill that would bring the state veterinary's office under supervision of the agricultural department, Mr. Talmadge said "the state veterinary's duties should be confined to 'police' work, and reports made directly to my office."

The commissioner entered an empassioned plea that these departments be cut down and centralized under one authority, allowing an efficient and economical administration for the public good.

"The state agricultural department," Mr. Talmadge said, "should only serve as a medium between the state agricultural college, the state experimental station and the farmer. At present it is 'spread-eagled' and unwieldly."

Dr. Peter Bahnsen, state veterinarian for 15 years, who went out of office last June, was greeted by a round of applause when he asked that all "scientific service rendered by the state be protected from political interference."

Asked by the chairman what he considered a wise provision for length of office of tecinical men, Mr. Bahnsen replied that six years was the least that should be considered. "No scientific man can be of value to this highly specialized work under two years," he affirmed.

Presiding at the meeting was Senator E. E. Cocke, of eleventh district, chairman of the senate agricultural committee, while the secretary was Representative Lewis A. Mills, of Chatham county.

Health Talks

THE FLOOD OF MEDICAL BOOZE.

In the days before prohibition few physicians of standing ever prescribed as much as 100 pints of whisky in three months. Many good physicians prescribed alcohol in various cases and some good medical authorities vigorously upheld the use of alcohol as a medicine. But all agreed that its uses were limited and most of the honest doctors who did believe alcohol a good medicine in some cases resorted to it only occasionally. The scientific ground on which the medicinal use of alcohol rested was steadily crumbling away. The medical authorities who still supported the practice of prescribing it as a stimulant were making their last stand on precarious ground.

Then came the Volstead act, and the government took out of the physician's hands the matter of prescribing alcohol. Rules and regulations were laid down for him and his patients, and if the doctor felt that the amount of alcohol the government permits him to prescribe was not sufficient, he could get more for a patient by criminal methods. A good many doctors readily entered upon the criminal path—but not for honor.

The government permits a doctor to prescribe 400 pints of whisky a year, and the physician may personally possess and dispense or administer an additional 12 pints of whisky and five gallons of grain alcohol each year. If he is keen for profits, this five gallons of grain alcohol may be readily converted into 80 pints of synthetic gin, by the simple addition of some juniper extract and an equal amount of water. Thus the doctor, under federal permit, has at his disposal practically 492 pints of medicinal booze a year. Prior to Volstead very few doctors would have needed so much liquor.

It is a scandal that this new order has encouraged physicians, both young ones struggling to gain a foothold and old established men who stop at nothing they think they can get away with, to enter upon the bootleg business. A doctor may take out a prescription book and sell it to a crooked druggist for ready cash, the doctor first signing the blanks and entering fake names and addresses, so that the crooked druggist's hands will look clean in case the prohibition agents inquire. Then, too, the doctor may readily find and hold a market for all the real whisky or synthetic gin he can hand out, at fancy prices.

If our government could legislate out of existence tuberculosis or cancer, the necessary legislation would probably be passed promptly—but no doubt various interests that profit on these plagues would manage to obtain special exemptions or amendments of the law to suit their wishes.

Any man who isn't drunk knows that alcohol did our country infinitely more harm in the preprohibition days than even the synthetic, poisoned or bootlegged stuff does now.

In the medical profession there is evident today a laxity of ethics, a waning of that professional integrity which the medical fathers fostered, a lowering of dignity in the very title of doctor. Doubtless this makes it easier for the physician so inclined to sell his soul. Formerly the doctor prescribed or dispensed alcoholic liquor because he thought it necessary. Now he prescribes or dispenses it mainly for profit.

New York 'Bootleg King'

"GAME DOESN'T PAY," SAYS "BOOTLEG MILLIONAIRE"

Arrives at U. S. Prison

All of his resources of delay exhausted after a long struggle to avoid a prison term, William V. Dwyer, alleged "bootleg king" of New York, and his "pay-off man," Edward C. Cohron, entered the Atlanta federal penitentiary Wednesday to begin sentences of two years each on charges of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act.

Dwyer, known as the most successful bootlegger in the history of prohibition and reputed to be several times a millionaire as the result of his operations in control of a $40,000,000 liquor smuggling syndicate, is not only broke, but owes more than $150,000, he admitted in a recent interview in New York.

Both Dwyer and Cohron were convicted a year ago while seven alleged associates were acquitted. Attorneys for the pair fought the conviction through to the United States supreme court, and losing, returned to the district court to urge the judge to place the defendants on probation. When this was refused, they asked that Dwyer be given a few days to settle his affairs.

Arrive in Good Humor.

As no "prison car" was scheduled to start from New York to Atlanta within the near future, it was up to the prisoners to be locked up in the Tombs or to pay their own transportation and that of their guards to Atlanta. They elected the latter course, and arrived in good spirits on Wednesday morning, in the custody of Acting United States Marshal Raymond L. Mulligan.

Warden John W. Snook said Wednesday that duties will be assigned to Dwyer and Cohron within two or three days. Dwyer became No. 25,154 and Cohron No. 25,155, maintaining numerically the same close relationship in the penitentiary that they did in business.

Dwyer is subject to a fine of $10,000 in addition to his two-year sentence, while Cohron has a fine of $5,000 in addition to his prison term.

Dwyer's alleged whisky and gin ring had headquarters in England, France and Canada, as well as New York, according to information from New York. Dwyer is quoted as voicing the opinion that bootlegging does not pay in the long run and expressing regret that he had "ever seen a case of whisky." He advised a newspaperman never to have anything to do with the liquor business.

"People think I'm a millionaire, and say 'There goes Bill Dwyer, the millionaire booze king,' when I pass. But the fact is, I'm worse than broke. I owe more than $150,000 today and I don't see how I can pay it as long as I've got to go to prison.

"I never was a millionaire. I was just the figurehead for a bunch of rich fellows who wanted to invest some money and who picked me out because they knew Bill Dwyer never went back on his word. It may be that I have handled millions, but the money wasn't mine, and never a dollar has stuck to my fingers that didn't belong to me.

"No, my advice is to stay on the right side of the law. I've spent years in daily fear of my life, always expecting arrest, forever dealing with crooks and double-crossers, and now look at me. I'm in debt, my wife is heartbroken to see me sent to prison, and my five kids in school out at Bar Harbor, L. I., are pointed out as the children of 'Dwyer, the bootlegger.'"

BALCHEN, BYRD NAVIGATOR, MAKES SURPRISE SPEECH

New York, July 20.—(AP)—Bernt Balchen, silent member of Commander Byrd's trans-Atlantic aviation crew, gave New Yorkers a surprise today. He made a speech.

His face suffused by blushes, the blonde Norwegian faced 2,000 members and guests of the Merchants' association at a luncheon the association gave in honor of the fire fliers and in an English vocabulary acquired in one year—he said his say and sat down, still blushing, as a thunderous applause informed him of another conquest of the air. The speeches were broadcast.

Balchen's speech was brief and mainly devoted to eulogy of Commander Byrd and his shipmates, George Noville and Bert Acosta.

At the very end Balchen said: "The happiest day of my life was that one when Commander Byrd told me I could fly to France on the America with him. I cannot tell you how much I am pleased to have been the representative of my new country—America."

PEACH SEASON ENDS IN HOUSTON COUNTY

Perry, Ga., July 20.—(Special.)—The peach shipping season in Houston county closed today. All packing houses except those of one firm closed last Friday. There were 327 cars shipped from Perry this season against 478 last season. Prices have been very unsatisfactory this season.

Melons are beginning to move. The crop is very poor here, both in size and quantity.

SANDINO REPORTED SEEN WITH REBELS

Sandino as to the effectiveness of bombing operations, it was learned today.

The rebels, who at first rather enjoyed the sight of the American airplanes that came to the rescue of a small marine force holding off an attack by General Sandino at Ocotal, scattered in all directions in terror when real bombs began to drop among them.

The first two bombs dropped by the American planes did comparatively little damage, but the third, accompanied by machine gun fire, sent the rebel force in flight. One bomb was stated to have killed 30 men, while the total casualties from the bombing operations were set at 200.

Air patrols which returned from Ocotal last night report the concentration of rebel forces southeast of Ocotal, but it is not believed that General Sandino is with these men.

Major Ross E. Rowell, who led the bombing planes to the Ocotal fight on Saturday, today sent by air several machine guns, ammunition and a small field piece to the marine garrison at Ocotal. The garrison will be reinforced sometime today or tomorrow, as a force under Major Floyd is nearing the town with reinforcements.

Another rebel attack is not expected, but airplane patrols are scouring the district.

LATIMER SAYS U. S. TROOPS ARE WANTED.

Washington, July 20.—(United News.)—"Not a single responsible Nicaraguan wants the United States to withdraw from that country or forego supervision of the 1928 elections," Admiral Julian L. Latimer, former chief of the naval forces in Nicaragua, said today after reporting to Secretary Wilbur.

In addition, the admiral declared, General Sandino, who led the attack on the American marines at Ocotal, has "no more political importance in Nicaragua than Jesse James had in the United States."

"Sandino will either flee to Honduras or give up his arms," Latimer predicted. "I don't think he will ever be heard of again.

"His activities had no bearing on the general Nicaraguan situation."

According to Latimer, Sandino lived in Mexico for 22 years and served as a lieutenant under Pancho Villa. Later, it was reported, when Sandino went to Nicaragua he boasted he would be the "Pancho Villa" of that country.

Discussing the establishment of peace in Nicaragua under the Stimson plan, the admiral said he believes there "was never such an accomplishment with so little loss of life."

"Conditions in Nicaragua today are better than when the revolution started," he added. "A Nicaraguan banker told me business had improved 200 per cent since the Stimson agreement became effective."

GEORGIA GAS TAX NETS RECORD SUM

Georgia's gasoline tax netted the state during the second quarter of this year $1,638,999, a record amount, W. H. Harrison, chief clerk in the comptroller general's office, announced Wednesday.

The tax collection for the first quarter was $1,427,603.95, Harrison said.

The 3 1-2-cent tax per gallon is distributed between the highway department and the counties for road construction, the latter receiving 1 cent per gallon tax.

The tax was collected from 65 petroleum companies in the state, the largest payment, amounting to $495,215.12, being made by the Standard Oil company, Mr. Harrison said. All but three small companies, he said, have made their quarterly settlement with the state, the amount remaining unpaid not exceeding $11,000.

NINETEEN NEW LAWS SIGNED BY GOVERNOR

Nineteen bills passed by the general assembly of Georgia since its convening here in June have been signed by Governor L. G. Hardman.

An act incorporating the city of Swainsboro.

An act changing the time of holding superior court in Dougherty county.

An act increasing the salaries of clerks and sheriffs of the municipal court of Bibb county.

An act repealing an act providing that the solicitor of the city court of Washington be made ex-officio county attorney.

An act relating to jury verdicts in city courts.

An act amending the charter of the city of Greenville.

An act incorporating Mountain Park in Milton county.

An act fixing salaries of court bailiffs in superior and city courts of counties having population of over 200,000 inhabitants.

An act amending the charter of the city of Ackworth.

An act fixing salaries of judges of city courts in cities of 175,000 population or more.

A constitutional amendment to be submitted to the voters of Georgia for ratification at the general election next fall that would authorize the governor to borrow $3,500,000 to pay the public school teachers of the state.

An act providing that the judge of the city court of Atlanta be made competent to preside over criminal court of Atlanta when needed.

SPOTLIGHTING THE SOLONS

Do Not Discount the Legislature Until Its Judgment Day Comes.

This looker-on has not joined the pessimists who are despairing of any substantial and progressive legislation by this general assembly. If it does not enact such legislation it will not be for lack of men in it who have the knowledge and ability to devise it. I still hold that this present body is superior in quality to many that have preceded it in the past twenty years. Naturally it has in it a lot of raw material, men new to the job, and who are slowly learning the ropes and getting some real knowledge of state affairs.

Give them time. Rome wasn't built in a day and Georgia cannot be jacked out of the mud, regeared and re-oiled for speedier progress in the first four of a ten weeks' session.

Some of the good old brethren in the bunch do not know why they are there and never will know unless some kind angel in another world explains the mystery to them; but there are not enough of them to order a roll call. Then there are some who only know how to pull on the reverse levers, but fortunately they can be easily run over by the progresisves any day.

My belief is that this legislature will do good forward-moving work for Georgia before it adjourns finally. In my sporting days I more than once bet on a horse that ran last all the way to the home-stretch and then beat the field to the winning post by a couple of length.

The vehement brand of oratory is especially prevalent in the house of representatives. Several of the leading speakers, who butt into almost every discussion, do nowlings that are simply terrific. At times a person sitting a dozen feet away can scarcely pick out of the roaring noise what the speaker is saying. Those orators have not studied and learned the art of public speaking. They do not know that the tones in the middle register of the human voice carry farther and plainer than those in the upper or lower gamuts. The bur-r-r of a coal-burning locomotives can be heard farther than the keenest notes of its whistle. Effective speaking is not in shrillness and sweat, but in enunciation and emphasis.

The special message of Governor Hardman recommending progressive legislation in the interest of better education and better health for the people was in line with his policy pledges during the gubernatorial campaign.

There can be no doubt that he expresses popular feeling with respect to those vital interests. Submit either of those issues to the people as a separate proposition and they would vote overwhelming indorsement of them. There is growing shame all over Georgia when our educational and public welfare systems are contrasted with those of other less wealthy and much younger commonwealths. Surely, the governor's recommendations should be given the most favorable consideration.

Much approval is heard in the chambers of the several propositions to submit an amendment of the constitution affording tax relief to the farmers of the state. The farmers, it should not be forgotten, furnish most of the materials on which the arts, sciences and manufacturing industries operate. When the state overburdens and cripples the production of the farms it impoverishes and hamstrings a great series of its other industries. There is not a factor, merchant, transportation or power corporation, professional or workingman in Georgia who would not get back actual cash benefits from voting to exempt the farmers of the state from every tax except one on his annual net income.

The bill by Representative Stanford, of Lowndes, to supply free text books in the common schools of the state is in line with progressive public educational methods in other states of the nation. The state owes free education to its youth and that means free books and other accessories also.

While I was military supervisor of public instruction during our American military occupation of Cuba we bought the largest single bill of school supplies ever purchased in the history of the world. It was $550,000 for a third as many people as we have in Georgia. The result, during the twenty-eight years since, is that young Cuba is one of the best educated peoples on the western hemisphere. Let us try the same medicine with our own breed.

While speaking of educational needs in Georgia let us not forget that our colored fellow citizens who are anxious that their children shall be educated to intelligence, good character and valuable industries need competent teachers. It is downright cruel to shut their children in with half-baked and incompetent teachers.

It has been found by the results from our state industrial institute at Savannah, from Tuskegee and from Hampton, that properly instructed and trained colored men and women become valuable assets to the state. You will be hard put to find a graduated negro from any one of them in any prison of the nation. They deserve to have their training schools for teachers most liberally supported.

TO PLAN CAMPAIGN AT MEETING TODAY

Its movement spurred by support from many important Atlanta business men, the management committee of the Georgia association's campaign for $100,000 for national advertising and land settlement work will meet at noon today to advance plans for the active effort in the city.

The committee, known as the committee on committees, will meet with H. M. Atkinson, general chairman, and President H. G. Hastings to make major decisions affecting the campaign. Its organization meeting was held last week when W. W. Orr was named chairman of the Atlanta phase of the campaign.

"Although I realize it is quite difficult to raise money in Georgia right now," Leopold J. Hass wrote the association, "I think $100,000 for the purpose illustrated is not more than a 'drop in the bucket.'"

Mr. Haas advocated the raising of a million dollars throughout the state, two-thirds of which should be used for national advertising and one-third as a revolving fund for purchasing agricultural machinery and lands to be resold or leased to farmers who can be brought from states less favored as to climate and other natural advantages.

Welcomes Opportunity.

Announcing the purpose of the Southern Mortgage company to subscribe to the fund, as it had subscribed to the forward Atlanta fund, J. T. Holleman, president of the company, declared:

"I want you to know that we stand ready to cooperate with you in every possible way. We already are subscribers for a modest amount to the Atlanta advertising fund, and welcome the opportunity of subscribing to a fund for advertising the resources of the state, for bringing in new settlers and, especially, for putting back on the farms the thousands who have left them in recent years.

"We think you have chosen the right time to set your plans on. There is a distinct improvement in agricultural conditions. Georgia is ready for someone to take hold and go forward. Under your leadership it will be easy to raise the necessary funds."

Praised by Gibson.

Bayne Gibson, president of the Gibson Mortgage company, declared in a letter to Frank H. Neely, general manager of Rich's:

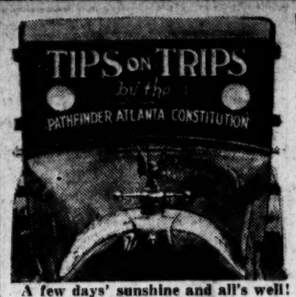

"I have just received the prospectus of the Georgia association. I am glad that you and other strong-minded and able men of our city are interesting themselves in this most vital work.

"The welfare of Georgia depends to a large degree on the prosperity of our agricultural population in Georgia and I don't believe Atlanta is going to make any real progress until our farming people get in better condition.

"More power to you and the men associated with you in this most necessary and unselfish endeavor."

"I trust that all city councils in the state will cooperate with you in securing the necessary funds for carrying on this splendid work and that the efforts of the Georgia association will be highly gratifying."

A few days' sunshine and all's well! With no further rains today you may hop off in any direction in which a Constitution motorlog leads and be almost certain to have a most pleasant trip.

SAVANNAH. Why not a trip to Georgia's beaches. It's a comfortable day's drive to Savannah via Macon Dublin, Metter and Statesboro. This and other routes are logged in The Constitution's new "Beach" motorlog, copies of which may be had at The Constitution's Travel Bureau for 25 cents each. Or if you find it more convenient, get one at one of the many cooperating dealers. The motorlog folder will give you the distances over the several routes, the type of road, the detail routings that will make the trip a pleasure.

ARTILLERY OFFICER BACK AFTER DUTY AT FLORIDA PORT

Major Richard Donovan, who has been with the citizens' military and reserve officers' training corps students at Fort Barrancas, Fla., has returned for duty with the Fourth Coast artillery district at Fourth Corps area headquarters, Fort McPherson.

Major Donovan reports that nearly 1,000 youths are in training for a month at the fort near Pensacola. The training of these boys included the firing of all the large coast defense guns and the anti-aircraft artillery.

Colonel Duncan K. Major, Jr., chief of staff of the fourth corps area, is inspecting national guard units in training at Camp Johnson, La.; St. Simons island and Camp Jackson, S. C. He returns to Fort McPherson the end of the present week.

NEW ELKS' HOME FORMAL OPENING SET FOR SUNDAY

Formal opening of the new home of Atlanta Elks lodge, No. 78, will be marked with dedicatory exercises starting at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon under direction of Walter R. Andrews, past exalted ruler, and grand lodge officers. The ceremonies will be on the new lodge grounds at 631 Peachtree street.

Completion of the lodge home marks one of the most progressive steps taken in the history of the local Elk organization, J. T. Fitten, present head of the lodge, said in his announcement Wednesday. Ample parking space for member's cars has been provided and no detail of comfort has been overlooked in the new clubhouse, he stated.

"Old Kitchen Stove" Fast Disappearing From Atlanta Homes

The gas range is fast replacing the "old kitchen stove" in Atlanta, according to officials of the Georgia Power company who late Wednesday announced the purchase of three more carloads of Roper gas ranges to fill the orders placed with them during the progress of the company's latest sale.

The sale which opened ten days ago, and which is to close Saturday, offered the public a credit of $11 for any old stove turned in on the purchase of one of the new Roper ranges. The campaign which was widely advertised, met with heavy response, according to officials, and as a result the company warehouse is rapidly approaching the ideal of an average junk yard.

In its advertising the power company agreed to accept any kind of stove, coal, oil, wood or gas. Peculiar as it may seem, stated one of the power company officials, very few old gas or oil stoves were offered as tradeins, but scores of ancient wood and coal stoves—the hottest kind of cookers—found their way into the warehouse.

While the offer of $11 on any old stove was liberal bait for a sale, officials are confident the extremely low terms offered of $1 down and 12 months in which to pay the balance had much to do with the success of the campaign.

NAT ULLMAN HEADS GEORGIA JEWELERS

Nat Ullman, of Atlanta, was elected president of the Georgia Retail Jewelers' association for the coming year at the eighth annual convention of that body held at the Cecil hotel Wednesday. Other officers elected were: R. C. Schneider, Atlanta, vice president, and E. A. Morgan, Atlanta, secretary and treasurer.

Instructive and interesting addresses by E. B. Freeman, of this city, and William G. Frazier, of Durham, featured the day's program. About 100 attended the meeting, which was presided over by President H. S. Banta, of Newnan. A delicious chicken dinner given at Cascade Terrace to the members and their wives and later a theater party at the Capitol theater were the social features that brought the convention to a conclusion.

Organization, national publicity, ethics of the jeweler and research were some of the topics touched upon in the address delivered by Mr. Frazier.

PERFECT WEATHER AHEAD FOR CITY, SAYS FORECASTER

Indications that the true spirit of penitence will be shown by authorities responsible for the deluge of early July were contained in the Wednesday weather forecast, which scheduled several days of fair and balmy weather for Atlanta and vicinity.

C. F. von Herrmann, meteorologist of the government, was unable to see any signs of dampness ahead. Encouraged by this and the sample of ideal Georgia weather witnessed Wednesday, the weatherman has predicted a spell of heavenly climatic settings for Atlanta and vicinity.

The mercury got off with a handicap of 67 degrees Wednesday morning and by noon had reached a maximum of 89 degrees, gentle breezes preventing a greater expansion of the fluid. Today's temperature range is scheduled to fall within the same limits. With continual presence of the sun during the next few days, slightly warmer weather is expected, Mr. von Herrmann said.

DR. HUFF AND WIFE TO BE RECONCILED, ATTORNEY STATES

That Dr. L. N. Huff and his estranged wife, Mrs. Mildred Shephard Huff, are to become reconciled, was announced Wednesday by Attorney James L. Key, representing Dr. Huff. According to the attorney the suit for alimony and the entire affair will be settled by the reconciliation.

This announcement came with the decision of Judge Virlyn B. Moore in Fulton superior court, that the ownership of three automobiles, which have figured in the suit, be vested in Dr. Huff with the provision that the particular car wanted by Mrs. Huff should not be sold by Dr. Huff except in case of a business emergency.

Dr. Huff had previously asked the court for permission to sell the cars. This permission had been granted in the case of two of them, but the court had upheld Mrs. Huff's demand for possession of one of them.

MARIETTA PUBLISHERS GET MARKET BULLETIN

Contract for printing the State Market Bulletin, weekly publication of the state bureau of markets, was awarded Wednesday to the Marietta Publishing company for $9,620. Josephus Camp, state superintendent of printing, announced Wednesday. The contract, he said, covers the cost of publishing an eight-page bulletin for a year.

The highest bid submitted, Mr. Camp said, was $16,380, or $6,760 in excess of the lowest bid, submitted by the Marietta Publishing company.

Milton C. Work's Pointer On How To Play Bridge

Milton C. Work, the international bridge authority, will answer your auction bridge questions. A stamped self-addressed envelope must accompany each request for replies.

The pointer for today is:
With unusual side strength, long weak suits may be bid initially.

My answer slip reads:

No. 9. South (Dealer) should bid one Diamond.

No. 10. South one Club; West should double.

No. 11. South pass, West one No Trump; North should pass.

No. 12. South pass, West two Clubs. North pass; East should bdi two No Trumps.

My reasons in support of these declarations are:

No. 9. The worthless singleton makes the No Trump inadvisable. The hand is too strong to pass. A short suit should never be bid initially. One Diamond is therefore the sound bid.

No. 10. An advantageous opportunity to double. The hand is prepared for any answer East may make.

No. 11. A safe pass as game probably can be saved; and (South having passed) little hope for success at any bid North could make, as West must have strong Diamonds and Clubs.

No. 12. West's initial two-bid conventionally shows at least six Clubs headed by Ace-King-Queen. Game at No Trump is assured.

You Can't Be Good Looking If Skinny

New YEAST and IRON Will Add Pounds of Weight to Your Bony Figure in 3 Weeks — or Pay Nothing

You need not be thin, nervous or tired another day. Just get the amazing benefits of Ironized Yeast. See that flat chest, skinny shoulders and body fill out with good, solid flesh.

Ironized Yeast is two tonics in one—weight-building Yeast and strengthening Iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt, and which makes malt so beneficial. It is specially cultured yeast, concentrated to give the utmost in flesh producing value.

This Yeast is treated with pure, vegetable iron, the same as spinach, lettuce and celery. In this form Iron is easily assimilated by the body, making rich, red blood and toning up nerves and muscles.

Only when Yeast is Ironized in this way is it more effective—for Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building values of Yeast. By this formula Ironized Yeast gives you results in half the time required by yeast or iron taken separately.

DECATUR BUICK CO. SALE IS ANNOUNCED

Foster C. Law, Atlanta men's furnishings merchant, has purchased the Buick Motor company at Decatur from Boyce T. Dorris, and will devote his entire time to managing the automobile business after selling out his clothing establishment at 17 Decatur street, it was announced Wednesday.

The lease of three buildings which house the motor company has been transferred to Mr. Law, and the present staff of 28 employees will be retained intact, Mr. Dorris said. Mr. Dorris has operated the Buick agency at Decatur for the past seven years.

Beginning Thursday Mr. Law will conduct a sale of his furnishings tore with a view to closing out the business, which has occupied space in the Kimball house block for the past 28 years. The sale, which starts Thursday, will be the first ever held by the clothing firm, and will mark the definite retirement of Mr. Law from Atlanta retail affairs, it was said.

ENTHUSIASM FEATURES INSURANCE CLUB MEET

The 20th annual convention of the Anniversary club of the Southern States Life Insurance company, which is being held at the Biltmore hotel, is the largest and most enthusiastic meeting that has been held since the organization of the club 20 years ago, according to statements made by officials of the company yesterday.

The program for today includes an address by Judge Shephard Bryan, who will speak on "Insurable Interest and Other Legal Points." Another feature of the day's program will be an address by Mrs. John R. Carns, who will speak on "The Greater Reward." Mrs. Carns is the only lady member of the Anniversary club and has demonstrated that the selling of life insurance is not strictly a man's vocation.

The entire business of the day will be crowded into the morning session. In the afternoon the delegates will be the guests of the company at the Atlanta-Chattanooga baseball game and at a dinner at Peachtree Gardens in the evening.

The convention will continue in session through Friday and men of distinctive achievement will be featured on each day's program.

U. D. C. TO PICNIC VETERANS FRIDAY AT GRANT PARK

The anniversary of the Battle of Atlanta will be observed Friday morning by Fulton chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy with a special program at 10 o'clock at Grant park. Confederate veterans and a number of other guests will attend.

A picnic lunch will be served at 12:30 o'clock in the afternoon on the concrete pavilion, which has been turned over to the U. D. C. for the day. Old time fiddlers and the Jenkins family orchestra will furnish music, while a number of prominent citizens will make addresses during the exercises.

All Confederate veterans in the county, whether members of camps or not, are invited to be guests at the exercises and luncheon. Cars will be furnished by U. D. C. members to transport the Soldiers' Home inmates to and from the park.

Members of the chapter who are in charge of the picnic details are requested by Mrs. C. L. Anderson, president, to be at the picnic grounds at 9 o'clock Friday morning.

Crackers Home for Three Games With Chattanooga

Lose Final Baron Tilt By 8-5 Score

Once More Locals Grab Early Lead But Unable To Hold It.

BY BEN COTHRAN.

Atlanta's Crackers came clattering in off the road last night and this afternoon open up a three-game series with the Lookouts from Chattanooga.

The Crax will be here just long enough to get a change of socks and then it's back to the Pullmans and foreign fields for ten more days. After the Chattanooga series it's Nashville, Little Rock and Memphis, on their diamonds, in the order named.

It is fervently hoped that Mr. Spiller's family doesn't have the terrible time on the forthcoming trip that it did on the one just finished.

The local professional pastimers came as near breaking even while out on the road as the old lady who stood under the awning with her umbrella up did getting wet.

A check-up on the trip reveals that out of 10 games played they won exactly three and lost seven. Which gives a percentage of .300. That, as the young man who slept overnight in the icehouse said, "ain't so hot." In fact, it's plumb awful.

A total of 86 hits were made in the 10 games played. Which averages close around, or to be exact, 8.6 per game. Said 86 hits accounted for 49 runs. That's not particularly bad hitting or run-getting. But you can't win ball games without good pitching.

The Crackers hit for a total of 107 bases on this trip. That included 67 singles, 12 doubles, six triples and one home run. The latter by Uncle Bert.

Miscues were not numerous, 12 being the total.

All of which goes to prove that the Crax are hitting at a rather lively pace and fielding tolerably well.

However, when they get off to a lead they are unable to hold it, as was demonstrated on numerous occasions while the boys were pounding the rails.

But as was said before, you can't win ball games without good pitching.

Crackers Lose To Barons, 8-5.

Birmingham, Ala., July 20.—(Special.)—What they ought to have done in the first inning Wednesday afternoon in the matter of running old Pug Cavet off the rubber, the Barons kept putting off until it began to appear as if the lank and lean left-hander was going to win a ball game for the Crackers. But after stalling around in very unbusiness-like fashion for six innings, Johnny Dobbs fellows, led by Yam Yaryan, hopped astride Pug's back in the seventh inning and started the fuss that won the game, 8 to 5.

Bill Morrell pitched for the Barons and registered his thirteenth victory. Excellent control in the pinches was a boon to his efforts. Atlanta picked Bill's delivery for three of their four runs in a third-inning flurry that was featured by two breaks in favor of the visitors. After Brock had gone out, Schepner to Jourdan, the first break developed when Cavet struck out but went safe at first because the third and missed strike was nothing other than a wild pitch that slipped past Yaryan. Zoeller and Cueto then singled in succession to fill the bases, the second break coming on Cueto's hit. The Cuban hit the ball to the right of first and Jourdan raced over and all but caught the ball as a line drive. As it was, he scooped it up on a short hop and threw to second for a double play. Gillis was unable to come in from short to the bag in time to take the throw, however, and all hands went safe.

Bases Full.

With the bases full Rhiel lifted a long fly to Barnes, enabling Cavet to score. Mule Haas followed with a double to left field that sent two more tallies home.

The Barons came through with a single counter in the third. In that inning, as in the first, a glorious opportunity to drive Cavet to the showers was lost, but Barnes hit a weak roller in front of the plate that caused the side to go out with the bases full. Schepner opened the third with a single and later scored when Yaryan doubled to right field. The Yam hit into a double play with the bases full in the first inning.

Cavet continued his habit of coming out of holes in the fourth. Gillis doubled and Morrell drew a base on balls, putting a pair on with none out. But Jourdan in attempting to sacrifice bunted to Cavet who threw to third, forcing Gillis. Gilbert in turn whipped the ball to first and completed a double play on Jourdan. Schepner flied to right, still further delaying Cavet's departure.

In the fifth old Pug put the first two men on base by the pass route, Washburn and Bigelow. Pug stopped too soon, however, for Yaryan passed could have done nothing other than fill the bases. But Yaryan, batting, tripled to deep center, and the score was tied. Strangely enough, the Yam remained on third despite another single and a wild throw to first. Morrell retired the side by rolling to Rhiel.

Pug Retires.

Disposition of Cavet was quickly effected in the seventh, after a quiet sixth. Ganzel tripled down the groove after Yam had singled. Cavet was called to the showers by Bert Niehoff and Pete Fowler went to the mound. Barnes greeted the newcomer with a scorching drive past second that scored Ganzel. Barnes then came home on Gillis' triple to right and Gillis later scored on a wild pitch. After which, with four runs added to their total, the Barons graciously consented to being retired in order.

Yaryan was responsible for one more run in the eighth, making his grand total for the day four. Washburn singled to start the stanza, went down on Bigelow's sacrifice and took third on a wild pitch. He then scored on Yam's fly to center field.

Atlanta counted her fourth run in the sixth after Kohlbecker had fanned, Gilbert walked and later scored on Schwab's double to center. Schwab was out at third, however, in attempting to make it a triple.

Maybe It Won't Be Covered!!!

Provided the threats of Jack Kearns are the bunk—as they are generally supposed to be—tonight will find the usual radio bugs hanging around the loud speaker and the usual quota of office offenders hanging around the wires awaiting a decision in the "battle of the age" between Jack Dempsey, the old man with the bad legs and the wounded arm, etc., and Jack Sharkey, the young man with all the youth and what else? You guess what else.

It is not necessary to repeat the prediction of this column as to the winner for the very simple reason that not later than last Sunday morning we came out in favor of Mr. William Harrison Dempsey, giving reasons as we saw them for such a selection.

But we would like to make a suggestion to the 1,864,395 fight fans who will call this office tonight to get the returns of the fight.

The battle is scheduled to begin at 10 o'clock New York time, which is 8 o'clock Atlanta time, and for that very sufficient reasons we will be unable to tell the outcome at 7:30 Atlanta time. Any time after 8:50 Atlanta time we will be able to give an answer provided the bout comes off as scheduled and provided a national disaster does not place all the wires in a heap between here and Gotham.

For those who can muster sufficient self-control to await the news of the fight which will appear in The Constitution shortly after the fight is over, there will be as complete and interesting a collection of accounts as could possibly be asked. For the straight story and detail of the fight we will have the unparalleled Associated Press description and the running story of the fight by Frank Getty of the United News.

For the technical side we will have the ringside story by Jimmy Deforest, of the North American Newspaper Alliance, former trainer of Jack Dempsey and one of the greatest authorities in the United States on boxing and conditioning of boxers.

The color will be furnished by Westbrook Pegler of the Chicago Tribune service. Extolling the virtues of Westbrook Pegler as a writer of colorful stories is useless. He stands head and shoulders above the other feature sports writers of the nation in the realm of humor and individual phraseology. You may depend upon Pegler to find some angle of the fight which the others have missed and turn that angle into a scintillating tale.

National Lead Swaps Again, Pirates Now

Philadelphia, July 20.—The Pittsburgh Pirates slipped back into first place today by splitting even in a double-header with the Philadelphia Nationals, winning the second game, 6 to 5, after losing the opener, 4 to 3. Clarence Mitchell outpitched Joe Dawson in a hurling duel in the opener, but the Pirates came back in the final game by slamming the first three hurlers of the five that faced them for six runs. Lloyd Waner made five successive hits in the second game and in the ninth inning Cy Williams pounded his twentieth home run of the season.

ROBINS DIVIDE WITH CARDS.

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 20.—Brooklyn split a twin program with St. Louis today, dropping the second contest by 3 to 1 in 11 innings after nosing through to a 2 to 1 victory in the opener. Petty held the Cardinals to five hits in the first game which was decided in the fourth when Hank Deberry tripled with two on base. In the closing session, Toporcer drew a pass in the 11th and moved around the sacks on singles by Frisch and Blades for the winning run. Frisch and Blades then worked a double steal for an additional tally.

BRAVES, REDS SPLIT EVEN.

Boston, July 20.—The Boston Braves and Cincinnati Reds divided a double-header here today, the Redlegs taking the opener, 4 to 2, and the Braves the final, 2 to 1. The second game was decided in the eighth inning when with the score knotted at 1-all singles by Genewich, Moore and Farrell produced the winning run. Genewich held the visitors to four scattered singles and was given sensational support.

Game Bill Discussed By Walton League

Governor Hardman, Slated to Address Members, Unable To Appear and Meeting Is Turned Into Open Forum.

BY DICK HAWKINS.

The Atlanta chapter of the Izaak Walton League of America is making its mark. The scoffers who said that the league was just another one of those "organization epidemics" are being bearded by the proof of accomplishment.

The spirit of the league and its very evident enterprise was evidenced Wednesday night when 40 members met in the assembly room of the Robert Fulton hotel to discuss the pending bill to be presented to the legislature.

Governor Hardman was scheduled to speak to the meeting but the press of legislative business made it impossible for him to be present and the members turned the meeting into an open forum for discussion of the game law bill.

Conservation.

That gesture was evidence in itself that the organization takes itself seriously and is acting on a constructive policy. It is made up of sportsmen who are endeavoring to direct their efforts toward conservation in Georgia.

The meeting opened with a report from the committee of the league which met with Peter S. Twitty, state game and fish commissioner, and members of the legislature Thursday in an informal discussion of the proposed game and fish bill. That report was evidence that the league is actually doing something toward conservation. Among other things the committee, through Chairman Parker, brought an invitation from the legislators to the members of the league to meet with them on Friday the 29th in an open forum for discussion of the bill at the capitol.

Outdoor Pictures.

Two reels of outdoor pictures shown through the courtesy of the South Bend Bait company introduced the members to the thrill of fishing for "muskies" and small-mouth black bass in the lakes of the dominion, and to say that the pictures were interesting would not be doing them justice.

A full explanation of the proposed fish and game bill was given by Mr. Twitty and in that connection he told of a proposed commission he has advocated for the investigation of the pollution problem. This committee under his plan will study the conditions in the state and form a bill for action at the next legislature. The league unanimously passed a resolution favoring such a move.

HARDMATCHES ARE PLAYED AT LONGWOOD

Brookline, Mass., July 20.—(AP)—Two five-set matches of the hardest kind of tennis eliminated one seeded player and nearly cost Clifford B. Marsh, former Williams college star who conquered George M. Lott, Jr., Chicago, yesterday, his place in the 35th annual Longwood Bowl tournament at the Longwood Cricket club here today.

Both were third-round matches and both were in doubt to the end. John Van Ryn, East Orange, N. J., seeded seventh, who with Kenneth Appel, his fellow townsman, holds the national doubles title, went down before the drives of Cranston Holman, San Francisco, 4-6, 3-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4. Both players swapped long drives to the back court throughout the match.

The other five-set contest developed between Marsh and C. A. Smith, Charlottesville, Va., holder of the Massachusetts junior singles title. Marsh played the same tennis he did against Lott, who defeated William Tilden II at Ormond Beach, Fla., last winter, but young Smith took the first and third sets from him. Both divided their time between the net and back court, but by sheer determination Marsh took the match, 5-7, 7-5, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2.

John Doeg, Santa Monica, Cal., national junior doubles champion, encountered a little trouble with Norval Craig, Los Angeles, but finally won, 6-4, 6-4, 5-7, 6-4. The other seeded players climbed to positions in the fifth round with little interference.

The doubles went through the second round and part way into the third without "casualties" among the favorites.

80,000 People Expected To Attend Fight

Leo Flynn Hopes Sharkey Is as Bad as He Was in Some Mills.

The Low Down

Time: 10 o'clock eastern daylight time—8 o'clock Atlanta time.

Place: Yankee Stadium.

Expected gate: $1,000,000.

Sharkey is the ruling favorite among the "experts" and in the betting.

Last odds reported favored Sharkey 6 to 5.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

New York, July 20. — Jack Dempsey, such as he is after one thorough thrashing, and with his confidence and his knees less steady than they used to be, will return to his trade Thursday evening in a fight with a much younger and utterly disrespectful prize fighter by the name of Josef Paul Cuckoschay, known as Jack Sharkey. It is pretty generally agreed that the current Jack Dempsey is only a fraction of the Jack Dempsey of old, meaning four or five years ago, but his price is well maintained, for Mr. Tex Rickard says he expects to pay him more than $300,000 for his bout.

I think Leo P. Flynn, Dempsey manager for the time being and no hand to go a-Maying in the month of January, is about the best authority there is on the chances of Jack Dempsey in this fight with a young, slippery, cocky fellow of 25, and Mr. Flynn only says his figher is as good as he ever will be without saying he is as good as he ever was. Mr. Flynn has carried many a prizefighter back to the corner, slid the ice along the inert gladiator's upper vertebra and finally told him how it happened, so he knows that prizefighters often get licked, even his own. He is not a romantic optimist and if you should lead him into a dairy lunch for an issue of waffles he is not the sort of man to gaze dreamily at the bathroom motif of the tiled walls and nickeled fittings and exclaim, "Ah, here we are at the Plaza!"

Mr. Flynn's principal hope is that Jack Sharkey is as bad as Jack Sharkey has seemed in several of his fights, including one with Mickey McTigue only a couple of months ago in which Old Iron Mike pestered and pasted Sharkey for ten rounds and would have won the decision in 15 but for an otherwise harmless hook which dislodged a tooth, cut an artery and set Mike bleeding so badly that the referee stopped the bout.

Mr. Flynn believes that if Sharkey is that bad his fellow has a chance to win. But even so, Dempsey had better do it suddenly, especially if it be a hot, close night under the ring lights because the legs give way first in the old fighters and when you see a man's seconds go to his legs between rounds you know his bloody nose and gashed eyebrows are the least of his troubles.

Dempsey Sensible Guy.

I don't believe Dempsey is any more certain than Mr. Flynn, because he always has been a pretty sensible fellow and even when he was the champion he would admit that one punch on the chin or one wild decision by an emotional referee could make an ex-champion out of him.

And in the fight with Gene Tunney no punch damaged him as much as Tunney's action in calmly placing his gloves on Dempsey's forearms in the first clinch and calmly bending them back. Up to that minute Dempsey never had fought anyone who could handle him, but now he knows it can be done, perhaps even by Jack Sharkey.

There is always much liberal conversation about odds and betting when Dempsey is about to fight and there is much of it now on Broadway. The standard price this evening in the cigar stores and apartments and brokerage offices where the commissioners or bookmakers transact business, was 7 to 5 on Sharkey to win, but there were no very flagrant violations of the statutes. A young man who endeavored to flout the law, strictly in the interests of journalistic enterprise, brandished a $5 bill in a Broadway cigar store for more than an hour this afternoon and came away still innocent of wrongdoing, although he finally offered to wager his $5 on Dempsey at the bargain price of 6 to 5.

Mr. Rickard seems well pleased with the progress of the vulgar but necessary business details of the celebration and he states that if all the seats are sold, due allowance being made for those which are necessarily given away, he will handle about $1,250,000. This is approximately what he collected for the Dempsey-Carpentier production but owing to a regrettable miscalculation of the customers power or willingness to pay, Mr. Jack Kearns, then the manager of Dempsey, refused to accept a 50 per cent share of the gross receipts and insisted on a guarantee of $300,000. Ever since then Mr. Kearns and Mr. Dempsey's tailors have made their trousers with reinforced soles so that Mr. Kearns and Mr. Dempsey, when reminded of that affair, may kick themselves without undue wear and tear on their garments.

Mr. Tuttle Investigates.

The United States attorney, Mr. Tuttle, who has been investigating rumors of greed and discrimination in the sale of tickets for New York's amusements, this afternoon discovered three instances of what appeared to him to be profiteering in tickets for the fight and three dealers were arrested. But worse than that, Mr. Tuttle got Mr. Joe Boynton, Mr. Rickard's box office superintendent, on the stand and wrung from him the shocking admission that even at the garden the practice of accepting a slight token of friendship from ticket shoppers was not entirely unknown. It was a blow to the illusions of the public to read that Mr. Boynton not only accepted gifts of money, but showed disrespect for the American constitution by accepting gifts of distilled liquor. And it was only yesterday that Mr. Rickard stated with virtuous pride that his box office never discriminated between customers.

Although the government investigation has made the speculators very discreet just now, it is reported that anyone wishing to buy a ringside seat anywhere near the actual ringside must pay $125 for it, all of which is deemed an injustice to the working man.

Mr. Rickard's statement of the free list today showed a distribution of 1,633 admissions to honorary customers including his honor, the mayor, Mr. Walker, and all manner and degree of commissioners, inspectors and their sisters and their cousins and their aunts. But the honor for the most successful individual raid on the box office went to the honorable prize fight commission itself with a total of 126 tickets. Mr. Ike Dorgan, secretary of public relations for Mr. Rickard, closed a most trying period when he put his hat in his mouth and his cigar on his head to go home or somewhere this evening, for he had been put to the necessity of distributing a total allotment of 800 complimentary seats and 250 working press seats among thousands of applicants, all representing powerful newspapers or periodicals, without offending any organ of public opinion. In the course of this duty Mr. Dorgan made many bitter enemies among such great journalistic giants as the exchange editor of the Ladies' Underwear Guide, the dramatic editor of Plumbers' Gazette and the society editor of the Master Animal Cracker Designers Budget. Mr. Dorgan's life is not a happy one.

HIS GREATEST FIGHT TONIGHT

Tonight in New York Jack Dempcey will fight the greatest fight of his career when he attempts a comeback against the young Lithuanian, Josef Cuckoshay, better known as Jack Sharkey. If Dempsey win tonight he is ready to go after the championship. If Dempsey loses his gloves will be hung up forever.

Above are pittured four of his outstanding fights while he held the championship, from 1919 to 1926 No. 1 shows him in his day of high respect when he defeated the giant Willard for the crown. No. 2 pictures the Carpentier mingle, which was more or less wished on him. No. 3, the Gibbons fight, which took tons of financing to stunt his decision over 15 rounds, and No. 4, Dempsey again rose to the heights of ringside praise when he sent the mighty Firpo out in two rounds. All this has been Dempsey's barometer to popularity and he is still the best-liked man in the game.

Dempsey Will Kayo Inside of Five Rounds

BY JACK FARRELL.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

New York, July 20.—William Harrison Dempsey will knock out Jack Sharkey, the Loquacious Lith from Boston, in five rounds.

The bout may end even earlier than that. I don't think there is any chance whatever of both men being on their feet at the end of 15 rounds, the scheduled route. But if that should occur, Sharkey's good right hand will be raised in victory.

There isn't any one who can stand up under Dempsey's sledge-hammer body blows if he is right. After watching him work for three weeks up in White Sulphur Springs, I am satisfied he is right.

Sharkey has a good left hand, but not a great one. He is a resourceful chap when out in front. His right is a dud because it must be wound up before he can let it go. If Sharkey could weather Dampsey's short-arm punches for five rounds the rest would be a cinch, but I don't think he can survive the ordeal.

Sharkey is easy to hit with a left hook and Dempsey, for that matter, is a sucker for anything served from the left side. Sharkey probably will score about three punches to Dempsey's one, but when the one reaches home it will suffice.

Dempsey has a great deal of respect for his opponent.

"He's no sucker," said Jack. "When you begin to underestimate the ability of an opponent you're licked. He's a good, strong fellow and must know how to box from all accounts. But this is one fight I must win. That I hope to do in about four rounds."

Dean Quits Cubs.

Huntington, W. Va., July 20.—(AP) Wayland Dean, pitcher of the Chicago Nationals, has quit the Cubs and intends to play independent baseball, he said at his home here today. Dean gave no reason for leaving the Chicago team. He was obtained recently by the Cubs from Philadelphia.

CY WILLIAMS SWATS 20TH HOME RUN

New York, July 20.—(AP)—While Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig had idleness forced on them through an open date, Cy Williams of the Phillies contributed to home-run sensations by poling out his twentieth of the season in the second game with the Pirates today. Williams tops the National league home run performers. Hack Wilson, of the Cubs, produced his sixteenth circuit drive at New York and Travis Jackson, of the Giants, hoisted out a pair of homers in the same game.

Paris, July 20.—(AP)—The French Olympic committee unanimously decided today that France, hostess for the Olympic games of 1924, would not be represented at the Olympic games in Amsterdam in 1928. It was also decided not to participate in the winter sports at Saint Moritz, Switzerland. The decision was taken following refusal of the senate to vote appropriations. It has aroused great emotion in French athletic circles.

Pirates To Train On Coast Again

Pittsburgh, July 20.— (AP) —The Pittsburgh National league baseball club will train at Paso Robles, Calif., next spring, Treasurer Sam Dreyfuss announced today. Inclement weather encountered at the California camp this year had caused same talk of a change, but young Dreyfuss said the Pirates would return to the old site in 1928.

Rog Peckinpaugh Slides Into Bob Reeves' Knee—Injures Nose.

Chicago, July 20.—Washington bunched hits in the second and sixth innings today to defeat Chicago, 5 to 3, in the final game of the series which they won, four games to one.

Chicago had numerous chances to score, but failed to hit Zachary in the pinches. Zachary weakened, however, in the eighth and Braxton came to the rescue. Speaker broke up the rally by making a great catch of Kamm's short fly and doubling Berg at the plate in the eighth inning. Aaron Ward and Roger Peckinpaugh were forced out of the game by injuries which proved to be not serious. Ward was hit in the abdomen by a low throw to second and Peck slid nose first into Reeves' knee.

Famous Trainer Says Sharkey Failed To Correct Lapses in Gym That Will Hurt Him in Ring.

BY JIMMY DE FORREST

New York, July 20.—It was a case of fans doing the training today. Jack Dempsey traveled into town by easy stages, and Jack Sharkey spent the forenoon shaking hands, allowing himself to be interviewed and generally pestered by casual acquaintances and total strangers until Johnny Buckley finally steered him away to the seclusion—or semi-seclusion of or the Forrest hotel, where Buckley and Harry Kelley have their suite.

Benny Leonard took Sharkey by the arm and escorted him through the crowd that was hanging about the doors of Madison Square Garden, where One-Eyed Connelly, in his shirt sleeves and wearing a massive cane, appointed himself door-keeper and inquired of all and sundry, "Who didja wanna see?" and getting the benighted one's tale of woe, blandly directed him to the one door that was taboo, through which no one could pass, unless he was a Houdini—because it led to nowhere and besides it was locked.

It was a wise move, this taking Sharkey away, because he was pouring out nervous energy without knowing it. He was keyed up to a high pitch, and although he was friendly and smiling, if he kept on meeting all comers, it would not be long before he would have lapsed into a nervous, fretful condition.

As I meandered about, listening to the gab of the experts and the would-be experts—everybody is an expert on the eve of the big fight—and of course I was not surprised that there was an almost evenly divided opinion on the outcome.

A Sane Question.

I finally ran into Jack Curley, the wrestling promoter, the man who engineered Jess Willard into the world's heavyweight championship. Curley asked the one sane question.

My answer was a look and a smile, and he returned the smile.

"What happens to them after they win a title?" he mused. "Take heavyweight champions of the last 20 years. They know all about training—after they win the championship. Their trainers no longer know anything. It is the champion who says what he will do and how he will do it. The methods he used to get into condition before winning the title, the methods that won him the title are all wrong.

"I don't need to do that," or "I need to do this," are the words most used by him. And the trainers? They let him get away with it. It was that way with Willard, and that way with Dempsey. And a lot of "you" men agree with 'em. What they need is someone to say: 'Here, you, get out there and work, instead of saying: 'Here's your silk robe,' and 'There's your boxing shoes.' It's all wrong,' and he heaved a big sigh.

Maybe He's Right.

I guess he's right. They know better than the trainers what is good for 'em—until they get into the ring, and then they find out different.

I think that Sharkey should have been coached to watch his defense—the defense I know he is physically capable of—in his training. He's going to find that the lapses he failed to correct in the gym are going to count against him in the ring with Dempsey. That dropping of the left hand at his side, and that wide-openness as he rushes to the attack—I think they are going to hurt—prove costly against a hitter like Dempsey.

The ex-champion has used more common sense in his training for this battle than he did for the Tunney affair. This time Dempsey ought to be able to get to his hands up and keep them up. He ought to be able to swat and to keep on swatting. Maybe he can go only four or five rounds. If he does go that distance at his best, then he must win. I don't believe Sharkey is good enough to stand him off that long. Not without getting badly hurt. And so, as I said in my previous article, I look for a Dempsey victory in about eight rounds. Or, if he has to go the full distance of 15 rounds, I think fact is fixed so that he'll be able to get home in front.

They Say: "Sure, My Man Will Win Easy"

New York, July 20.—(AP)—Statements of principals in the heavyweight battle tomorrow night and predictions of their managers follow:

Jack Dempsey: "There are no 'soft ones' in the fight game. Sharkey is no easy mark. But I'm prepared to take anything and everything he's got and still win. It's either him or me for the championship shot and I'm out to get him as quickly as possible."

Leo P. Flynn, manager of Dempsey: "The fight shouldn't go over six rounds and it is liable to end any time within that period. If Sharkey thinks Dempsey is going to chase him all over the ring he's mistaken. He'll have to do his share of the fighting. If the fight goes to rounds Dempsey ought to get him anyway for he will be just as ready to knock the Lithuanian out then as in the first round."

Jack Sharkey: "I'll lick Dempsey sure and then 'take' Tunney. I was never in better shape in my life. This is a big chance and I'm going to grab it. I know I can take everything Dempsey's got and give him a little better. Don't think this is the bunk. I told you what I would do to Wills and Maloney before hand and I did it. Now I'm calling this one."

Johnny Buckley, Sharkey's manager: "Jack will beat Dempsey and do it quick, in my opinion. He will be ready for any kind of stuff Dempsey lets loose. The only thing he has to worry about is a possible 'sneak punch.' But they don't come any cooler or smarter in the ring than Sharkey and I don't expect Dempsey to slip anything over.'

Bobby Jones And Kirkwood In Exhibition

Pair of Georgians Will Show Talents in Aid of Prince of Wales.

Glen Eagles, Scotland, July 20.—(AP)—Joe Kirkwood, the American golfer, has sacrificed his place among the 32 qualifiers in the professional tournament here so that he can keep a prior engagement to play with Bobby Jones in an exhibition match in London Friday. Kirkwood held eighth place in the qualifying rounds of the tournament with a score of 147.

Jones and Kirkwood will give an exhibition at a charity event in aid of the Prince of Wales. Bobby will display the shots which recently won him the British open championship at St. Andrews and Kirkwood will show his trick shots.

"Keep Cool In a Van Heusen"

I'm living "from hand to mouth" these days

SINCE I discovered what a marvelous cigarette I can make with Prince Albert, I'm rolling 'em and smoking 'em all day long. A hand-to-mouth existence that is all pleasure. I've made cigarettes before, but never any that tasted like these. Let me tell you about them.

First you get some Prince Albert and the makin's papers. You put a pinch in a paper and roll. The fragrance of the tobacco speeds-up the rolling process. You can hardly wait to taste such tobacco. Then you light up and pull that cool P.A. smoke into your system!

Mild and mellow as morning in the tropics. Sweet as maple sugar, with a sweetness that never cloys. P.A. is easier to roll, too. It's crimp-cut and stays put in the paper. If you've never made them with P.A., it's high time you got started. Try this better tobacco.

Prince Albert makes a wonderful cigarette, no doubt about that. And it is equally enjoyable in a pipe. No bite. No parch. Nothing but pipe-joy in every load. If you've always wanted to enjoy a pipe, but never found the right combination, try P.A. on my say-so.

FOR OWNER AND FINANCE

Detroit, July 20.—(AP)—Who ordered a statue of Tyrus Raymond Cobb, allegedly for erection on Belle Isle, the city's recreation center?

The question was proving a matter of concern to certain Detroiters today.

Not the least of them was Mayor John W. Smith; his secretary, Edward Speyer, and a Russian sculptor, Nison Tregor, who has completed a life-size head of clay which he says represents "the spirit of baseball" and Mr. Cobb's features.

Tregor contends he began work on the bust after the mayor brought Cobb to his studio while the Philadelphia Athletics were playing their first series here. The Georgia peach posed for him three mornings and then the sculptor followed him to Chicago to continue the work, Tregor added.

Now that the bust has been completed, Tregor wants to know who will furnish the $20,000 necessary to turn out a full length statue, if that is what is wanted.

Mayor Smith says he doesn't know and Speyer, to whom has been detailed the task of finding out, replies, "Search me."

It all came about at a luncheon given the former Tiger manager when he appeared here this spring for the first time with the Athletics. Somebody—nobody seems to know who—suggested the erection of the statue. The introduction of Tregor and Cobb followed.

majority favoring Sharkey, base their predictions of a victory for the rugged Boston sailor chiefly on his youth, speed and superior boxing craft. He is 25 to Dempsey's 32. He has been fighting frequently and rising rapidly on the heavyweight scale in the past year and a half with triumphs over Harry Wills, Mike McTigue and Jimmy Maloney to his credit. Dempsey has fought only once in four years and then, last September, a losing battle.

Dempsey, according to the expert minority supporting him, will win because he has regained his old knockout punch, shaken off the legal worries which beset him a year ago and whipped himself into as good fighting trim as it is possible for an athlete to acquire after a long layoff from actual competition. Whatever speed has passed with his youth, they argue, will be offset by his wallop.

Dempsey's Punch.

Dempsey's punching powers, his handlers asserted on arrival tonight, will not be affected by soreness which developed in his left arm several days ago and gave impetus to sensational reports of the ex-champion's condition. These reports have been a prime factor in the trend of opinion, as reflected in the betting toward Sharkey but the idea of any serious injury to Dempsey's arms has been discounted by the energy and effectiveness of his last workouts.

If Dempsey is to win, most observers agree, it will be quickly and because he is able to land with telling enough effect to break through Sharkey's defense in the first ten rounds. If the fight goes beyond five or six rounds, it is generally expected Sharkey's assets in speed, stamina and boxing skill will be in his favor with a victory on points probably in his grasp in the event it goes the limit.

Both fighters were in seclusion tonight, their conditioning completed and their handlers confident they had reached the peak of form. They will meet first tomorrow when they weigh in at the state athletic commission at 2 o'clock. Dempsey is expected to scale around 196 and Sharkey about 194.

Tex Rickard's traditional weather luck seemed likely to prevail as a result of prediction of clear skies for tomorrow night.

The preliminary fights are slated to start at 8:15 o'clock and the main bout at 10 o'clock, eastern daylight time.

Epworth League Aqua School Opens

The Epworth League A. A. will conduct the first demonstration lesson in the swimming school at Piedmont lake between 6 and 7 o'clock tonight.

The school is being conducted for the purpose of teaching members of the Epworth League union the art of swimming and also to assist those who can swim to better their strokes.

Announcement has been made that all leaguers who have not registered for the school can register at the union headquarters, 135 Peachtree arcade, or at the lake before the lesson begins.

Waycross Seeks Southeast Berth

Waycross, Ga., July 20.—(Special.) At a conference in Jacksonville today President Cliff Green, of the Southeastern league, agreed that the St. Augustine franchise would be transferred to Waycross provided the teams in the league voted favorably. In this event the stock in the franchise would be owned by H. E. Wolfe and two others from St. Augustine and by several men in Waycross. The remaining games for St. Augustine in this season's schedule would be played in Waycross as the Waycross team. The St. Augustine team is now on the road and the result of the vote will be known before the road trip is ended. The Waycross park is in fine condition, and the immediate transfer of the franchise will occasion no difficulties.

Cedartown, Ga., July 20.—(Special.)—The strong Central of Georgia team defeated Lindale here today, 3 to 1, in a fast game. Lefty Duke pitched air-tight ball, giving up only five scattered hits. Donaldson led Lindale's attack with two hits. Central of Georgia collected seven hits off Burnette. Davis led the attack with three hits, one being a home run, one of the hardest hit balls of the season. Jim Brannon, playing shortstop for Central of Georgia, was the star of the day in the field, cutting off a run in the early innings.

Loughran Beats Marrullo, Decision

New York, July 20.—(AP)—Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia battler, was awarded a judges' decision over Tony Marullo, New Orleans light heavyweight, in the feature 10-round bout at the Queensboro stadium here tonight.

Loughran has been considered as a leading contender for the light heavyweight championship. His showing tonight was unimpressive. He weighed 173, three pounds more than Marullo.

PUBLIC SERVICE BILLS HELD UP

Contention and debate Wednesday prevented the railroad committee of the state senate from taking action on a number of bills sponsored by Senator John I. Kelley, fifty-first district, chief in importance among which was one providing for a reduction of members of the public service commission from five to three members, and for radical changes in regard to the commission members' pay, terms of office and method of election.

Following expression of opposition to the bill by a committee of five representing the Macon Chamber of Commerce and by members of the senate committee, the bill was submitted to a sub-committee of three for consideration.

During the debate, Senator Kelley sponsor, declared the changes incorporated in the bill were imperative because "adequate public protection can hardly be had from a body that is, under the present law, drawing a large part of its pay from the very companies whose rates it is expected to regulate."

Urges Direct Pay.

The senator declared that his bill provides "that the people of Georgia pay their servants from the state treasury, and keep a weather eye on their servants through the medium of the public press."

The Macon delegation, declaring that "five men are harder to corrupt than three," centered its objection on a clause that would reduce the commission's membership.

A second adverse report was returned by the railroad committee on Senator Kelley's bill which aims at revision of the non-par stock law.

Senator Kelley insisted that the present law "allows stock to be 'watered' without let or hindrance, providing public utilities of the state with ample concealment of the actual investment involved in street railways, for instance."

"These companies are not required to list the value of their stock," the senator said, "making an estimate of their stock investment, in order to arrive at a fair return, almost impossible."

Reese Opposes.

In moving that the bill be unfavorably returned, Senator Reese, of the fourth district, pointed out that corporations so restrained in Georgia would simply go to Delaware for a charter. "Our public service commission is backed with complete inquisitorial power to make any investigation they may deem advisable," declared the senator.

Senator Kelley's bill to require registration of inter-city bus lines and to exempt them from all municipal supervision that does not apply to other motor vehicles was referred to a sub-committee.

Another bill of Senator Kelley's that would repeal a law allowing but 15 directors for railroad corporations was favorably returned by the committee.

Senator Shelby Myrick's bill designed to put other public service utilities on the same basis as street railways in regard to transfer of franchise or other assets was given a favorable vote by the committee.

Six-Day Week.

Georgia concerns employing more than 10 men will be liable to misdemeanor should they work any individual more than six days a week if a bill approved by the senate hygiene and sanitation committee Wednesday afternoon successfully negotiates legislative channels.

Award of contract or employment of labor on state highway systems should favor Georgians is the purport of a bill indorsed by the senate military affairs committee Wednesday afternoon. The measure was introduced by Senator Willingham, of Marietta.

TEST OF STRENGTH ON HIGHWAY ISSUE NEAR

with the Hardman supporers in that body forming another group. The test of strength would come over the confirmation of a successor. If the Holder strength is what is claimed for it the senate will be able to vote down any appointee the governor names, but on the other hand possible defections in their ranks would enable the governor to get approval for an appointee.

This course is to be followed in spite of the fact that the governor is supporting a bill which provides for the abolition of the state highway board and the substitution therefor of a highway commission. In the event such a bill were passed the governor then would be given the authority to name the highway commissioner and the two associate commissioners would be named by the commissioner subject to the governor's approval.

Appointment Necessary.

Regardless of the present bills, however, it will be necessary for the governor to send to the senate a successor to Chairman Holder if he does not expect to reappoint that official. The chairman holds office until his successor is appointed and qualifies and after the present session his successor could not qualify until the next senate meets and approves his appointment if the governor were to wait until after the session to make the appointment.

The house Wednesday devoted virtually its entire time to the discussion of the "search and seizure" bill.

The Georgia supreme court "has shown a gross lack of ability to protect the constitution" in its interpretation of the fourth amendment which guarantees immunity from unreasonable search and seizure, Representative Lindsay, of DeKalb, asserted in speaking in support of the search and seizure bill.

Rule of Expediency.

Since enactment of the prohibition law, he said, although admitting that such a course is illegal, it has gone by the rule of expediency in application of that constitutional provision to prohibition cases.

"If any man in this house believes that the prohibition law is superior to the fourth amendment to the constitution of the United States, which is also written into the constitution of Georgia, it is his solemn duty to introduce in this house a resolution for the abrogation of the bill of rights which in centuries gone was wrested from King John, of England."

Representative Hooper, of Fulton, described the Myrick bill as a blow at the fundamental principles of law enforcement. "The innocent person now has legal recourse," he said, "in criminal and civil action against an officer who invades his personal rights and we should certainly not enact a law which would free one criminal because another man has broken the law to learn the truth about him."

Representative McClueny, of Baldwin, declared that the search and seizure bill was for the benefit of the bootleggers and the lawyers who defend them. In reply, Representative Lindsay stated that the bill would hurt defense lawyers more than any bill the assembly might pass.

"Any man who is arrested must have a lawyer," he said. "Therefore any bill which tends to make arrests fewer can only cut the lawyers' fees."

The governor's message follows:

"Disease and ignorance are the greatest calamities to our state. Health and education furnish the basis of the earning capacity of the individual and make the greatest contribution to progress and happiness in the state. The most desirable thing is proper provision in the department of health to prevent disease, through proper regulation in the counties and proper sanitary conditions, so as to relieve the burden of expense of the sick and to relieve human suffering and make the homes of our people happier and more progressive. Education or development and training of the individual is a contribution to him that cannot be taken away from him or lost. It gives to the individual opportunities equal to those of every other citizen in the state and nation to acquire and reach the highest and happiest position in life.

"We should not forget, however, that the type of education which the people should receive should carry (1) the highest ideals of character, and (2) the most practical training, of the sort which furnishes to the state men and women who make the highest type of citizenship.

"The state can be no greater or higher in her character than are her citizens. The reduction of crime and its burden can best be secured by the promotion of, health and by making provision for the education of her citizens on the basis suggested.

Education Survey.

"The burden of taxation and suffering by the neglect of these two fundamental elements in the state must be apparent to every citizen today; and, therefore, I recommend to you the appropriation of sufficient funds to eliminate these two great burdens of the state, viz., disease and ignorance.

"Therefore, I recommend that an educational survey be made of the state of Georgia, and that the equalization fund, as well as the appropriation caring for the public schools, be cared for.

"I also recommend that the state board of health and all of its interests, including welfare and health problems in every department and institution, be correlated as far as it is practicable to do so, and that sufficient funds be appropriated to take care of these departments.

"I recognize the fact that the recommendation and expenditure of money is a very easy thing. I also recognize the fact that the poverty and burden can be to a great degree eliminated if funds are wisely invested in these departments looking to the conservation of life, energy and intelligence.

Rural Interests.

"These two departments of the state deal largely with the rural sections and with counties where the largest population of our state exists and from which we receive (certainly to a large degree) the strongest citizens who make up our splendid towns and cities, and I suggest to the ways and means committee that they present to your body the sources of revenue by means of which we can take care of and make better and happier these sections and interests of our state.

"Georgia stands high in illiteracy, and it should be the effort of this state to eliminate this regrettable condition. The Divine Hand has done much for this section of our nation within the boundaries of Georgia, giving to us in natural conditions one of the healthiest territories in the entire country, so far as freedom from common diseases goes; but in lack of funds and in lax enforcement of laws controlling preventable diseases Georgia is very unfortunate. Preventable and contagious diseases can be and should be eliminated from our state.

"It appeals to the chief executive of your state now more than ever that the opportunity is yours. We have the greatest love and respect for our predecessors and the work they have done and the great contributions they have made to the state but the responsibility now has come to you and to me, and we must prove ourselves equal to these needs and demands, and we must harmonize and cooperate, as I feel that every one is willing to do."

SENATE REFUSES TO KILL ELDERS' INCOME TAX BILL.

Refusal by the senate to kill the unfavorably reported Elders income tax bill; discussion of proposed amendments to the Thompson highway bill, now up for passage, with regard to its designation of first and secondary highways, and receipt of a message from the governor featured Wednesday's session of the senior body.

At conclusion of the day's new business Senator Kelley sought to renew discussion of the 3-cent net income tax measure. Sharp contention here arose over a senate rule that prohibits unfavorably returned legislation from being brought up on other than Tuesdays or Fridays.

By unanimous consent, however, the measure was again brought under consideration on the grounds that it constituted "unfinished business," Senator Kelley having had the floor when the senate adjourned Tuesday.

Bill May Survive.

Following an hour's discussion the bill was given a chance of survival when the senate, by vote of 18 to 27, declined to agree with the committee's adverse report. The measure is now in line for a third reading.

Senate officials pointed out that this vote was no fair indication of the bill's strength on the floor, but that it only granted consent to a fuller discussion.

Small farms of less than 100 acres, together with implements and $300 worth of household belongings, would be exempt for 10 years from ad valorem taxes levied by the general assembly should a bill introduced by Senator H. H. Elders, of Reidsville, accomplish its aim.

Another new bill introduced Tuesday would remove the state chemical department from jurisdiction of the agricultural department and place it under a board of five members with the governor as chairman. This measure was sponsored by Senators Bullard and Hogg, of the 36th and 13th districts.

Commissioner As Secretary.

Under the chairman the bill places the commissioner of agriculture as secretary. Three chemists at $5,000 yearly salaries would complete the board, these to be appointed by the governor.

A resolution introduced by Senator Willingham, of the 39th district, asked that an unused appropriation for riot duty amounting to $25,000 be turned over to the military department to discharge the department's $12,500 deficit of the past year. The resolution further provides that the remainder of the fund be expended for the sole use of various military departments over the state and for departmental salaries and other expenses.

This resolution was returned favorably by the senate committee on military affairs, meeting immediately after adjournment of the senior body.

A bill that would make it a misdemeanor for any person to insert a counterfeit coin into a slot machine was proposed Tuesday by Senator Kelley. Plugged coins, wooden or lead currency imitations would all come under this ban.

The commissioner of commerce and labor would be charged with seeing to proper enforcement of the child labor act, with certain specified exemptions, if a bill, introduced by Senator Paige, of the 16th district, becomes a law.

School Elections.

Another senate bill championed by E. D. Rivers, of the sixth district, would regulate school elections, provide for a uniform tax levy and allow newly added school districts to assume a share of the bonded obligations of the original district.

Senator Greene, of the 23rd district, was the author of a new bill containing the provision that public school treasurers must be adequately bonded before it would be lawful for them to receive school funds from county tax collectors.

Three house bills Wednesday received the indorsement of the senate and now awaits executive approval. Among these is a bill that would cerate a commissioner of roads and revenues for Brantley county, another to cerate a city court for Sandersville, while the third would amend an act creating a board of commissioners of roads and revenues for Dougherty county.

Several other house bills were read in the senate for the first time Wednesday. One of these is designed to empower jewelers to sell articles left for repair after a certain time, another would prohibit the citizenry of Wayne county from fishing or otherwise indulging in sport of this nature, while a third would amend an act relative to the firing of wooded land in the state.

Investigation of Tract.

A joint resolution approved by both houses calls for an investigation of the state-owned tract of land near Indian Springs.

Albert B. Mobley, of Walton county, to state superintendent of banks for a four-year term commencing January 1, 1928.

Raymond Stapleton and Howard B. Payne were appointed judge and solicitor of the Elberton city court for a four-year term, commencing December 24, 1928.

Folks Haxford, of Clinch county, appointed as solicitor of the county court for a two-year period, commencing October 28, 1927.

Legislator Lauds Governor in Sermon To Hiawassee Audience

Hiawassee, Ga., July 20.—(Special.)—William A. Henson, representative in the general assembly from Towns county, preached at Antioch Baptist church Sunday night, using as a subject for his discourse "Gambling at the Foot of the Cross," founded on scripture found in Matthew 27:35. He highly commended Governor Hardman as a sober, conscientious, Christian gentleman, who would give Georgia a clean administration.

RATE EQUALIZATION ON COTTON ORDERED

Austin, Texas, July 20.—(AP)—The state railroad commission today suspended until further notice its order of April 23, whereby cooperatively with the interstate commerce commission an equalization was ordered on domestic and export rates on cotton from Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas and Louisiana points to Texas gulf ports.

The suspension order is effective retroactively to 12:01 a. m. July 16.

The Texas commission's order applies to Texas rates and follows a similar order a few days ago by the interstate commerce commission suspending the new interstate rates to the ports involved. The entire revision would have been effective July 16.

JAPANESE, BRITISH BUCK 10-INCH GUNS

Geneva, Switzerland, July 20.—(AP) The middle of August was the guess of a Japanese delegate tonight for the end of the tripartite naval conference, the work of which has been suspended owing to the recall to London of the chief British delegates to permit a cabinet discussion on the general situation.

The conference is replete with difficulties owing to the divergent position of the British and Americans on the problem of the size of secondary cruisers and their armament. The Japanese think an agreement finally will be reached, but predict further delicate and complicated negotiations.

One report has it that the British, who are insisting the armament be restricted to 6-inch guns on secondary cruisers, are willing to strip their cruisers of the Hawkins class of their 7 1-2-inch guns and that the Japanese are disposed similarly to strip their 7,200-ton cruisers of 8-inch guns in order to pave the way to an accord on the armament question.

This report, however, is not confirmed. In any event, the idea probably would not be to the liking of the Americans, since large-size guns always could be mounted on these ships in war time, while the Americans, if they accepted the plan to keep down the secondary cruisers to 6,000 tons, would be unable to do this.

W. C. Bridgeman, first lord of the British admiralty, and Viscount Cecil are not expected back in Geneva before Monday. In the meantime all negotiations are necessarily interrupted.

EX-REAL ESTATE PROMOTER GIVEN TWO YEARS, FINE

Jacksonville, Fla., July 20.—(AP)—J. F. Brandies, former real estate operator and promoter of this city, was fined $1,000 and sentenced to two years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., by Judge Lake Jones here today.

Brandies, who was recently returned here from New Mexico by the federal authorities to face an indictment in which he was charged with using the mails for the purpose to defraud, pleaded guilty to six counts of the indictment. A conspiracy count of the indictment was nol-prossed.

BANK PAYS DIVIDEND AT JEFFERSONVILLE

Jeffersonville, Ga., July 20.—(Special.)—The Twiggs County bank which closed its operations on July 14, 1926, when numbers of other banks in Georgia closed their doors, has paid a dividend of 10 per cent to its depositors. The total amount paid out was $19,640.28.

This was the second dividend paid. The first, a 25 per cent dividend, was paid last December. The amount was $49,634.22.

According to W. E. Jones, liquidating agent, there will probably be another substantial payment made to the depositors this fall.

At present there are a number of suits pending in the Twiggs superior courts against parties who owe the bank, also against parties who withdrew their funds from the bank just prior to its closing. The outcome of these suits will have direct bearing on the amounts that the depositors of the bank will ultimately receive.

350 Wild Horses Plodding To Denver, Death, Glue Works

BY H. G. HOUSER.
(United News Staff Correspondent.)

Denver, Col., July 20.—Moving across dusty plains from Laramie, Wyo., 350 wild horses are plodding dejectedly toward Denver, death and the glue works.

The animals, captured from among the condemned wild herds on the Wyoming ranges, are the first of a consignment contracted for by Z. D. Haven & Son, local stock brokers, to supply the Denver Soap & Manufacturing company and its subsidiary, the Capitol Rendering company, in Ogden, Utah.

The wild horse is being crowded off the western range by civilization. His prairie is becoming a network of barbed wire fences and the grass he finds in the open range is coveted by the cattlemen and the sheep raiser.

Death Warrant Signed.

The last Wyoming legislature signed the death warrant for upwards of 300,000 of the animals by authorizing the slaughter of all unowned and unbranded horses in the state.

Time was when the fleet wild horse was hunted with the lariat for saddle stock. But the wild horse is small—a runt—and the modern market demands large animals. So now he is useful only for glue, soap, meat meal, baseball covers and by-products.

The round-up of wild horses has been under way for several weeks, and already more than 3,000 head have been driven into corrals.

Arrive This Week.

The first herd will complete its death march here the latter part of the week and others will follow regularly, according to Haven.

"We expect to supply the works here with 150 to 200 head a week," Haven said.

"The first bunch will reach pens 30 miles north of here in a couple of days and will be driven into Denver at night. Real Wyoming cow-punchers are riding herd on the horses and are avoiding main highways."

"After the first 150 miles of driving they seem to lose their rebellious attitude and jog along as meekly as cattle."

INTEREST RATE DROP BY FARM LOAN BANK

Jeffersonville, Ga., July 20.—(Special.)—The federal land bank has advised W. C. Stokes, secretary-treasurer of the local farm loan association of Twiggs, Wilkinson and Bleckley counties that the interest rate will be lowered from 5 1-2 per cent to 5 1-4 per cent.

Series of Summer Gayeties Assemble Social Contingent

Recent brides, brides-elect, visitors and the score of those who find in the round of summer gayeties the occasion for many a delightful rendezvous will assemble today at various enjoyable affairs. Belles from here and yon are enjoying parties which reflect that hospitality and charm of which Atlanta may be justly proud. Luncheons, teas and dinners at the many attractive clubs which the city affords or a dance in some al fresco setting are sure to prove a memorable occasion for any visitor to the gate city.

Mrs. Edgar Dunlap will entertain at a tea at her home on Oakdale road in compliment to her daughter, Mrs. Edgar Fain Dunlap, a recent bride, who prior to her marriage was the recipient of a number of enjoyable affairs. Mrs. Louis Muldrow entertains at a bridge-luncheon at her home on Montgomery Ferry drive in compliment to Mrs. Mid McDonald, of Miami, Fla., and Mrs. Clarence Laws.

Members of the younger social set seem loath to exchange the social activities of other climes for those at which they have been feted here, having joined with the visiting belles in an unprecedented round of social affairs. Among the visitors who will be the central figures at parties today are Mrs. E. B. Hardy and Miss Stella Pickett Hardy, of Washington, D. C., the guests of Mrs. J. M. High; Miss Flora Sutcliffe, of Louisville, Ky., the guest of Miss Adair McCarley; Miss Virginia Baldwin, of Lynchburg, Va., the guest of Miss Frances Spalding; Misses Elizabeth Smyly and Idolene Fitzgerald, of Eastman; Miss Martha McKenzie, of Frankfort, Ind., the guest of Mrs. W. D. Burkett and Miss Martha Wilson, of New Orleans.

To Make Your Home a Place of Joy and Harmony

There are some houses you visit where you feel instantly at home. There is an air of comfort and cheer about them. They are not necessarily rich and elaborate. They may be simple and even shabby. But there are comfortable old chairs for you to sink into—and it doesn't matter if you spill ashes on the floor. And the folks who live there are always glad to see you. They welcome you with their own cheery graciousness—and no matter when you drop in, they always offer you a welcome cup of RIDGWAYS deliciously fragrant tea to cheer and refresh you.

No wonder you feel at home there! No wonder being there always puts you in a mood of goodfellowship and genial camaraderie! RIDGWAYS TEA does that for you. It warms you so that you feel relaxed and at harmony with yourself. It invigorates you so that you feel friendly and in harmony with others.

To make your home a place of joy and harmony, begin by putting your guests and your family, too, in a happy frame of mind by refreshing them with the always welcome cup of RIDGWAYS fragrant, full-bodied tea.

Baxter Maddox Gives Dinner On the Terrace at Woodhaven

An al fresco dinner, honoring the president, expresidents and directors of the Capital City club, together with their wives, was given Tuesday evening by Baxter Maddox, chairman of the membership committee, at Woodhaven, the estate of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Maddox on Pace's Ferry road.

Dinner was served at individual green tables placed on the terrace, which was encircled with colorful Japanese lanterns. Pale yellow linens adorned the tables and flowers from the gardens of Mrs. Maddox filled bowls of amber glassware. A musical program was rendered by an orchestra during dinner.

Mrs. Maddox assisted her son in entertaining his guests, who included Mr. and Mrs. E. Rivers, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Inman, Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Elkin, Mr. and Mrs. James D. You Can Furnish Your New Home More Artistically And For Less By Paying Cash

Anyone Who Visits the Beautiful Store of Stephen Philibosian, Inc., Can See the Difference.

This is the time of year many people begin to think of furnishing new homes or of refurnishing old ones.

"Moving Day" is not so very many weeks off and many are already planning the purchase of a new living room suite, a dining room suite, odd chairs, mirrors, novelty pieces of new drapery.

It is to these prospective purchasers that Stephen Philibosian, Inc., offers a most attractive opportunity.

The big store at 581 Peachtree street, adjoining the Georgian Terrace Hotel, is filled with th most beautiful retail stock of furniture, oriental and domestic rugs to be found anywhere in the entire South. The drapery department, also, has a great variety of attractive patterns that any lover of beautiful furnishings would be delighted to own.

Certainly nowhere is there a better place for satisfactory selection. The variety and size of the stock makes its possible to buy for any interior decorating scheme.

Whether an inexpensive novelty piece or a fine suite, whatever comes from Philibosian's you will be proud to own.

And best of all you can buy them so much more economically because it's a cash store. Go and see for yourself.—(adv.)

Modernized Jewelry Makes Wonderful Presents

We Close Saturday at One

A RING in an old-fashioned setting, a broken Bar Pin, or maybe a discarded Breast Pin that has been out of style for years, will furnish the material for making a new pin that will be thoroughly modern in appearance and still have all the old sentiment of the old heirlooms.

It will cost you nothing to let us make you a sketch showing just what we can do with any of these old pieces that you may have.

Miss Brittain Gives Informal Dinner For Bridal Party

Miss Virginia Brittain entertained at dinner Wednesday evening at the Atlanta Athletic club in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henderson Powell, of Moultrie, who were married Wednesday in Moultrie, coming to Atlanta following the ceremony.

The attractive table was decorated with summer flowers, the shades of pink and white predominating. Miss Brittain wore a becoming straight-line model of powder blue, ornamented with a rhinestone buckle and offset by a picture hat of black.

Attractive favors of shower corsages and boutonnieres were a delightful feature of the evening. Following the dinner the guests, which included the members of the bridal party of Mr. and Mrs. Powell, enjoyed the dance at the club.

Miss Martha Dean Mathers To Honor Visitors.

Miss Martha Dean Mathers will entertain Thursday at a luncheon at the Capitol City club, followed by a box party at the Georgia theater, in honor of her two attractive guests, Miss Elizabeth Smyly and Miss Idblene Fitzgerald, of Eastman, Ga.

Those invited are Miss Maybelle Dechey, Miss Genie Davis, Miss Dorothy Winings, Miss Mary Wilson Dickey, Miss Suzanne Knox and her guest, Miss Helen Peck, of Spartanburg, S. C.; Miss Margarette Roddey and Miss Liza Tway.

Hebrew Orphan Home Children To Be Honored.

The committee in charge of arrangements includes Mrs. J. J. Hellman, of the senior Hadassah, and Miss Helen Seff, of the juniors. Anyone who can furnish cars for the day will kindly call Walnut 8066.

Miss Harris Weds Clyde Frank Jones.

Miss Mary Lillian Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walton Harris, became the bride of Frank Clyde Jones, of Wichita, Kan., and Miami, Fla., at a quiet ceremony solemnized at 9 o'clock Monday evening at the home of the bride on Eleventh street. The Rev. W. L. Duren, pastor of St. Mark's Methodist church, read the marriage service.

The bride was lovely in a gown of powdered blue georgette trimmed in rhinestones and her hat was a smart fall model of French felt to match. She wore a shoulder corsage bouquet of valley lilies.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left by motor to points of interest in Florida, including Palm Beach, Orlando and St. Petersburg, later continuing their wedding trip through Oregon and state of Washington.

After September they will be at home in Wichita for a short while, where the groom will introduce his bride to a wide circle of friends where he is prominent in both business and social circles.

Mrs Jones is an only sister of Miss Alice Roe Harris. She received her education at Washington seminary and later spent some time traveling in the north and east. The past two winters have been spent in Miami, Fla., where she made a wide circle of friends.

She is a great-niece of Judge Young L. G. Harris, who was founder of Young Harris college. She is also a descendant from the Walton family—George Walton being a signer of the Declaration of Independence. Her mother is a member of a prominent Georgia family.

Mr. Jones, the older son of Mr and Mrs. Clyde D. Jones, of Wichita, Kan., is president of the National Banking Maintenance corporation, with the main office in Wichita and branch offices in Miami, Miami Beach, Coral Gables, Fla., and Amarillo, Texas.

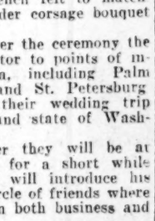

He attended Lake Forrest university and later graduated from Wichita university. During the world war he served two years overseas with the second division, company A, Second U. S. engineers, and received a commission as lieutenant in cavalry.

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., ACT, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.—(adv.)

If they are not at home you'll find them at "IDLEWOOD"

Young Matrons Give Birthday Present To Tallulah School

The Young Matron's circle of Tallulah Industrial school, with Mrs. Laurence Willett, chairman, presented a birthday gift to the school through Mrs. John K. Ottley, president of the board of trustees, in the form of a check for $180, representative of $10 a year, in celebration of the 18 years since the school's organization.

Tallulah Industrial school, owned and maintained by the Georgia Federation of Women's clubs, is built on the side of Echo moustain. The underprivileged mountain children are enrolled as students, and in the 18 years of its existence, hundreds of children have received their education at the school of which Miss Ann Carrington Davis is principal.

The Young Matrons' circle was formed in February to foster beneficiary movements looking toward improving the school's equipment. The generous donation of $180 will aid materially in this work. The officers of the circle includes Mrs. Preston Arkwright, honorary chairman; Mrs. Laurence Willet, chairman; Mrs. Ewell Gay, Mrs. Joel Hurt, Jr., Mrs. Stewart Witham and Mrs. Eugene Harrington, vice chairmen; Mrs. J. Ragan, recording secretary; Mrs. David Black, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Rembert Marshall, treasurer.

Miss Bartea Honors Birmingham Visitor.

Miss Mary Belle Bartea, who has recently returned from a visit to Birmingham, Ala., and Nashville, Tenn., has as her guest Miss Ruth Beam, of Birmingham.

A number of informal parties have been planned in Miss Beam's honor, among which will be the tea at which her hostess will entertain today at her home, 1050 Ponce de Leon avenue.

Miss Bartea's mother, Mrs. J. E. Moore Mitchell, will give a luncheon at the Biltmore hotel, followed by a swimming party Friday, complimenting her daughter and her guest.

Miss Wilder Weds William L. Prince.

Mr. and Mrs. A. U. Wilder announce the marriage of their daughter, Donie Evelyn, to William L. Prince, Saturday, April 30. Rev. L. C. Brady, of Edison Methodist church, performed the ceremony. After a short trip through north Georgia and the Carolinas, they will be at home in Pelham.

SYNOPSIS.

A band of crooks, stumbling on the fact that Sir Adrian Shale's wife is alive, when she supposedly had died six months before in Italy, arrives at Grantwick, Sir Adrian's home, for the purpose of blackmailing him. Mimi Winchell, one of the crooks posing as a widow, obtains a letter of introduction to Sir Adrian, who is kind to her and her "daughter," Doris. The girl is beautiful and possesses the only shred of respectability the gang can lay claim to. She is in reality an orphan whom Mimi has befriended. One of the crooks, Beauty Bill Gibbons, asks Doris to marry him. She refuses. A few days later Sir Adrian angers Mimi by announcing he would like to marry Doris. She tells him she knows his wife is alive, and demands fifty thousand pounds for silence. Sir Adrian does not believe her, but agrees to pay the money. She returns to London immediately, and discovers Sir Adrian has tricked her. Somewhat disturbed by Mimi's story, Sir Adrian decides to make an investigation. His wife's former maid, Anna Ferguson, failed to come back to England after Lady Shale's death in Italy. In attempting to find her, Sir Adrian calls on her sister, Madam Georgette, a fashionable London dressmaker, who is unable to give him any information. Doris rebels at the life she is forced to lead with Mimi and Uncle Charley, and takes a job as mannikin at Madam Georgette's. She meets Sir Adrian but leaves him in anger because of his lack of faith in her. Madam Georgette proves to be especially kind to Doris.

INSTALLMENT XXII.

PRIMITIVE HATRED.

Presently the sick man opened his eyes again, and his lips began to move. Doris tried to quiet him, but he would not heed her.

"I'm glad you came, Doris," he whispered in a faint, husky way. "It's all over with me—I've known it was coming for a long time, but when they took me here—this evening—" He broke off, exhausted by the effort.

"Poor, poor Uncle Charley," Doris sobbed.

There was a silence, then once more the feeble lips moved.

"Don't—let them—drag you back—" he whispered. "You—are—too good—for this—life." The eyes closed, and he seemed to fall into a quiet sleep.

The doctor had returned now, with Mimi. They were talking in hushed tones in the corner of the room. "There's nothing more to be done, I'm afraid," the doctor was saying. "The end may come at any moment. I must leave you with him now and—" he jerked his head toward the door, "there'll be no need for him to stay. I'll call back before midnight."

Mimi, red eyed, dazed of expression, moved toward the bed. She neither looked at nor spoke to Doris. They could hear footsteps descending the stairs, the soft tread of the doctor, the heavy clump of the constable. Then the door banged, and the house was wrapped in a dreadful silence.

Doris lost all sense of time. The regularly chiming quarters from the clock meant nothing to her. An hour seemed an age.

Uncle Charley never moved. There were times, indeed, when Doris thought that he had gone. It was a grim, grim scene this death room, with the pale weeping woman on either side of the sinking man.

And then, toward eleven, Charles Hobson sighed. The eyes opened slowly and gazed at Mimi. A ghost of a smile flickered on the lips which moved as if to speak, but no word was uttered. There came another sigh like that of a weary child. The eyes closed for the last time, and as the first of eleven deep booms from the clock broke the eerie stillness of the room, Uncle Charley passed from the grip of man's law to go for trial in a greater, higher court of justice.

Doris and Mimi knew it was the end. For the first time since Doris had arrived, their eyes met. Doris' were inexpressibly sad, and brimful of sympathy for her companion, but from Mimi's there blazed a primitive hatred that startled the girl.

Mimi got up and walked to the door flinging it open. "You can go now," she said in a hard, unforgiving voice.

"But, Mimi—don't—don't. I'm so sorry for you. Can't you—"

"But, Mimi."

"You'd as much to do with this as anything. He's never been the same since you went away." The tone was low, restrained, but oh, so bitter.

"Go!"

Doris could only obey. She went down the stairs, her eyes streaming. How unkind it was of Mimi! Yet even then Doris thought charitably that it must be the shock of poor Uncle Charley's death that had made her so cruel.

The door bell rang as she reached the foot of the stairs and mechanically, as she had done so many times before, she went to open it.

The doctor had returned, and with him was an unobtrusive looking man at whose calling Doris needed no second glance to guess. They entered, uninvited.

"Well, is it all over?" The doctor read the answer in Doris' pitiful face, even before she nodded.

"As I expected, inspector," he said, turning to his companion. "I'll just go upstairs, if you'll wait a moment."

The inspector spoke to Doris, and there was real kindness in his voice. "I'd get off now if I were you, missy," he said quietly. "You don't want to be mixed up in this, specially if there's got to be an inquest," he added. He led her to the door, and almost forced her out.

Then, to add to Doris' misery, it flashed through her wearied mind that it must be long after eleven and that when she reached Dover street, madam would demand an explanation of why she was out so late. And she dared not give that explanation.

It was Matthew Given who opened the door to Doris.

He made an unnecessary to-do in withdrawing the bolts, and stood ostentatiously gazing at his thin, gold wrist watch as Doris entered.

"You're very late, Miss Winchell," he said reprovingly. "It's nearly midnight. You know the rules of this establishment. Madam will expect an explanation."

"I'm sorry," Doris answered nervously. "I couldn't help it, Mr. Given. I—I've been with—with an ill friend."

Even to Doris the words sounded unconvincing, hackneyed; and to Given the seemed merely fatuous.

He closed the door with the same labored ostenation as that with which he had opened it. He was determined to make Miss Winchell realize the gravity of her offense.

Doris went swiftly up the steep staircase, her mind filled with apprehension. If madam should demand a full explanation what could she tell her?

Given followed slowly, ponderously. It was unlike him to make such a fuss about a late arival. As a rule, it was Georgette who was the disciplinarian and he who was ready with the excuse for the occasional lapse from punctuality of one of the young ladies.

"My dear, after all watches do go slow and trains run late," he had often said. "No need to take a girl's character away because she's ten minutes behind time."

And as often Georgette had replied: "Rules are rules, my dear Matt, and slackness is neither good for the business nor for the girls. I shall give her a sound talking to, and if she has not a proper explanation—she must go."

New York, July 20.—(AP)—A further advance at the opening of the cotton market today attracted heavy realizing and was followed by reactions. October contracts, which had sold up to 18.72 on the early demand, broke to 18.46 in late trading, or 8 points net lower, and closed at 18.49, the general market closing steady, at net declines of 1 to 5 points.

The opening was firm at an advance of 13 to 16 points. Active months sold 17 to 20 points net higher in early trading on a renewal of yesterday's buying movement, evidently stimulated by higher Liverpool cables and a very sharp advance in the futures market for Egyptian cotton at Alexandria.

July at 18.30.

July sold up to 18.30 and January to 19.02, all new crop months making new high records for the season, but these prices attracted a good deal of realizing, while there may have been some selling for a reaction. Trade interests were buyers on declines of about 8 to 10 points from the best, and the market stiffened up several points after publication of the weekly report of the weather bureau, which was regarded as emphasizing the danger of boll weevil damage to the crop this summer.

Realizing continued, however, and the market eased again in late trading, reaching the lowest prices of the day shortly before the close. July sold off to 18.08 and January to 18.77 or about 25 points from the high level of the morning in the case of January and from 2 to 8 points below yesterday's closing quotations. There was a slight spurt of covering at the close, but last prices were only a few points up from the lowest.

Reports Change.

Two more private mid-month reports were issued, one making the condition 75.6 and the indicated crop 14,833,000 bales, while the other placed the condition at 75.1 and the indicated crop at 14,766,000 bales. These conditions figures were about in line with the two published previously, and appeared to be without any particular effect on the day's market, so far as could be learned.

Private cables from Liverpool said there had been covering and rebuying by recent sellers combined with some trade calling in the market there.

Exports 4,329, making 11,076,156 so far this season. Port receipts 3,688. United States port stocks 1,034,380.

PRICES TWO-SIDED AT NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, July 20.—Prices in the cotton market were rather two-sided today with the undertone still bullish, and although trading was not as brisk as yesterday the market was fairly active. There were gains of 10 to 13 points on first trades as Liverpool came in better than due and the market advanced further in the early trading with October at 18.60 and December 18.85, or 20 to 21 points above yesterday's close. The market declined on the dry weather map and a favorable weekly weather and crop report, October dropping to 18.40 and December to 18.65, or 20 points below the highs. After rallying 2 to 14 points around midsession prices declined in the late trading making new lows for October at 18.35 and 18.60 for December, or 25 points down from the highs. The market closed steady with net losses for the day of 2 to 5 points.

Two private crop reports were issued during the day, one making the condition 75.6 and the indicated yield 14,833,000 bales and the other making the condition 75.1 and the yield 14,766,000 bales.

POOLS BRING OUT CURB FAVORITES

New York, July 20.—(AP)—With most of the recently popular stocks displaying heaviness in the curb market today, pools proceeded to bring forth new favorites, with the result that new highs were attained by several recently inactive issues. Chain stores shares, owing to expanding sales, were among those particularly in demand

Sharp declines in American Rolling Mills issues and inactivity of Bucyrus (new) indicated that the merger plans of these companies had largely been anticipated. Celanese stocks, Vacuum and Humble Oil and several of the public utilities also were subject to heavy profit-taking.

New Haven preferred and rights, admitted to trading on a when-issued basis, changed hands in round amounts, but little attention was given to other railroad secu ties. Copper issues displayed strength on estimates that the world's consumption now exceeds production. Ohio Copper, one of the so-called "penny stocks," crossed $1 a share for the first time this year.

A new English territory was invaded by Grand Stores common and preferred. Metropolitan 5 to 50-Cent Stores preferred and "A" shares, and W. T. Grant company, the latter jumping 7 points to 82. New maximums for the year or longer also were reached by numerous miscellaneous issues, including Mohawk Valley Coal, Insurance Company of North America, Fedder's Manufacturing "A," Union & Tobacco and Western Dairy Products "B."

Snider Packing 6s again featured the bond division, gaining more than 4 p s to a new pe k. Servel corporation 6s broke er 3 points.

American Road Machinery common and preferred were removed from trading in the unlisted department, following their recent sensational rise and fall. Prior common of Newport company and common and preferred of Western Canada Flour Mills were admitted to unlisted trading.

Market Gossip

(By Fenner & Beane Leased Wire to The Constitution)

STOCK BROKERS' OPINIONS.

Josepthal & Co.: Would maintain a conservative position in the industrials but would add to rail holdings on every reaction.

Newman Bros. & Worms: Would keep accounts liquid through the acceptance of profits wherever obtainable in order to repurchase to better advantage.

Prince & Whitely. Advise taking profits on strength.

F. B. Keech & Co.: Think the market displayed wonderful stamina in view of the break in Lehigh Valley and does not seem ready yet for any reaction of consequence.

CURB LETTER.

New York, July 20.—New favorites were taken up and old ones put temporarily into the discard in today's curb market, only one of the recent leaders, General Baking A stock displaying sufficient strength to move into new high ground. Interest in Colombia Syndicate was decidedly less.

Electric Bond & Share Securities continued its reaction. Ford Motor of Canada was lower and oil stocks also were inclined to heaviness.

Humble Oil lost more than a point.

One of the features of the day was the start of trading in New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad preferred stock and rights, both of which were dealt in on a when issued basis.

Westinghouse Air Brake also was in good demand.

Southeastern Power & Light was a popular utility.

DOW JONES REPORT.

Hupp Motors profit for the quarter ended June 30 was equal to 65 cents a share. Net profit for the six months equals $1.14 a share on the common against $2.25 in the first half of 1926.

Milwaukee—Directors of Bucyrus company and of Erie Steam Shovel company have approved a plan for merging the companies. Under terms approved holders of preferred stocks of both companies will be given a share for share exchange of preferred in the new company, which will be callable at 120.

Holders of Erie Steam Shovel common are to be given one share convertible preference stock in new company for each share held. New preferred will carry a dividend of $2.50 a share, dependent upon payment of dividends of $1 a share on common. Convertible preference stock carries the right to exchange at any time for common stock in the new company.

All common stock of the new company will go to holders of Bucyrus common on the basis of three shares of new stock for one of Bucyrus.

The Day in Finance

BY R. L. BARNUM

Profit Taking Occurred in the Stock Market Yesterday, but Trading During the Decline of Prices Was Quiet. Profits Were Not Realized Until Several Issues Made New Highs.

New York, July 20.—Some profit taking occurred in the stock market but with trading on the price decline very quiet. The only news accounting for the moderate profit-taking was the new high made late yesterday for the average price of 50 representative stocks at 170.34 against 160.06 on July 1 and this year's low of 135.82 made January 27. Traders with profits evidently concluded that the advance which had occurred since the beginning of this month with only slight interruptions had gone far enough especially with the average for industrial shares at a new high of 222.23 against the year's low of 171.49 made late in January and 66.24 in the spring of 1921 when the upward price movement in the stock market started following the post-war deflation

Profit-taking did not start, however, until Atchison, General Motors, Railway Signal and a few other shares had made new highs for all time. Investment buying of good stocks continues in anticipation of a continuation of easy money. The rate on all money dropped today to 3 3-4 per cent.

Business Improves.

In its August 1 monthly review of general trade conditions the National Bank of Commerce will say "An undertone of improvement in general business sentiment has been making itself apparent since the turn of the half year. This is not so much an expectation of immediate or large gains in activity as confidence that the current moderate recession has now pretty well run its course and that the next movement will be upward."

The same authority in recent months has been making public its monthly wholesale price index. A month ago a slight advance was reported. The figure as of the middle of July however is 84.4 against 85.4 the middle of June and 97.9 in mid-July of 1926. Wall street economists expect an upturn, even if temporary, with seasonal activities in general trade.

New Haven's proposed $50,000,000 of new preferred 7 per cent cumulative stock when issued, was traded in on the curb market today for the first time with the opening transaction at 108 1-2. Rights were quoted at 1 7-8 to 2 1-8 with most transactions 2 or higher.

With the steel corporation earnings for the June quarter and half year due next Tuesday Wall street was greatly interested in today's statement of Republic Iron and Steel reporting net income after depreciation and taxes at $988,000 for the three months ended with June, against $1,044,000 for the first three months of this year and $1,121,000 for the June, 1926, quarter. For the six months the figures were $2,032,000, against $2,443,000 for the corresponding period of last year.

Sell Oil Shares.

There was some selling of oil shares following the new high level for average daily production of crude oil for the week ending July 16 up 9,300 barrels, compared with the previous week, to 2,544,000 and compared with 2,054,000 barrels this time a year ago. Seminole reports a new high daily production for July 19 at 496,915 barrels The result of yesterday's conference of Seminole producers was a vote of 10 to 7 favoring curtailment of production with 16 not voting. It is understood that a majority of those not voting favor a shut down.

Following today's drop in call money to 3 3-4 per cent Wall street bankers predicted that the outlook is for more gold imports for this country. These predictions are based on the heavy merchandise trade balance just reported for the fiscal year ended June 30 together with the large interest payments due us on loans made abroad.

When foreign bankers were on their way here to hold the recent conference it was stated in this column that one of the subjects to be discussed was plans for doing away with costly physical shipments of gold in settling international balances. From information available evidently our own federal reserve bank here has already adopted this plan in a limited way On May 11 it was announced that the federal reserve bank had purchased $60,000,000 gold in London, presumably part of the $89,000,000 French gold released through payment by France of a war-time British loan secured by gold. On June 15 the foreign gold holdings of the reserve bank were increased to $62,233,000. During the past three weeks the amount has been reduced to $2,682,000 with no actual shipment of gold taking place. In the place of $62,233,000 gold held abroad by the federal reserve bank on June 15 the federal reserve bank now reports an item of $48,716,000 due from foreign banks.

COTTON SPINNING GAINS ACTIVITY

Washington, July 20.—Cotton spinning showed greater activity during June than in any month since January, 1923, in point of active spindle hours, the census bureau's monthly report showed today.

Active spindle hours numbered 9,191,907,036, or an average of 249 per spindle in place, compared with 9,001,712,285, or an average of 244, in May this year and 7,606,123,260, or an average of 200 in June last year.

Spinning spindles in place June 30 totaled 36,875,872, or which 32,753,428 were operated at some time during the month, compared with 36,874,608 and 32,906,580 for May this year and 37,694,680 and 31,770,900 for June last year.

The average number of spindles operated during June was 40,265,932, or at 109.2 per cent capacity on a single-shift basis, compared with 40,205,960 or at 109.0 per cent capacity during this year and 33,319,271 or at 88.4 per cent capacity during June last year.

New York, July 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—Reduction in the call money rate from 4 to 3 3-4 per cent, the lowest rate in four months, started a fresh outburst of bullish enthusiasm in today's stock market, with the result that more than a score issues jumped 2 to 11 points new high records for the year.

The violence of the advance in some issues, however, led to heavy profit-taking in other quarters, giving the general list a rather irregular appearance at the close.

So great is the surplus of loanable funds in this center that some of the large banks and other financial institutions are reported to have been heavy buyers of high-grade stocks which accounts, in part, for the reduction in the floating supply. Although operators for the rise found some encouragement in the weekly Iron Age summary, which reported a moderate improvement in business, this was offset by the publication of the quarterly report of the Republic Steel & Iron Co., showing a substantial reduction below the corresponding quarter last year.

General Motors Up.

General Motors was the individual feature, jumping more than five points to a new high record of 213 3-4 for the present stock. Presumably in anticipation of special dividend action this month. Chrysler moved up a point to 48, but several of the other motors were inclined to heaviness. Hupp improved fractionally despite publication of a half yearly report showing net income only slightly more than half of that in the corresponding period last year. The further rise of three points in Gabriel Snubbers to a new peak at 55 was accompanied by unconfirmed rumors of an important new contract with one of the large automobile manufacturers.

"Shorts," who have been selling stocks freely on the theory that the market was entitled to at least a technical reaction, were badly punished in some of the specialties, particularly National Tea, which soared 11 points to a new high at 273 1-2. Houston Oil and Bayuk Cigars were among the few issues which showed acute weakness, the former breaking nearly eight points to 160 1-2, and the latter showing an extreme decline of seven points to 88. There were a number of other 2 to 3-point declines, but in nearly all cases the turnover in those stocks was small.

Pools Confident.

Pools accounted for the strength of most specialties among the issues to reach new high ground were Abitibi Power, American Steel & Foundry, Brown Shoe DuPont, Eastman Kodak, Fleischmann, Gotham Hosiery, Manhattan Shirt, McCrory Stores B, Montana Power, Munsingwear, Purity Baking B, Sears-Roebuck, Spider Packing, Timken Roller Bearing and Westinghouse Electric.

Speculative interest in the rail shares was chilled somewhat by the bad break in Lehigh Valley yesterday, although Atchison touched another new peak and a brisk demand was apparent for Western Maryland common and Baltimore & Ohio.

Cotton moved to new high levels in the early trading on buying influenced by recent reports of insect damage but lost all of its gain in later trading. Gaines were in better demand, active wheat futures advancing about two cents a bushel. Coffee and sugar prices showed little change.

Foreign exchanges moved within extremely narrow and irregular limits, demand sterling being quoted around $4.85 1-8 and French francs just under 3.91 1-2 cents.

IMPROVEMENT SEEN IN CROP CONDITIONS

Washington, July 20.—(AP)—Weather conditions for the southern states as summarized by the departments of agriculture for the week ending yesterday says the combination of warm temperatures and rainfall made, in general, the best growing week of the present season and practically all crops showed good to excellent advance.

In the Atlantic coast states the growth of cotton was very good to excellent, but there was rather general complaint of increased weevil activity. In the central states of the belt the progress of the crop was generally good, and in places excellent, but increase in weevil activity was reported from some sections.

In Oklahoma cotton made very good advance except that weevil infestation in the central and east portions is becoming general and damaging locally.

In Texas, progress and condition were mostly fair to very good. Weevil activity has apparently not increased and picking progressed favorably in the south. Favorable reports come from the far southwestern states.

South Carolina—Progress and condition of cotton good to excellent generally, but sappy and rather rank; weevil rather numerous and increasing with considerable damage in central.

Florida—Progress and condition of cotton fair to good. Harvesting tobacco made good progress.

Alabama—Progress and condition of cotton mostly fair to good; weevil infestation in south and central portions general and heavy with damage considerable in a few places.

Mississippi—Some increase in boll weevil, but very few in recently overflowed delta counties and general damage probably light.

Arkansas—Cotton fair to excellent; slight damage by weevil in a number of localities. Progress of corn very good.

REPUBLIC STEEL NET PROFITS LESS THAN LAST YEAR

New York, July 20.—(AP)—Net profits of Republic Iron & Steel company for the first half of 1927 declined to $2,032,536 from $2,443,282 the first half of 1926. The second quarter's net profit was $988,115, compared with $1,121,436 in the second quarter last year.

Regular quarterly dividends of $1 a share on the common stock and $1.75 a share on the preferred were authorized.

Net profits for the half-year was equal to $3.85 a share on the common stock, against $5.22 a share in the first half of 1926.

Cotton Goods.

New York, July 20.—Cotton goods were firm today with a further advancing tendency, due to the rise in cotton. More business was done on printed goods. Wholesalers and catalog houses were buying garments more freely. Burlaps were quiet and fairly steady. Tropical worsteds sold in fair volume for spring delivery. Advances ranging from 12½ cents to 25 cents a dozen were announced on men's knit underwear lines for spring.

News, Views And Reviews

Stock Letters.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

New York, July 20.—General Motors ran away with the market in the afternoon. There are three or four bullish developments expected on this stock in the next month or so and all of them are playing large parts in the tremendous advance the stock is having.

A new line of Buicks will be brought in the near future, earnings for the second quarter, to be published early in August, will be at a record breaking rate and it is quite likely that the stock will be split at least two for one in August or September. Naturally, the advance in motors carried DuPont with it and these two stocks were chiefly the features. Westinghouse Electric continued in the best advance this stock has had in many years, getting above 88.

There was considerable profit-taking again in a number of stocks and some irregularity but the drop in call money rate below 4 per cent for the first time this month was enough of a stimulus to buying to counteract the effect of realizing. On the whole the iron and steel trade reviews were optimistic, the steel trade evidently having had quite an increase in fresh buying since the Fourth of July. The market continues to act well. The size of the advance in the last few weeks is likely to attract enough profit-taking to cause a small reaction at any time but we still look for higher prices.

Cotton Letters.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

New York, July 20.—Our market opened 13 to 15 points up from last night's close on much better cables from Liverpool. There was heavy selling mostly realizing right from the opening, the market declining only a few points. It remained mostly a waiting affair until the weekly weather report which was about as expected and caused little action. Fossick's report, too, was about as expected; giving a condition as of the 16th instant of 75.1, indicating a crop of 14,766,000 bales.

There was some renewal of buying on the detailed weather reporting showers again in the Atlantics. The trade seems content at this level to wait further crop developments, but even at this level there is no great pressure to sell.

Liverpool futures are due tomorrow: July 9.64; October 9.82.

BIRGER ATTORNEY SEEKS MORE TIME TO PREPARE CASE

Benton, Ill., July 20.—(AP)—Charles Birger, notorious gang leader of southern Illinois, late today, through counsel, declared his intention of asking a continuance and dismissal of the jury in his trial for the murder of Mayor Joe Adams, of West City, on the ground that Art Newman, a co-defendant, had made damaging admissions.

Charles Karch, a Birger attorney, told the court his client had "five minutes ago, for the first time," learned of admissions by Newman which involved Birger in the alleged conspiracy to shoot Adams.

Karch obtained a recess until tomorrow morning in which to prepare a motion asking for the continuance and jury dismissal.

Total bond sales (par value), $8,062,000.

New York, July 20.—(AP)—Interest in the bond market continued to lag today with volume of trading around the low record for the year. Prices were more or less irregular, but changes were mostly in small fractions. Little effect was felt by easing tendencies in the money market, as offering of and demand for listed mortgages appeared to be fairly well balanced.

Several high grade issues which were firm in the early trading, eased off to close around yesterday's last quotations, or slightly lower. Some low priced issues and liens having close relation to strong stocks attracted buyers in moderate numbers.

Continued strength and activity to Third Avenue Adjustment 5s was the individual feature, nearly $450,000 of the bonds changing hands and the price rising to a new high for the year. This was largely in sympathy with strength of the stock on the "big board," in connection with reports that the company was likely to obtain a bus franchise.

Among railway securities, "Big 4" general 5s broke 3 points and several others lost early fractional gains. Peoria & Eastern 4s reached a new high of 53, up 3 points, but later relinquished half the advance. Erie "D" 4s sold up nearly a point.

Kinney Company 7 1-2s advanced briskly on a handful of transactions, but Shell Union Oils 5s, which have been advancing gradually, were in supply. Wickwire-Spencer Steel 7s dropped a point to a new low for the year.

The foreign group was unaffected by the death of King Ferdinand, Bulgarian 7s declining only a small fraction. French issues sagged after early firmness and Mexican 5s were weak. Most of the foreign railway securities were in fair demand.

Firmness characterized the United States government group, with principal interest centered in Liberty 4th 4 1-4s and the treasury bonds.

Quote: B to N, inclusive, 8.50; WG and X, 8.65.

Sugar.

New York, July 20.—Sugar was unchanged today with sales of only 5,000 bags of Porto Rican, prompt shipment, at 4.52 delivered.

Raw futures were easier under liquidation and selling by houses with trade and Cuban connections, promoted by continued inactivity in the spot market and circulations of 35 July notices. Prices at one time showed declines of 3 to 5 points, but near the close there was a partial rally on covering which left the market finally 1 to 4 points net lower. The July position showed the maximum loss. Approximate sales, 33,800 tons. July closed 2.64; September, 2.73; December, 2.82; January, 2.74; March, 2.68; May, 2.76; July, 2.84.

The refined sugar market was unchanged to 10 points lower at 6.00@6.10 for fine granulated with only light demand.

WHEAT, CORN, OATS ADVANCE SLIGHTLY

Chicago, July 20.—(AP)—Good export buying of United States red winter wheat together with smallness of domestic threshing returns, brought about a decided advance in wheat values today. Unseasonably cool weather gave a lift to the corn market. Closing quotations on wheat were firm 1 3-8c to 2c net higher; corn, 1 1-4c to 1 5-8c up; oats at 3-8c to 5-8c gain, and provisions varying from 15c decline to a rise of 2c.

Indications that exporters were in the market for future deliveries of wheat helped to keep prices on the upgrade even at the finish, despite late gossip that Kansas City had sold 700,000 bushels to come here. Cash sales in Chicago today included 100,000 bushels to exporters and the seaboard advised of 400,000 bushels taken for Europe. Meanwhile weather conditions in spring wheat territory continued auspicious but numerous traders appeared to be leaning to the view that any change in the crop outlook would be likely to favor holders.

In connection with reports that threshing in the southwest and in central territory as well was turning out to be under the yields which were looked for, advices current here said one Kansas concern, with 27 elevators, is obtaining only two wagon loads of wheat a day and that farmers are inclined to hold. Word was also received that sales of flour in the southwest have increased sharply and that the export flour business in the southwest is the largest so far on the crop.

Corn prices derived strength not only from widespread prevailing low temperature, adverse to corn growth, but also from comprehensive unofficial reports indicating serious backwardness of corn crop conditions over Illinois, Iowa and Missouri.

1922 MURDER LAID TO BOSTON BILLY

New York, July 20.—(AP)—Facing a new and more serious accusation—murder—James F. Monahan, alias "Boston Billy" Williams, will not know until tomorrow whether he will go to trial on charges of participating in the robbery of $90,000 in jewels from the home of Jesse L. Livermore, of Kings Point, or be turned over to Bridgeport (Conn.), authorities for prosecution there.

Three men brought here by Bridgeport police today identified Monahan as the slayer of Peter Wagner in a dance-hall brawl in that city on April 13, 1922.

Monahan has been in Mineola jail since some three weeks ago awaiting trial on the Livermore theft charge and as a participant in other alleged burglaries of the homes of socially prominent persons in Nassau county.

His trial was postponed this morning until tomorrow to permit his counsel to appear before Governor Smith on behalf of a condemned man in Sing Sing prison.

Monahan today was placed in solitary confinement after the discovery in his cell of a spoon cut and filed into a makeshift key. Enraged at the discovery Monahan became violent cursing his keepers and kicking at them when led away to the isolation cell.

Arthur Barry, whose accusations that Monahan was an accomplice in a long series of robberies of exclusive residents on Long Island, and several of the victims, among whom are Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Livermore, Harry Aronsohn, Livermore's guest on the night of the theft, and Mrs. Adelaide Couchman, whose home is at Plandome, L. I., are expected to be witnesses if the trial is opened tomorrow.

Barry is now serving a 25-year sentence in Sing Sing prison after confessing to his share in the Livermore robbery.

LEVINE FEDERAL CASE IS DELAYED UNTIL RETURN

Washington, July 20.—(AP)—Pending return from Europe of Charles A. Levine, who made the New York-Germany flight with Clarence Chamberlin, the department of justice has postponed further preparations of a civil suit for collection of the government's share of profits made by Levine from sale of war material.

A conference between his counsel and those of the department has been postponed and Levine's attorneys have requested that it be held after his return.

Levine has announced his intention of returning to America by air, but has not made known the date of his departure.

Killed in Tax Row.

Dibrell, Tenn., July 20.—(AP)—Ike Davenport was shot and killed here last night by Deputy Sheriff Tom Turner, of Warren county, in what is said to have been a dispute over taxes. Turner surrendered to Sheriff Molley and a preliminary hearing will be held later.

NEW SENATE BILLS

The following new bills were introduced into the senate Wednesday morning and assigned to committees as designated:

166. By Senator Elders, of the second district—To exempt for ten years from taxation farms of less than 100 acres, together with the farm's live stock and implements. Constitutional amendments.

167. By Senators Paige and Cocke—To amend the child labor act so as to allow the commissioner to make certain exemptions. Commerce and labor.

168. By Senator Greene, of the 23rd district—To make it unlawful for tax collectors to turn over school funds to authorities who are not bonded. Education.

169. By Senator Rivers, of the sixth district—To provide that newly added school districts can assume their part of obligation from bond issues; to outline methods for school elections and to provide a uniform tax levy. Education.

170. By Senator Bullard, of the 36th district—To create a board of chemical control for the state of Georgia. Agriculture.

Resolution No. 24. By Senator Willingham, of the 39th district—To make $25,00? set aside for a riot fund available to the military department to discharge its deficit of $12,500 and for other purposes. Military affairs.

AIRPLANE LANDS IN MACON RIVER

Macon, Ga., July 20.—(AP)—Engine trouble—the deadly fear of all airmen—coupled with an improper altitude, caused the fall into the Ocmulgee river of the 200-horsepower navy airplane, piloted by Lieutenant T. J. Walker along with Mechanic W. J. Paulk, shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon. No one was injured.

According to Lieutenant Paulk, the damage to the big plane will perhaps amount to approximately $18,000 or more. The aviators were on their way from Columbia, S. C., to the Pensacola, Fla., navy station, having left the South Carolina city at 7:05 o'clock this morning.

There were fully 50 or more automobiles which clogged the roadway leading to the river banks.

"Our plane was in perfect condition when we left Columbia this morning," said Lieutenant Paulk.

"The only reason I can ascertain for the fall was perhaps improper altitude and slight engine trouble. Neither of us had to use our parachutes as we were flying rather low. Even at that, it is a miracle that we were not killed outright."

The big plane was being towed to the river bank by a wrecker which was hurriedly dispatched to the scene. It was said that the plane would be hauled back into Macon and await orders from navy authorities whether or not it will be repaired here or shipped to Pensacola.

The plane was of the larger type now being used by the navy known as type three and was air-cooled.

HOUSE OF DAVID WITNESSES DENY IMMORAL CHARGE

St. Joseph, Mich., July 20.—(AP)—Denials of earlier testimony advanced by the prosecution in the suit to dissolve the House of David colony continued today as defense witnesses sought to disprove alleged immorality at the colony.

Otis Baushke, 33, told Judge Louis H. Fead that his wife, Eliza Murphy Baushke, did not commit suicide at High Island, an island owned by the colony, and that he was at her side when she died. He said she died from jaundice and that a Dr. Branch, of Charlevoix, Mich., diagnosed the case of death.

NEW HOUSE BILLS

The following bills were introduced in the house and referred to the designated committees:

452. By Goolsby, of Monroe, and Others—To provide for a school of agriculture and mechanic arts for negroes at Forsyth. Appropriations.

453. By Bloch, of Bibb, and Others—To appropriate $15,0000 to Sixth District A. & M. school at Barnesville for replacement and $30,000 for new dormitory. Appropriations.

454. By Bloch, of Bibb, and Others—To appropriate $10,000 to Sixth District A. & M. school at Barnesville, additional maintenance. Appropriations.

455. By Chappell, of Lamar, and Others—To appropriate $50,000 to Sixth District A. & M. school at Barnesville for new auditorium. Appropriations.

456. By Trotter, of Taliaferro—To relieve the sheriff of Taliaferro county of the duty to patrol the county. County and county matters.

457. By Dickey, of Gordon, and Davis, of DeKalb—To provide for exemption from taxation of all farm utensils, tools, implements, etc., for period of ten years. Constitutional amendments.

458. By McWhorter, of Oglethorpe, and McWhorter, of Bleckey—To authorize county authorities to condemn rights-of-way 100 feet wide on state-aid roads. General judiciary No. 1.

459. By Ware, Delegation—To amend section 5343 Parks code relative to condemnation of land for road purposes. Public highways.

460. By Ware Delegation—To fix county boundary line between Clinch and Ware. County and county matters.

461. By Ware Delegation—To authorize an increase in the bonded debt of Ware county to authorize $150,000 of bonds. Constitutional amendments.

462. By Freeman, of Early—To require all militia districts having the no-fence law to maintain fences. General agriculture.

463. By Ramply, of Habersham—To appropriate $15,000 for experiment station at Cornelia. Appropriations No. 1.

464. By Rampley, of Habersham—To regulate charging interest and commission on long-term loans. State of republic.

SACCO, VANZETTI SPURN FANCY FOOD

Boston, July 20.—(AP)—While Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti were completing the fourth day of their hunger strike in the state prison the executive council, which has the power to confirm or disapprove any pardon or commutation of sentence by the governor, today adjourned its customary weekly meeting for two weeks. No reason for this unusual action was made public.

The council's next meeting on August 3 will be just one week before the date to which the men sentenced to death for murder were granted a respite by Governor Alvan T. Fuller. Unless a special meeting is called it will be the last date upon which the council can consider any recommendation by the governor with regard to the case.

The two prisoners today accentuated their refusal of food by rejecting an offer by Warden Hendry to change the menu. They said they wanted nothing. Vanzetti today refused the coffee which he has accepted on previous days this week. It has been announced by the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee that the hunger strike is in protest against the governor's policy of secrecy in his personal investigation of the case.

ATLANTAN ARRESTED FOR KIDNAPING SON

Richmond, Ky., July 20.—(AP)—Meredith Stone, of Henderson, N. C., was arrested here this afternoon on word from Atlanta officers that he had kidnaped his son, aged 5, who is said to have been in the custody of his brother-in-law's family. With Stone was his wife and the child. Mrs. Stone and the child were taken to a hotel to await Atlanta officers. Stone was confined in jail here.

STONE INDICTED HERE TUESDAY.

An indictment charging Meredith Stone with kidnaping his own son was returned in the Fulton county grand jury Tuesday, according to records of Solicitor General John A. Boykin's office.

It was charged that on Saturday, July 16, Stone enticed the youngster from the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Heirs, of 44 Ridge Crest road, who had been caring for him since the death of his mother nearly five years ago.

Attaches of Mr. Boykin's office stated that Mr. Stone recently married and has refused to return his son over the protests of his grandparents.

CHRISTIE MOVIE INTERESTS BOUGHT BY COMBINATION

Hollywood, Calif., July 20.—(AP)—Purchase of the interests of Al and Charles Christie in Metropolitan pictures by the Pathe-De Mille-Keith-Albee combination has been closed here.

Charles Christie said he and his brother retained the real estate holdings of the Metropolitan studios. The studio will continue to be leased to Metropolitan in which the Christies formerly held a 49 per cent interest. Marie Prevost, Phyllis Haver, Harrison Ford and other players have been transferred to the De Mille organization.

TRIVERS TO HOLD BIG FIGHT PARTY

Details of the Dempsey-Sharkey fight will be received at the Trivers Clothing store at Five Points tonight, it was announced Wednesday by Louis Adiger, manager of the store. The public is invited to listen in and special arrangements have been made to accommodate a crowd, according to announcement.

MAN ASKS $75,000 IN ACCIDENT SUIT

Damages of $75,000 are asked of the Georgia Power company in a suit brought Wednesday in Fulton county superior court by E. C. Austin, through Attorneys George and John Westmoreland, Len B. Guillebeau and F. J. Turner, Jr.

It is alleged in the petition that the plaintiff was severely, seriously and permanently injured on June 13, 1927, as a result of a collision between a sedan automobile which he was driving and a street car operated by the defendant concern.

The accident occurred at the Gaskill street crossing, the petition sets forth, and the street car "pushed and shoved and dragged" the wrecked sedan a distance of 130 to 170 feet with Austin pinned beneath.

MOVIE MEMBERS OF "EQUITY" HOLD UP "SHOP POLICY"

Hollywood, Calif., July 20.—(AP)—Members of the film branch of the Actors' Equity association voted at a mass meeting last night to hold in abeyance the "Equity shop policy" in the motion picture industry, a policy which would have prevented Equity members from working on pictures with non-members.

The meeting also approved a form for the uniform contract to which the Actors' Equity would be a party and which the executive committee was instructed to demand from the producers.

Although details of the contract were not discussed, it was said to provide for a maximum number of hours which an actor could be forced to work and also to insure him proper rest periods from day to day.

Margaret A. Wilson C. of C. To Launch Building Drive.

Plans for memory day have been completed for launching a drive Friday for sufficient funds to build a chapter house for the Children of the Confederacy on the grounds of the Wren's Nest, and prominent women of the city assisted by children of the Margaret A. Wilson chapter will be stationed at different places asking permission to buy a tag, expecting a silver coin in return. One prominent woman called to ask the pleasure of donating a handsome platinum bracelet valued at $100 to the children of this chapter, to be sold in order to swell their bank account and it is hoped that this generous gift may be the inspiration for many more such gifts which may be donated as well as money.

LOUIS E. WINCHELL RITES SET FOR TODAY

Funeral services for Louis E. Winchell, widely known and popular member of the Atlanta Georgian advertising staff, who was stricken by a heart attack Tuesday afternoon while qualifying in the newspapermen's golf tournament on the West End golf course, will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon from the All Saints Episcopal church. The Rev. W. W. Memminger will officiate, and interment will be in West View cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Horace L. Tutwiler, J. L. Heith, Burns Womack, Roger Reynolds, H. F. Cogill, Press Huddleston and V. V. Evans.

At various times connected with all three Atlanta dailies and one of the best-liked men in newspaper circles here, Mr. Winchell had been a resident of Atlanta for 16 years, since moving to this city with his wife and son, Dick Winchell. The latter is known as one of Atlanta's best young golfers and recently returned from Savannah, where he competed in the state tourney.

Mr. Winchell was playing his qualifying round with Tarleton Collier, W. S. Kirkpatrick and Cliff Fligg. When the fatal attack came the four some was separated on the fairway of the fifth hole. Mr. Collier turned and saw Mr. Winchell fall prone to the ground. His companions hastened to his assistance and every effort was made to revive him, but life was declared to be extinct by doctors at Grady hospital, where he was rushed in an ambulance. During the first four holes, played under a blazing sun, Mr. Winchell had complained of a slight discomfort due, he stated, to indigestion.

He is survived by his wife and son.

Out of respect for Mr. Winchell, announcement was made following his death that the newspapermen's tournament would be postponed indefinitely.

Reliable Optical Service

After your oculist has scientifically examined your eyes for glasses, you should be as careful in the optician you select to have your prescription glasses made as you were in the selection of your oculist. There are many patients sadly disappointed in their glasses, and lay all the blame on their oculist, when in many cases the fault is in the material and workmanship furnished by the optician. It requires just as much knowledge and skill to make a pair of glasses correctly as it does to make a correct examination of the eye.

Ask your oculist about us and our reliability, if you do not already know.

LAST RITES TODAY FOR DR. J. W. HURT

Final rites for Dr. John Wesley Hurt, 67, prominent Atlanta physician, who died suddenly from a heart attack Tuesday afternoon, will be held this morning at 10 o'clock from St. Mark's Methodist church. The Rev. W. L. Duren will officiate and interment will be in West View cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Judge H. Warner Hill, R. A. Broyles, Joseph A. McCord, Sr., Frank Cruselle, A. F. Akers and F. M. Akers, Jr. Members of the board of stewards and trustees of St. Mark's church, of which he was a member, will serve as an honorary escort.

Dr. Hurt had been in failing health for several months, but his condition was not considered serious until a short while before he passed away about 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

He was a native of Columbus, Ga., and moved to Atlanta when a small boy. He was graduated from the Atlanta Medical college and after taking a post-graduate course in New York and serving for a while as an interne in New York, he returned to Atlanta and had been one of its most prominent physicians for more than 35 years. He was for about 10 years a member of the Fulton county physician staff, retiring about a year and a half ago. He was surgeon for Post B, Travelers' Protective association, at the time of his death.

George Steint, Retired Atlanta Policeman, Dies

George Steint, 80, of 645 Berne street, a retired Atlanta policeman, died Wednesday night at the residence, following injuries received in an automobile accident more than a month ago near his home.

Mr. Steint was a native of Baden, Germany, and came to America when a boy. At the beginning of the war between the states he enlisted in the Union army and served with company B, second battalion of the 18th infantry.

When General Sherman's army marched through Atlanta, Mr. Steint was under his command and after the close of the war returned to the city to live.

He was made a member of the Atlanta police department in May, 1884, and after 37 years of service was retired January 8, 1921, on a pension.

Funeral services for Mr. Steint will be Friday afternoon at 2:3 o'clock from the chapel of H. M. Patterson and Son. The Rev. W. J. DeBardeleben, pastor of Grant Park Methodist church, of which he was a member, will officiate. Interment will be in West View cemetery.

He is survived by two daughters, Mary Gravitt and Mrs. A. C. Garner.

PATROLMAN'S SON HURT IN COLLISION; NEGRO DRIVER HELD

R. A. Coppenger, of 1054 Glenwood avenue, son of Patrolman A. J. Coppenger, was treated at Grady hospital Wednesday afternoon for injuries to his left side and possible internal injuries, said by hospital attaches to have resulted from a collision between an automobile he was driving and one driven by Jess Hawkins, negro, of 24 West Davis street. The accident occurred on East Fair street at Fraser street.

R. H. Cleveland, a special officer, who was near the scene of the accident, reported that Hawkins was traveling at a high rate of speed and attempted to escape immediately after the accident. Fired at by Mr. Cleveland, the negro surrendered. The negro was jailed and is being held on a charge of reckless driving and larceny of an automobile, after police learned that he was driving a stolen car at the time of the collision. The car was reported to have been stolen from Lisle B. Robinson, of 26 Linden street.

Coppenger was not badly hurt, it was reported. Both cars were badly damaged.

MRS. LALLA Q. GEORGE DIES AT GAINESVILLE

Gainesville, Ga., July 20.—(Special.)—Mrs. Lalla Quillian George, 57, widow of Dr. Joseph Brown George, who died in 1918, passed away at her home here today.

With gracious dignity and hospitality, Mrs. George presided over one of the handsomest homes in northeast Georgia, but her devotion to her family and church and her quiet ministrations to those whom she could serve, were her first consideration.

Mrs. George is survived by two sons, Roy R. George, of Knoxville, and Joe Brown George, of Gainesville, and one daughter, Mrs. William N. Coleman, of Culverton, Ga.; one sister, Mrs. William J. Porter, of Gainesville; two grandchildren, Frances Coleman and Robert George.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the First Methodist church here and interment will be in Alta Vista cemetery.

A. M. E. CONVENTION IN SESSION AT MORROW

Morrow, Ga., July 20.—(Special.) The Sunday school W. H. F. M. society and A. C. E. league conventions of the Griffin district A. M. E. church, convened in Mathlema church here today. Rev. G. F. Patterson is pastor of the church.

The conventions are presided over by Rev. H. D. Canady, D. D., and the body was perfected in the election of Rev. S. H. Rome, pastor of Thomaston, as secretary, and M. Drake and W. M. Charactor, marshals.

Much of the morning session was devoted to the annual address of Dr. Canady, who touched the vital points of church work and the present needs to carry forward the educational and missionary work of the church. Committees which will function during the convention were named.

Rev. R. T. O'Neal, pastor at College Park, delivered the annual sermon at noon today. Dr. W. J. Jones and J. T. Wraglin head the finance committees. Rev. H. Drake preached Wednesday night. Bishop J. S. Flipper, head of the A. M. E. church in Georgia, will be present in one of the sessions.

3 Persons Hurt, None Seriously, In Car Crashes

Thelma Ganong, of a down-town hotel, was treated at Grady hospital late Wednesday night for injuries received when a car in which she was riding and driven by Frank Olsen, struck a large block of concrete on Hemphill avenue near Ethel street, hospital reports revealed. Hemphill avenue, where the accident occurred, is under construction, it was reported.

The injured woman was taken to a residence on Techwood drive by E. G. Smith and L. H. Long, 1086 Hemphill avenue, and later taken to Grady hospital. Her injuries were not serious. Call Officers E. E. Brackett and M. D. Cartwright investigated the accident.

Mrs. R. H. Simril, of 749 Ranson street, was taken to the government hospital at Fort McPherson, following injuries received Wednesday night when she was thrown from an automobile said to have been driven by Mrs. J. R. Long, of Camp Jesup. A collision occurred between two automobiles at Lee street and Campbellton road.

The other automobile which figured in the collision was driven by Lamar Cook, negro, of 403 Mangham street, who was jailed on a charge of drunk and operating a car while under the influence of liquor. Patrolmen W. T. Milam and R. L. Lawson investigated the case and made the arrest.

H. J. Clarke, Jr., 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Clarke, of 106 Howard street, was struck down by an automobile said to have been driven by Miss Connie Ramer, of 345 Oakland avenue, at Hardee and North Howard streets in Kirkwood late Wednesday afternoon, according to police reports.

The youth was taken to Grady hospital. His injuries were reported to be not serious. Call Officers W. H. Dodd and E. H. Bentley investigated.

ATLANTA THEATER OFFICIAL FIRST IN NATIONAL TEST

A. C. Cowles, of 203 Westminster drive, district booker for the Publix Theaters corporation for Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee, Wednesday received a handsome silver service as a first prize reward in a national drive held by more than 500 Publix houses during the week of April 25.

Not only did Mr. Cowles win first prize as a district booker, but his district won second and third prizes in the manager's contest and six theaters in this district won honorable mention out of a possible 17.

W. T. Murray, manager of the Rialto theater, received a handsome wrist watch, for second prize, and Sidney Dannenburg, manager of the Strand theater, in Birmingham, Ala., also received a beautiful watch for third prize in the manager's contest. Every Publix chain theater in the United States was entered and had an equal chance at the prizes.

Every phase of the theater industry after a picture is purchased from the producer, until it had finished a week's run at some Publix house during the week of April 25 was taken into consideration and figured materially in the final decision of the prize awards.

ATLANTAN ON TRIAL FOR FLORIDA MURDER

Jacksonville, Fla., July 20.—(AP)—Claude E. Moore, accused of killing Maude Calloway here on March 20, last, went to trial in Duval circuit court today, charged with first degree murder.

Moore, who is said to have a wife and family in Atlanta, Ga., is accused by the state of slashing the Calloway woman's throat as she fled from the house, where the police claim they were living together, to seek police protection.

The state will seek to prove that the killing was the culmination of a quarrel that took place in Moore's room, following which the woman fled from the house.

Officers who were summoned to the scene of the crime claim that when they forced an entrance into Moore's room, the accused man was making preparations for flight, and that bloody water was found in a nearby basin.

MOORE DESERTED WIFE HERE, REPORT.

Moore, according to a statement made by his wife at that time, left home in 1926, but was brought back by Mrs. Moore last January on the charge of desertion. The desertion charge was adjusted, according to Mrs. Moore, by his agreement to send alimony each month.

Moore, it is said, is a railroad man. Prior to his going to Florida, he was employed on several railroads. The family moved to College Park from Newnan several years ago. Both Mr. and Mrs. Moore are said to be from the Newnan section.
